Tammy Lefever, 19, is Pennsylvania's new FFA Princess. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lefever, Strasburg, and a 1978 graduate of the Willow Street Vo-Tech School.

Southeastern schools win most state FFA contests

By DIETER KRIEG
UNIVERSITY PARK — In what might be called the Olympics of the Pennsylvania FFA, the best vocational agriculture students from all across the state gathered here this week to compete for "gold", "silver", and "bronze" medals. It was FFA Activities Week, the annual climax of 23 FFA contests. Some 1700 students took part. A few perennial powerhouse schools ran away with more than an average share of winnings. The most victorious FFA chapters were in southeastern Pennsylvania, particularly Lancaster County.

Additional glory came to the Garden Spot when 19-year old Tammy Lefever was named State FFA Princess. She graduated from the Willow Street Vo-Tech school a year ago and will be attending Penn State University this Fall to study landscaping. The daughter of Paul and Lucille Lefever, Strasburg, Princess Tammy won first place in an ornamental landscaping contest at last year's FFA Activities Week.

Following is a rundown of how the contests went:

Dairy Cattle Judging

Box Fox of Ephrata was high man in this contest, which had more than 190 FFA'ers entered. Second place went to Ken Arnold of the ELCO FFA Chapter, Myerstown. Doug Hershberger of Solanco was third and Alan Wayright of Gettysburg placed fourth.

Fifth high individual in the dairy cattle judging contest was Dale Eby of the Octorara Chapter, while Nancy Stephens of Newport was sixth. Seventh was Steve Shaw from Oley Valley, followed by Susan Kulp from the Owen J. Roberts Chapter, Chester County, and Tim Peachey of Huntingdon.

Tenth place went to Dale Keen from O.J. Roberts High School. Bernie Hostetter from Oxford was 11th, while Charles Hayes, also from Oxford, placed right behind him. York County, Barbara Kilgore, (Turn to Page 24)

Slaughter steer prices rally after last week's slump

By KENDACE BORRY
LITITZ — Slaughter steer prices which slid $3.50 to 5.00 lower last week in Lancaster County markets rallied at the beginning of the week only to drop Wednesday at the Lancaster Stockyards, and remain fully steady on Thursday at the New Holland Sales Stables auction, according to reports received from the USDA.

Nationwide this week the USDA reported 468,000 cattle slaughtered compared to 482,000 last week and 541,000 a year ago.

At the Lancaster

Stockyards on Monday of this week, compared to the previous Wednesday, slaughter steers were $2.00 to $3.00 higher, although the standard and good Holsteins were mostly steady. High choice and Prime, yield grade 3 to 4 steers weighing 1075 to 1425 pounds brought 70.35 to 72.10 per hundredweight; with a load of yield grade 4 to 5 at 1360 to 1480 pounds selling for 67.60 to 68.50. Choice, mainly yield grade 2, 1150 to 1525 sold for 70.75 to 72.25; choice yield grade 2 to 4 at 1000 to 1425 pounds brought 68.50 to 71.10.

There were 991 cattle reported at market, with the supply being 84 per cent slaughter steers. The previous Monday 1357 cattle were reported, compared to 1408 a year ago.

At the Vintage Livestock market on Tuesday, compared to the previous Tuesday, slaughter steers were $1.50 to 2.00 higher. High choice and Prime, yield grade 3 to 4 at 1075 to 1325 pounds sold for $70.75 to 72.75 per hundredweight, with a few lots of yield grade 4 to 5 at 1350 to 1430 pounds.

Recent rains take toll of region's first hay cutting

By KENDACE BORRY
LITITZ — The rainy weather that plagued southeastern Pa. has taken its toll of the first cutting of the alfalfa and mixed hay crop. Some farmers labelled their fields as a "total loss".

Lancaster County Extension Agent Max Smith remarked that he thought that the first cutting of hay would be one of the greatest losses in memory, and it was all due to the weather, he said.

"A considerable percentage was lost," he stated. "Perhaps 15 to 20 per cent was damaged or destroyed and they could have gotten to it with hay rotting a week ago.

Farmers reported that the hay that had been cut between rainy days lay in the fields until it rotted, and they could only watch it happen, having no other choice. And those with hay still standing, which they are now busily mowing and harvesting in this week's sunny weather, report that it has lost much of its feed value due to its total maturity—they said that it isn't worth near as much as it would have been

There was a report of a farmer being so unhappy with his hay that he simply loaded it up on a manure spreader and spread it on a field that was to be plowed, while another told that he plowed his alfalfa under, giving up on getting the first cutting that he had hoped for, before planting another crop.

Spokesmen for the local hay markets noted that so far there have been few loads of new hay sold on the (Turn to Page 40)

Berks County holds first Agricultural Exposition

By DIETER KRIEG
READING — Berks County farmers, agribusinesses, and others interested in agriculture held their first-ever Agricultural Exposition here all this week which drew enthusiastic responses from sponsors, organizers, and visitors. Among the dignitaries on hand for the opening ceremonies on Monday were Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture Secretary Penrose Hallowell and Deputy Secretary Chet Heim.

The Berks County

Agricultural Exposition, which concludes tonight with the coronation of a new dairy princess, has been going on all week at the Berkshire Mall. Exhibits of the County's agriculture and allied industries and agencies were set up throughout the modern, indoor shopping center.

The effort drew praise and congratulations from numerous visitors and official representatives such as Hallowell and Heim. It was noted that such promotional efforts are in line with the Pennsylvania

Agriculture Department's desire to bring the state's farm products closer to the forefront in the market places of the Northeast.

Although Secretary Hallowell had a conflict in his schedule and could not remain at the Mall for a special dinner, the Department was represented by Heim.

Heim said that farming is "too often talked about by ourselves." Noting that agriculture is the second biggest industry in the state and that its importance is (Turn to Page 16)

HOG PRODUCERS PLEASE TAKE NOTICE

Since our BUTCHER HOG SALE begins at 9:30 on Saturday morning, we would like to suggest, if it is at all possible, that you consign your hogs on that particular day to arrive in time for the start of the market. Please remember that we are prepared to receive hogs from 6:00 A.M., and that all hogs are weighed upon arrival; therefore, no shrink. By having your hogs in on time, there will be no waiting to unload and, when warm weather arrives, your hogs will be in better shape to sell. We sincerely appreciate your cooperation in this matter.

At Pennfield, we formulate feeds and feeding programs with your profit in mind.

"All feed companies are alike."

If you believe that statement, you could be missing an opportunity to increase your output of eggs, pork or milk—without increasing your costs.

At Pennfield, our basic goal is to help our customers make more money. We believe we can accomplish this for you, too. For these reasons:

- Customized feeding programs. We specifically tailor a program to your operation, not to an "operation like yours."

- Nutritionally-superior feeds. We go a step beyond many conventional feeds. Our feeds have Optimum Nutrient Density (most profitable nutrient level per pound of feed) and contain high-quality protein for balanced amino acid nutrition.

- Quality in, quality out. We chemically analyze all incoming feed grains for pesticide residues and toxins... and all finished feeds for overall quality and nutrient content.

- Technical service. We're responsive to your needs—by phone or on your farm.

- A local company. We buy our feed grains locally, shipping savings are passed on to customers. Our feeding programs are developed based on local conditions. We do test work and field trials based on local conditions.

These and other Pennfield advantages are helping hundreds of new customers increase their profits. We can do the same for you. But you must take the first step by phoning or writing us. Do it today.

Ask the Old Farmer: When is a boat a boat and not a ship? There are rowboats and U-boats, but some vessels are always referred to as ships A T, Midland, Mich

Briefly, the original "ship" was a three-masted, square-rigged sailing vessel It was never called anything else The original "boat" was an open craft, carried or towed by a larger vessel Today, there are dinghies and wherries and so on affectionately called "ship" by their owners, though strictly speaking we would call them boats

HAPPY FATHER'S DAY.

I suppose the meaning of fatherhood and Father's Day can't ever be fully understood unless one is a father himself. I've been in that most blessed situation for nearly seven years now.

Children are a joy to have, and consequently, I have a happy father's day every day.

Innocent, sweet, sensitive, imaginative, and observant, the little ones offer an education that no adult can get on his own.

When a charming little 2-year old girl makes a sandwich and gets jelly all over her arms up to her elbows, you grin in partial dismay. But you're thrilled when she stretches your way and says "Here, Daddy." The sandwich isn't the most beautiful, but it has the most love packed into it, I can assure you.

And what can you say when 5-year old Karl coasts down a hill on his tractor and exclaims "That's fun! That tickles my tummy. Maybe Jesus liked that too, 'cause Jesus lives in my heart."

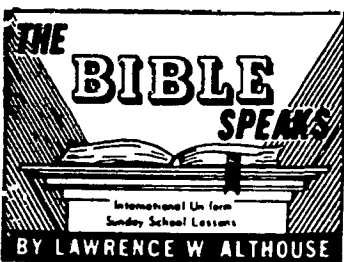

The joy goes on, day by day, and hour by hour.

Recently, for example, Paul and Karl put their boots on and went outside to the "barn," just the way Daddy would. Then they took all the grass clippings they had collected and fed this "hay" to the "cows" behind the house. Their imagination had turned the pine trees into cows. Who else but a child can do that? It's wonderful.

The boys have also planted corn already. Actually, they were just tulip leaves that their Mommy had snipped off. They're busy little fellows. Full of energy, full of fun, and full of love, that's how children are.

Heidi, our cute, lovable little sweetheart is almost always eager to please. Whether it's a slice of bread that has been buttered on both sides, or a hug, she knows how to get to her Daddy's heart. She's on the go from early in the morning until bedtime. When I come home she gives me the most pleasant-sounding

AN UGLY BEAUTY

Lesson for June 17, 1979

Background Scripture:
2 Samuel 13:23 through 15:12;
18; 1 Kings 1:5-6.
Devotional Reading:
Proverbs 3:1-6.

This is the story of three men:

Joab: the faithful general who is deeply concerned to see his king grieve over the estrangement from his son.

David: the great king who was something less than great as a father — often when discipline was needed, he was too lax; now when forgiveness is needed, he is too harsh and remote.

Absalom: the handsome, popular son behind whose beauty there is an ugliness that too frequently bubbles to the surface.

Absalom Dwelt Apart
Joab was genuinely concerned about his King and it was this, not admiration for Absalom that triggered his attempt to bring father and son together in reconciliation. He knew that it was better for them to be reunited: better for David's morale, better for the security of David's reign (Absalom's popularity was beginning to rival David's), and better for the kingdom of Israel. It might even be better for Absalom. Perhaps if his father tendered him forgiveness, even Absalom's heart would be melted.

Joab was well-intentioned, but the situation required more than good intentions. One problem that good intentions did not overcome was the stubborn inflexibility of the King. His initial response had overjoyed Joab: "Behold now, I grant this go, bring back the young man Absalom." But Joab's rejoicing was premature for, although David could go part way to a reconciliation, he did not go all the way: "Let him dwell apart in his own house; he is not to come into my presence" (2 Samuel 14:24). There was too much bitterness and pride in his heart to open his heart to his estranged son. For two whole years the proud father and plotting son lived in the same city but did not see each other. Although the story is thousands of years old, it has a contemporary ring.

Absalom's Beauty

It is difficult to know just what went on inside Absalom's heart. On the outside there was beauty. In fact, says the chronicler, "in all Israel there was no one so much to be praised for his beauty as Absalom; from the sole of his foot to the crown of his head there was no blemish in him" (14:25). But inside Absalom, where the casual onlooker could not see, there was something else.

Perhaps if David had been truly forgiving to his son,

Absalom might have changed within. We will never know, for David did not hide his bitterness and Absalom never ceased plotting against his father. He simply awaited his time and gathered his followers. Beneath the storied beauty, a terrible ugliness grew like a spiritual cancer that would some day claim his young life and break his father's heart.

No matter how well-intentioned, the reconciliation was only a cosmetic to cover over the ugliness in two men's hearts. A reconciliation without reformation is no reconciliation at all.

TO EXAMINE CORN PLANTS

The corn crop is off to a good start in this part of the state. However, growers should be alert to the possibility of insect damage and fertilizer deficiencies. Army worms are feeding on some corn fields; they can clean out a corn field in a few days. Sprays or dusts of Sevin or Dylox should reduce the infestation.

Signs of fertilizer deficiency can be detected during the growing season. Nitrogen deficiency is detected by lower leaves turning yellow up the midrib in an inverted V fashion.

The lack of phosphorus is shown when the leaves turn purple in color. Potash deficiency results in the outer margin of the leaves turn yellow, then brown... just the opposite of nitrogen deficiency. Magnesium shortage causes the lower leaves to have a white, striped appearance with the leaf veins remaining green.

Corn is important; examine the crop frequently during the growing season.

TO PREPARE GRAIN BINS

The current barley crop is ripening and wheat is soon to follow. If the grain is to be stored in local bins, the bins should be cleaned out of old grain and sprayed for insect eradication. Prevention of insects in the grain is much better than to try and eradicate them after they have moved in.

We suggest the bins be thoroughly cleaned and then sprayed with Malathion using one pint of the 57% emulsion in 2½ gallons of water. Cover the walls, floor, and ceiling of the grain bin. If infestation is found after the grain is in the bin, then fumigation of the bin would be in order.

TO PRACTICE GOOD SANITATION

The control and prevention of various diseases start with a good sanitation program. This is also true in the elimination of serious fly problems.

In spite of the rumor that the 3-Mile Island problem eliminated most of the flies in this part of the state, we find too many of them around most farms. Here again, the place to start is to clean up the premises and eliminate all breeding places. This practice along with the use of suggested insecticides should keep flies to a minimum.

Residual wall sprays, fly baits, space sprays, and larvicides can be used to eliminate the fly problem. Additional information is available from local Extension Offices.

TO PLAN FOR SUMMER SEEDINGS

It is not too early to be making plans for the Summer seeding of alfalfa or the early fall seeding of permanent pastures. The starting place is a complete soil test. The ground should be well prepared and treated according to soil test recommendations. Seed supplies should be ordered in order to get the quality and variety wanted.

In this part of the state alfalfa seedings are often made during late July and early August. This is only six weeks away and times go very fast during the busy Summer months. Make good plans for Summer seedings.

Livestock market and auction news

Omaha Cattle

June 14, 1979

CATTLE — Choice predominantly 3 steers at midweek 1.00-1.50 higher, some loadlots with large percentage 4 50-1.00 higher heifers ranged 1.00-1.50 higher, instances 1.75-2.00 higher in early trading at midweek. Cows were 4.00-5.00 higher and bulls 2.00-4.00 higher.

Four day receipts 10,700 compared 13,800 for last week and 15,300 a year ago.

The fed cattle trade followed an uneven pattern as the constant uncertainty of transportation facilities served to kindle an air of caution and bearishness. Marketings were of quite modest proportions in reflection of recent sharp price declines in addition to the transportation situation. Prices advanced sharply on a meager Monday run, but a portion of the early upturn was lost at midweek in a highly erratic trade. Buyers were quite selective on the late rounds; best demand centered on choice predominantly 3 yield grade steers and heifers in reflection of the wide price differential on yield grade 3 and 4 carcasses often amounting to 9.00-10.00 per cwt. Slaughter steers made up approximately 47 pct. and heifers 36 pct. with a liberal percentage choice included.

Cows contributed 13 pct., feeders only 3 pct.

STEERS: Load choice with end prime 3 1208 lbs. 71.00 early. At midweek, several loads same grade 3-4 1164-1248 lbs. 70.25-70.75, some 1250-1275 lbs. late 69.00-70.25, several consignments 4 1250-1325 lbs. 67.00-68.50. Mixed good and choice 2-3 1000-1250 lbs. 68.00-69.25. Good 2-3 65.50-68.00.

Average of LS-214, detailed quotations, for choice 900-1100 lbs. steers this week 69.62. Average weight steers this week 1186 lbs. as compared 1165 lbs. the previous week. Average weight heifers this week 1049 lbs. as compared 994 lbs. the previous week.

HEIFERS: Part load choice with end prime 3 981 lbs. 71.00, several loads same grade 3-4 991-1063 lbs. 70.25-70.50. Choice 2-4 875-1075 lbs. at midweek 68.00-70.25. Mixed good and choice 2-3 850-1050 lbs. 67.00-68.50. Good 2-3 63.00-66.50.

COWS: Utility and commercial 2-4 50.00-53.00, few high-dressing 53.50-54.00. Cutter 47.00-51.00. Canner and low-cutter 45.00-47.50.

BULLS: 1-2 1400-2000 lbs. 60.00-67.00, few individual 1 68.00-69.00.

When you shortchange their nutrition, you shortchange yourself.

Looking for ways to cut on down on out-of-pocket feed costs without cutting down on milk production?

Cutting production costs will backfire if you end up shortchanging your herd's nutrition in the process.

But you can cut those costs safely by feeding homegrown grains and grain silage fortified with the right Vigortone Dairy Pre-Mix. These potent pre-mixes contain the proper levels of vitamins, calcium, phosphorus, and other minerals needed to balance your farm's feedstuffs.

Vigortone Dairy Pre-Mixes can be mixed in or metered on any palatable grain or roughage. This lets you change ration content to fit the supplies you have on hand without risking herd performance.

Better herd nutrition means a bigger milk check. Minimum out-of-pocket feed costs mean more in your pocket.

Your figures will prove it

Dry cow nutrition pays future profits.

Shortchanging your dry cow's nutrition can be risky too. Most problems dairymen experience in getting cows back in the string can be traced to careless treatment during the dry period.

Keep them in top condition until their next lactation. To help you do it, Vigortone has developed unique dairy pre-mixes specially concentrated for dry cow rations.

Now is the time to compare.

See your Vigortone dealer soon. He's ready to compare the performance of Vigortone's cost-saving dairy feeding programs with any other you name.

AGWAY

ABOUT BOTTOM UNLOADING SILOS

FROM AGWAY

John F. Stamy III of R.D. 2, Mechanicsburg, Pa. is the proud owner of this Madison Grain-O-Matic bottom unloading silo. John claims this silo plays a key role in his feeding program worked up for him by an Agway Enterprise Salesman. John credits this feeding program with his recent significant increase in milk production and fat test.

On a well managed dairy or beef farm, a bottom unloading silo is a valuable management tool. It will improve net income . . .

- ★ By saving home grown nutrients.
- ★ By lower feed cost per pound of milk or meat.
- ★ By lower labor cost per ton of ration.

MADISON® is a "best buy" in bottom unloaders with . . .

- ★ Lower initial cost per cubic foot - versus steel.
- ★ Lower cost per ton stored - no breather bags needed.
- ★ Lower maintenance costs - with the super rugged Laidig unloader.
- ★ Lower storage losses - because light colored concrete staves have high heat reflectivity.

AGWAY is the place to buy or lease your MADISON® bottom unloader because only there you get "one stop" professional help . . .

- ★ To be sure your silo is where it ought to be.
- ★ To get maximum yields of top quality crops.
- ★ To fit your crop into the most profitable feeding program for YOUR farm.
- ★ To accurately predict profitability.
- ★ To decide whether to buy outright or lease from TELMARK - with lease payments as low as $100 per month the first year (higher after that when your silo is paying YOU off).

Jack Kooker, president of the Berks County Farmers Association, left, and Berks County Grange Master Feryl Treichler helped to organize the Berks County Agricultural Expo.

Berks County

felt not just in dollar volume, but also in jobs, Heim emphasized more than once that "agriculture keeps Pennsylvania going."

He added that Governor Thornburgh is aware of that fact and there is an orchestrated effort in Harrisburg to insure high priority for farming.

Heim also repeatedly stressed the need for more promotional efforts, mixing those remarks with congratulatory comments to the groups and individuals who were responsible for the Agricultural Exposition. "We have a good product, we need to promote," the deputy agriculture secretary concluded.

Mrs. Robert Kopfer of Fleetwood, speaking for the Farmers' Association, reviewed the activities with obvious delight when she was interviewed by Lancaster Farming later in the week. She said the crafts were very well received and both adults and children were interested in the numerous displays. About a dozen groups took part in the educational program.

The Expo wasn't strictly geared to agriculture, however. Special entertainment included a marionette puppet show and square dancing. "The interest is just wonderful," a delighted Mrs. Kopfer concluded.

Food preservation spells food economy - especially when you grow or pick your own produce and preserve it yourself. Or, you may be able to buy when the price is right and can, freeze, store, dry, preserve or "pickle" your purchases. A correspondence course, Canning and Food Preservation, from The Pennsylvania State University, gives detailed directions for all methods of food preservation.

The course gives directions on canning - with timetables - and information on which foods need to be processed with the pressure canner and which with the boiling water bath. Lessons on freezing fruits and vegetables and freezing meats and prepared foods emphasize efficient use of the freezer and list foods that are suitable for freezing.

Drying and storing foods may sound old fashioned, but methods have been updated for the consumer of the 70's. Pickles, both quick-and-easy and the old-fashioned brined varieties, are discussed in one lesson. Jams, jellies and preserves complete the nine-lesson cookbook-in-one-course.

The correspondence course is not designed just for the reader who wants to complete question papers and return them to Penn State for a completion certificate, but also for the consumer who wants a valuable and handy reference guide.

To get a copy of the Canning and Food Preservation course, send $5 plus 25 cents postage, to Food Preservation, Box 5000, University Park, Pa 16802. Make check payable to Penn State.

Changing tastes boost farm trade

NEW HOLLAND - The culinary tastes of the world are changing and the increasing diversity of overseas appetites is having a profound effect on the American farmer.

The role of the U.S. farmer as a world marketer is not only continuing to grow in dollar volume, but also in the variety of agricultural products being exported to foreign lands.

This twin trade growth, in turn, holds significant positive results, not only for the agricultural community, but for the nation as a whole, too.

Agricultural exports during the coming year are expected to top $30 billion - up about $3 billion from the past year.

Although changing world tastes are causing a widening diversity in these agricultural exports, traditional farm products are still maintaining a basic importance. Soybeans, corn and wheat remain the "Big Three" products off U.S. farms and will account for more than half of the $30 billion in trade.

But even in these mainstays of farm export markets some changes are being wrought down on the farm. As such food and feed grains command higher prices overseas, foreign buyers are placing increasing emphasis on the quality of these products.

And a harvesting innovation came along just in time to safeguard grain quality. A Twin Rotor combine threshing technique handles the grain more gently, helping to insure the improved quality overseas buyers want.

Although not as large in volume or dollar value as grains, exports of fruits, vegetables, nuts, animal products and other specialty agricultural items will be a multi-billion-dollar business during the coming year.

In fact, sales of such items will reach nearly $7 billion. That alone is more than all U.S. farm exports were worth at the beginning of just this decade.

Reports of inquiries from overseas buyers during a single week illustrate the increasing scope and diversity of world trade in these specialty agricultural products.

At least part of the tremendous oil revenues making their way to the Middle East will be coming back in some unique agricultural ways. Amidst the heat, sunshine, sand and oil of Saudi Arabia, a taste is developing in soft ice cream and frozen yogurt. With plans for a chain of such stores, it opens markets for not only the concentrate ingredients, but the equipment to make those delicacies.

Not only are the Saudis acquiring American food tastes, but they're interested in U.S. eating customs and programs. The Saudi Ministry of Education is seeking to establish a 40,000 meal-a-day school lunch program, including biscuits, peanuts, milk, cheese, orange juice and fruits.

Such specialty foods and programs thereby make a significant contribution to the U.S. balance of trade.

Amounts of similar purchases are substantial. For instance, there are the 18 metric tons each of turkey and beef livers sought in Egypt, along with a small mountain of canned corned beef.

Besides salami bound for Trinidad and canned corn on the cob to West Germany, there are black and sour cherries to South Africa and Bloody Mary mix to Abu Dhabi.

And what is a more symbolic American agricultural export than hamburger and milk shake ingredients headed for West Berlin.

Thus, whether it be a shipload of field corn for livestock or a few thousand cases of canned corn on the cob, the U.S. farmer is not only the keystone of U.S. world trade, but is the foundation of thousands of domestic jobs to process and move a vast variety of products from American farms throughout the world.

Pennsylvania field conditions improve slightly as rains decrease

HARRISBURG — A slight improvement in field conditions was evident on Pennsylvania farms during the week ending June 10, according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service. Showers were less frequent and lighter than the previous week.

Three days were suitable for fieldwork statewide during the week, with a fourth day available to farm operators in central counties. The rains continued to interrupt spray schedules.

Soil moisture is rated as surplus by three-fifths of reporters, with the rest at adequate. In the south, 90 per cent reported surplus amounts.

At 65 per cent planted, soybeans continue to pace 1978 progress. Planting in the north is at 76 per cent, central counties report 68 per cent with the south at 51 per cent.

At 91 per cent planted, corn progress equals that of last year but is slightly behind the historical average of 93 per cent. The crop is 90 per cent planted in the north, 93 per cent in central counties and 92 per cent in the south. Some replanting has been done where germination was poor. The average height of five inches is also the same as a year ago. Northern and central areas report four inches with the south at five inches of growth. Some corn borer damage and yellowing are reported.

Tobacco is one-third transplanted compared to the slightly more than 40 per cent last year at this time. Plants are large enough to set, but wet soils are retarding progress.

Heavy winds and rains have lodged some barley and wheat. Barley is 70 per cent headed with 16 per cent turning, compared to under five per cent turning last year. Northern counties show 47 per cent headed, virtually all are headed in central areas and 58 per cent are reported headed in the south. The south reports a slight bit ripe, with the crop about four days ahead of last year in turning yellow.

At 80 per cent headed, wheat is ahead of last year's 56 per cent. Heading is three-fourths along in the north, 91 per cent in central counties and 89 per cent in the south with a little ripening. Oats are also a week ahead of last year at eight per cent headed compared to less than five per cent last year. While northern operators report less than five per cent headed, central counties are at nine per cent and the south shows 13 per cent headed with a slight bit turning yellow. The cereal leaf beetle is active in oats.

The first cutting of alfalfa is now 15 per cent complete, about five days behind 1978. Clover and timothy are nine percent cut. Hay quality is poor with some hay being used as mulch or bedding. Excess moisture and over-ripening are major problems. Pastures are providing an average amount of feed.

Tomato and sweet corn development is slow. Cabbage shows some maggot damage. Strawberries are being picked but many have been lost due to excess moisture.

Guernseys are a way of life for the Witmers

By JOAN LIESAU
WILLOW STREET — Ray Witmer says he was introduced to the Guernsey breed as a youngster. "There have been Guernseys on this farm for over 130 years," he added. Witmer said the milk produced on the farm was sold to top customers when his father was in the business as a producer and distributor. Witmer said "We always seemed to get a premium for Guernsey milk after the war and we have received a premium for Guernsey milk to this day." Witmer now sells his milk to Turkey Hill.

"Today it is certainly profitable because of the high butterfat differential," said Peter Witmer, who graduated from Penn State in 1974. Peter also likes the Guernseys because of their temperament. "I have worked around many different breeds in a show type setting," Peter said, "and, I have found the Guernseys to be a more docile, easier to work around animal."

Both father and son liked the efficiency of the moderate size cow. "You don't have the maintenance cost for supporting excess size to have the same amount of profit," they said. "We think Guernsey milk is superior in quality in solids and taste." Peter said "I am pleased to be producing a bottle of milk that has a higher number of solids than is required by the state." He quickly added however, that he appreciated a cow of any breed.

"We don't deny our breed doesn't have problems. I grant it is a slow process, but we are coming along faster by using predicted difference (of daughters over herd mates), better bulls and higher producing cows."

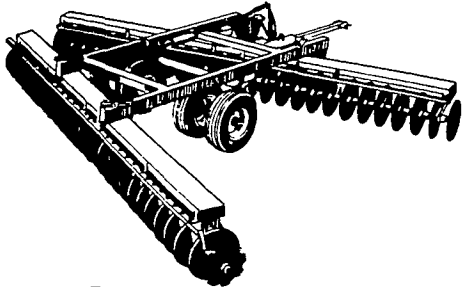

The Witmers have 64 registered Guernseys on test with a rolling herd average of 13,120 pounds of milk. Their butterfat totals 642 pounds. Six of the cows are rated excellent, 26 very good and nine desirable.

(Turn to Page 20)

The Witmers have 65 Guernseys on test. They like the higher butterfat differential their breed gives.

Plum Bottom Farm to host first Forage Day

BELLEVILLE — Commercial exhibits and tours of efficient grass and legume management systems will be highlights of the first Forage Day scheduled for June 19 at Plum Bottom Dairy Farm in Mifflin County.

two miles northeast of Belleville on Route 655

"Numerous companies who produce forage-related equipment and supplies will exhibit their products at the field day," points out Dr. William Stringer, Penn State professor of agronomy and chairman of the event.

The field day, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Forage and Grassland Council and The Pennsylvania State University's Cooperative Extension Service, will start at 10 a.m. The site is located Tours will focus on management systems carried out at Plum Bottom Dairy Farm that produce high quality forage at a low cost. These include:

--Manure application compared to chemical fertilization. Soil test information will be available to compare the two fertilization programs.

--Potassium fertilization of alfalfa. One part of a field was fertilized with potassium, the other part received none. Tissue samples will be compared for nutrient content.

--Regrowth study of legume and grass variety plots. Alalfa, red clover, orchardgrass, timothy, reed canarygrass, brome, and fescue will be harvested at various stages of growth. These stages of growth will be analyzed.

--Interseeding legumes in pastures. Birdsfoot trefoil and alfalfa, direct-seeded in bluegrass sod, will be analyzed.

--Planting no-till corn in established forage crops. A study of corn, planted in established stands of crown vetch, crown vetch and birdsfoot trefoil, and birdsfoot trefoil will be conducted.

--The effect of lime on weed control in no-till corn will be viewed by field day participants.

--Weed control in a conventional seeding of alfalfa, showing the effect of pre and post emergence weed control chemicals, will be observed.

Dr. Stringer notes that Penn State College of Agriculture specialists will be stationed at the various four stops to answer questions on efficient forage crop management.

In addition, those interested in tree farm management will have an opportunity to check a woodlot that was harvested 20 years ago and again last year. A representative from the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Resources will explain what changes have occurred in the past as a result of cutting and what can be expected to happen to the stand in the future.

Guernseys are a way of life

The cows are fed haylage, corn silage and small amounts of hay. High moisture shelled corn is mixed in with a commercial flaked protein supplement. The average ration they feed varies between 16 and 18 per cent.

They work a total of three farms. On the home farm, 110 tillable acres are worked and 115 additional acres are rented. Everything fed except the commercial supplement is grown on the farm. Extra shelled corn is also sold. Soil and forage samples are a part of the father and son teams program. "Years ago, we found our feed was low on manganese. We then began testing the soil for all of the elements," Ray said. "Soil makes a large difference in the nutrient differences in the feed. The diet affects the health and production of the cow, also," added Peter. They also take forage samples to see if the soil program is working for them. The cows are fed from bunk feeders. Feed is stored in three Harvestors and one cement silo.

A five unit pipeline milker is utilized in their 62 comfort stall barn. Six maternity pens hold the newborn calves until they are about three months old. The Witmer's explained that it was handy to have the calves there. It was a dry and draft free location. Sawdust was also used for bedding. The calves are then moved into loose housing. They are fed haylage and pastured (rye and sudan) once they are bred. When they freshen, hay is fed.

Bulls are used for clean-up or problem cows. The bull calves from the best cows are raised and sold as breeding stock.

What type of cows are being selected by the Witmers? Ray said. We feel type and production goes hand in hand. We want a cow that eats lots of roughage, deep ribbed, and deep in the heart. "More a functional type," Peter added. "We like to see sound feet and legs along with well attached, sound udders. We're not necessarily looking for the biggest cow in the world," he said. As an example of his statement, Peter said that one cow in their herd is in her 17th-year of milking. She ranks sixth in milk and seventh in fat, in the nation for lifetime production. This year she produced 16,636 pounds of milk and 693 pounds of butterfat and "she's a cow that many would say is small," Peter added.

Ray Witmer is the president of the Pennsylvania Guernsey Breeders Association and a past director of the American Guernsey Cattle Club.

ELCO medical center opened

MILLBACH - The ELCO Family Health Center was formally dedicated last Sunday, June 10. Located equidistant between Schaefferstown, Richland and Newmanstown, the new facility will serve the medical/dental needs of the residents in the Eastern Lebanon County area. It has facilities for two physicians and two dentists.

The new Health Center is staffed by Family Practice physicians from The Reading Hospital and Medical Center, under the direction of Dr. John Wagner, Chairman of the Hospital's Department of Family Practice.

The ELCO Family Health Center became a reality through the original fund raising efforts of industrial, business, and civic organizations and individuals in and around Richland, Newmanstown, and Schaefferstown.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Higher prices for hay, wheat, citrus, corn, potatoes and broilers more-than-offset lower prices for cattle, tomatoes, eggs, hogs and soybeans to push the May Index of Prices Received by Farmers up 2 points (1/4 of one per cent), USDA reported last week.

At 246 pct of its January — December 1967 average, the index equalled its all-time high established in March. It was also up 31 points (14 pct) from a year earlier.

Hay moved up sharply from $49.50 per ton in April to $65.10. Wheat advanced 22 cents to $3.22 per bu, its highest since July 1976. Corn moved up 7 cents to $2.34 per bu, the highest since March of 1977.

Potatoes moved up 31 cents to $3.33 per cwt, broilers advanced from 28.2 cents per pound in April to 29.0 cents. Grapefruit moved up from $2.68 per box to $9.83, oranges, from $4.58 per box to $5.12.

But, cattle tailed off from a record high $72.40 per cwt in April to $71.50. It was the first decline in cattle prices since November. Hog prices fell off a bit — from $44.30 per cwt to $43.60.

Tomatoes, which had averaged $31.60 per cwt a month earlier, fell off to $19.10. Soybeans declined 10 cents to $6.95; eggs, from 60.2 cents per dozen to 56.7 cents.

Meanwhile, Index of Prices Paid by Farmers for Interest, Taxes and Farm Wage Rates also moved up 1 point (1/2 of 1 pct.) to 247 — also a record high. It was 28 points (13 pct.) above a year earlier.

With both indexes up, the Ratio of Prices Received to Prices Paid advanced 1 point to 100. It had been at 98 a year ago.

Under the old 1910-14 formulas, Prices Received advanced 6 points to 615; Prices Paid advanced 4 points to 841 and the Parity Ratio remained unchanged at 73. A year ago it had stood at 72, concludes USDA.

Order 4 July milk price $13.45

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — Middle Atlantic Order Market Administrator Joseph D. Shine recently announced a Class I milk price of $13.45 per hundredweight for July 1979. This price is up four cents from June and is $1.42 higher than the July 1978 Class I milk price. Order No. 4 prices are announced for milk testing 3.5 percent butterfat, f.o.b. plants located within 55 miles of Philadelphia, Pa. and also within 75 miles from the nearer of Washington, D.C. or Baltimore, Md. There is also a 6-cent direct-delivery differential applicable to producer milk received at plants located within 55 miles of Philadelphia.

Shine announced a Class II milk price of $10.57 per hundredweight for May 1979 and a butterfat differential of 14.0 cents for the month. The Class II milk price is up one cent from the previous month.

These class prices are based on the May 1979 Minnesota-Wisconsin manufacturing milk price of $10.67 per hundredweight adjusted to a 3.5 per cent butterfat content.

The USDA reported that the wholesale price of Grade A butter at Chicago for May was $1.2180 per pound and the nonfat dry milk price was $.7894 per pound, f.o.b. plants in the Chicago area.

Young's Inc., continues expansion

ROARING SPRING - It has been announced by Craig R. Brown, executive vice-president of Young's, Inc., that contracts have been awarded for the construction of a new, computerized manufacturing facility. This announcement marks the start of Phase II of a three-phase building program started by Young's in 1977.

Phase I included the purchase of a five-acre tract of land and the construction of a 100 feet by 100 feet warehouse, railroad siding and elevated bulk bins.

The new mixing, bagging and storage facility will be the most modern of its type in the country. It will include a bulk storage capacity for over 500 tons of raw materials and have the capability of bagging up to 600 bags of finished product per hour.

The unique feature of the new facility will be the computerized mixing of raw materials into finished products ready for bagging. The raw materials can be drawn from the storage bins to the mixer in the correct amounts simply by entering instructions into the computer.

Young's, Inc., is the oldest and fastest growing producer of mineral-vitamin supplements for livestock in the Northeast.

The company was founded in 1902 by Dr. Thomas Young, a prominent veterinarian in southern Pennsylvania. In 1914, the company was purchased by Frank Brown and moved to its present location in the heart of the fertile Morrison's Cove near Roaring Spring, Pennsylvania. The company has been in the Brown family since its purchase in 1914.

HARRISBURG - Based on June 1 conditions, the state's winter wheat crop is expected to produce 9.2 million bushels from an indicated 262,000 acres, according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service. If realized, this would be 13 per cent above last year's production at a higher yield of 35 bushels per acre.

Peach production is forecast at 85 million pounds, the same as last year but 11 per cent below the 1977 crop.

At the United States level, winter wheat production is forecast at 1.43 billion bushels, 14 per cent greater than last year and three per cent above last month's forecast. Peach production is forecast at 2.92 billion pounds, eight per cent above last year, but two per cent below the 1977 crop.

Sweet cherry production in the six western states is expected to total 147,000 tons, 27 per cent more than last year. Pasture and range feed condition as of June 1 averaged 87 per cent, two points above a year earlier and four points above the 1968-77 average.

Hog confinement facility approved

WEST HEMPFIELD — Agriculture took a step forward on June 12, as the West Hempfield Township zoning and hearing board approved a special exception for the building of a hog confinement operation, proposed by Terra Grain, Inc.

The board granted Terra Grain permission, with some restriction, to build the farrow-to-feeder operation on the 108 acre farm. The facility will be built on a 15 acre section on the western part of the farm. The farm is bisected by Prospect and Spooky Nook Roads, near Salunga. Although zoned agricultural, the township zoning ordinance requires a special exception for any confinement operations.

Terra Grain partners are Jay Rohrer of Manheim R7, and J. Harold and James Musser, both of Mount Joy R2.

Harold Musser said he thinks the swine facility will be the largest in the county.

It's 480 sows will have the capacity to give a total farm production of about 10,400 feeder pigs a year.

Although the partners have not decided what breed the hogs will be, construction of the facility will begin after the 30 day appeal period expires.

Board members approving the hog facility were Gary Mitchel of Landisville and Patricia Hendricks of Columbia R2. Abstaining was Chairman E. R. Bomberger, "due to personal circumstances beyond my control," he said without elaboration.

Mitchel and Hendricks had visited a similar swine center run by the University of Pennsylvania in Chester County. Hendricks stated "we stood right outside the slurry store. It did not smell," Mitchel said he "purposely went back a second time" for an unannounced visit. No smells were detected by him on the second trip.

In approving the Terra Grain proposal, several restrictions were placed on the operation.

The partners can only build an office, a 253 by 41 foot gestation house, a 129 by 24 foot nursery, a 64 foot wide slurry store and an incinerator. The buildings would be separate, but connected by 20 foot walk ways.

Terra Grain said they may add a 184 by 36 foot growing house and a 350 by 50 foot finishing house.

Other restrictions include animal waste and dead animals. Animal wastes must be injected into the ground rather than spread. The farmers must also conform to manure management standards set by the state's Department of Environmental Resources (DER).

Dead animals must be refrigerated until they are incinerated. Restrictions on the incinerator include: 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. on week days, April through October; and 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. November through March. The incinerator cannot be run on national holidays, the board said.

Several residents tried to speak out at the meeting but, they were told the hearing was held last month.

Sand Livestock System Inc. of Columbus, Neb. designed the Chester County operation. They would also be building the system for Terra Grain, according to the board.

The slurry store would be built by A. O. Smith Harvestore Products Inc. of New Holland, they said.

New MF 540 Combine

If you're a medium to large acreage operator who has both corn and soybeans to harvest, then here's the combine for you. It's the new-sized MF 540 Combine built to work hard and look good, too.

It's powered by a rugged 318 cu. in. (5211) 4-cylinder Perkins diesel engine that's known the world over for maximum operating performance and field-proven reliability.

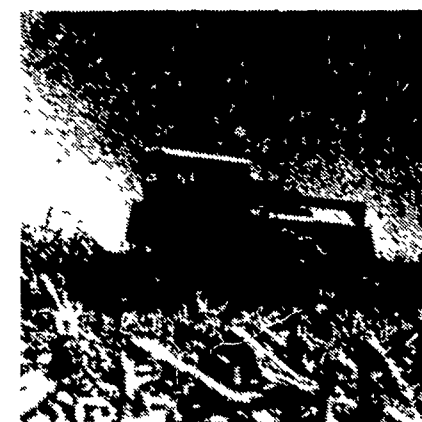

And, to keep that engine running cool, there's an exclusive Cyclone-type Radiator Air Intake System developed by Massey-Ferguson engineers. It has no moving parts to cause vibration, no bearings to wear out. The end result is improved engine cooling and reduced costs.

A new electro-hydraulic system for header lift is quiet and responsive. It lets you make quick, accurate adjustments in table cutting height with a convenient thumb switch on the ground speed control lever.

Real heart of the MF 540
combine is the massive hi-inertia cylinder. It's a full 37" (940 mm) wide for increased threshing capacity. The weight of the cylinder and the fly wheel effect keep the cylinder moving even through the heaviest going.

And, with the MF 540 you get excellent separation capacity with flat, high-speed walkers. High-capacity cleaning comes from exclusive MF Triple-Screen Cascade Shoe.

The new MF 540 Combine looks as good as it works, too. Exterior sheet metal has a clean, modern look that is reflective of the advanced engineering technology designed into every Massey-Ferguson combine.

Service and inspection points are easily accessible. Hinged panels give you quick and easy access for lubrication, adjustments and repairs.

Getting up to the extended operator's platform is made easy with the new side-mounted access ladder. And note the glass area of the MF cab. You get a clear view of field conditions and harvest operations.

The cab has extra room inside and features a big, comfortable, fully adjustable seat, easy-to-reach controls and power steering. And there are many other convenience and comfort features like optional air conditioning and heater, standard sound insulation and dust seals.

Many features come standard

For corn and soybeans, you get a 34-tooth cylinder drive sprocket, cylinder filler bars, stone trap, 1-5/8" (16 mm) chaffer screen, rotating fan mill screens, rear beater spikes, medium slope dividers, replaceable section grain pan and the controls for automatic header height control.

There are plenty of options to choose from, too. For better harvesting efficiency in down or lodged crops, you'll want to add automatic header height control to the MF table you select.

If you're looking for the best in field performance, reliability, harvesting efficiency and personal comfort — take a look at the all-new MF 540 Combine. It's the latest addition to a long tradition of outstanding Massey-Ferguson combines.

Perk up pasture profits with Ortho Unipel® 20-10-10.

Farm results in the Midwest show consistently you can get more grass and more green dollars of profit from a program of Unipel 20-10-10 fertility.

How about these results? Up to three tons of hay/Acre? Up to 600 lbs/Acre beef gains? Non-irrigated pasture profits up to $200/Acre above fertilizer cost?

Such results come from productive pastures getting a full balance of N P & K annually—such as you provide in precise applications under a Unipel 20-10-10 program. Brome bluegrass orchardgrass fescues, other cool-season grasses and combinations can produce incredible gains and profits under an Ortho pasture program using Unipel 20-10-10.

There are other benefits too. Like increased quality. This is reflected in higher protein content, more total digestible nutrients and mineral content. All contribute to increased yield, consumption, gains and profits.

We can recommend to you an Ortho Pasture Program with planned, precise applications of Unipel 20-10-10 to perk up your pastures and pasture profits.

Death of cows near TMI caused by virus

BAINBRIDGE — An infectious broncho rhinotracheitis has been blamed for the death of the 19 cows and calves at the Clair Hoover farm, Bainbridge R1, state agriculture officials reported this week.

Earlier tests which had been performed by state and federal agencies had indicated that the deaths had not been related to the Three Mile nuclear accident.

The virus is a respiratory infection that can cause abortions. It was found by Dr. Charles Clark, head of the agriculture department's Summerdale laboratory.

According to John Nicoloff, an agriculture spokesman, the actual cause of the death of a 12-year-old cow whose carcass had been examined was metritis.

Dr. Hans Rothenbacher, who is senior pathologist at Penn State's department of veterinary medicine, noted that the viral infection found in the cows is usually related to abortions. He added that while metritis doesn't usually kill mature animals, a cow weakened by infectious broncho rhinotracheitis could die from the secondary infection.

Cattlemen's Field Day slated

UNIVERSITY PARK — The 5th annual Cattlemen's Summer Field Day will be held Saturday, July 7, at the Beef-Sheep Center at The Pennsylvania State University.

According to Dr. Lowell L. Wilson, Penn State professor of animal science, registration and program activities will start at 9:30 a.m.

Included among the four stops and discussion will be: estrus synchronization, ova transplant, comparisons of new forage plants, low-labor wintering systems for the cow herd, maximum use of corn silage in growing-finishing rations, fly control systems, corral and cattle handling systems, and beef promotion and education programs.

"Producers attending the field day may start on the tours at several different times, and the program will be informal," Dr. Wilson points out. "A special beef bar-b-que will be available at noon."

Additional information can be obtained from Dr. L. A. Burdette, Extension animal scientist, who is serving as the Cattlemen's Field Day Chairman. His address is 324 Animal Industries Building, University Park, Pa. 16802.

Farm Bureau may import oil

PARK RIDGE, Ill. — Allan Grant, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation confirmed that the 3 million member-family farm organization has begun direct trade negotiations with the Libyan government which "involve a number of farm commodities" and conceivably could include arrangements for crude oil to be handled by farm cooperative refineries.

A trade delegation, headed by Grant, recently travelled to Tripoli (May 2-7) at the invitation of Ahmed Shahati, Libyan chief of foreign relations, to review trade possibilities for wheat, feed grains and a number of other farm commodities.

"This is not an attempt to reach agreement to trade a bushel of wheat or any other grain for a barrel of oil. We are talking about a number of separate possibilities — about the direct purchase of oil for farm needs and about selling high quality grains at market prices . . ." Grant said.

The delegation met with the Libyan Minister of Agriculture, with ministers for food and industry, and with the minister of oil. Libyan officials made it plain that they seek a reliable supply of U.S. farm goods and may be willing to help assure that supply through new trade concessions on oil.

The State Department indicated "no objection" to this kind of direct commercial transaction. About 40 per cent of Libyan oil production now moves to the U.S. in similar commercial trade, representing about 10 per cent of total U.S. oil imports.

Grant described the present stage of negotiations as "very preliminary" adding that reception by Libyan officials has been extremely cordial, and that he is hopeful a full-scale trade pact will result.

The farm leader will return to Libya later this Summer, perhaps accompanied by several cooperative leaders, in an attempt to complete the proposed trade deal.

Juniata DHIA highlighted

MIFFLINTOWN — The Juniata County Dairy Herd Improvement Association reports that Roy and Glen Henry of Port Royal had the high producing cow for lactations completed last month. Their "Joyce" produced 27,070 pounds of milk and 1130 pounds of butterfat. Second in the rankings was "Manda," owned by L.C. Zimmerman and Sons of Mifflin. She produced 22,674 pounds of milk and 999 pounds of butterfat.

The five high herds in average butterfat production per cow per day were:

James V. Wilson, Mifflintown, 31 cows averaging 54.9 pounds of milk, 2.27 of butterfat; Rodney Conrad, Millerstown, 37 cows, 59.3 pounds of milk, 2.15 of butterfat; Herman R. Benner, Millerstown, 37 cows, 55.0, 2.10; Rick and Ralph Saner, Thompsonstown, 51 cows, 53.2, 2.08; James C. Graham, Port Royal, 29 cows, 52.2, 2.07.

The Juniata County DHIA program had 3395 cows in 69 herds on test during May.

4-H club meets

MILLERSVILLE — The Penn Manor Community 4-H Club held its second meeting at Eshelman Elementary School in Millersville on May 29. After the opening, County Council representatives were elected. They include: Tim Hess, Bob Musser, Virginia Smith, Nanetta Musser and Jim Stauffer.

After the business meetings, members entertained with a variety show.

SPUN STEEL ADDS STRENGTH WITHOUT SEAMS

The Top Lid and Bin Expander Ring are spun from single pieces of galvanized steel. Reinforcement ribs keep the Lid round for a tight fit. The one-piece Bin Expander Ring is smooth, without seams or welds to leak or hold back feed. Comes complete with steps as illustrated and 2 x 4 skids and pulls for easy moving.

FEED FLOW ADJUSTMENT

Controlled by Crank in top of Bin is connected by four Rods to Floating Feed Gate. Nudgers on Floating Gate allow hogs to agitate feed by revolving Gate full 360° as they feed.

14 GA. SPUN STEEL BASE

Seamless spun steel base provides uniform feed flow. A smooth, steep cone extends within an inch of the adjustable Feed Gate to keep feed within easy reach of the hogs whether the Bin is full or low.

Youth conservation school still accepting applications

LANCASTER - The deadline for application to attend the 1st annual Lancaster Youth Conservation School has been extended to July 1, 1979. The school, which is jointly sponsored by the Lancaster Conservation District and the Lancaster County Federation of Sportsmen Clubs, will be held August 19 to 25, 1979 at Camp Mack, located just north of Brickerville

A comprehensive program in soil and water conservation, wildlife management, stream biology, forestry and outdoor recreation will be conducted by trained professionals from the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, Game Commission, Department of Environmental Resources, USDA Soil Conservation Service, and other specialists.

Those youths eligible for the camp should be between 14 and 16 years of age. Participants must be sponsored by a local sportsmen club. Those interested should contact the sportsman club in their community or the Lancaster County Conservation District for more details.

Sheep field day set

YORK - The Pennsylvania Hampshire Sheep Association will be holding their annual field day on Saturday, June 23, at the farm of Stuart Ebersole, York.

Starting at 10 a.m. a tour of the Ebersole farm will be given. York County Extension Agent Tony Dobrosky will conduct a judging contest. Lunch can be purchased at the field day. Dr. Clair Engle, Penn State Extension beef and sheep specialist will talk on producing sheep for our markets today. At 2 p.m., judging results, door prizes and a business meeting will be conducted.

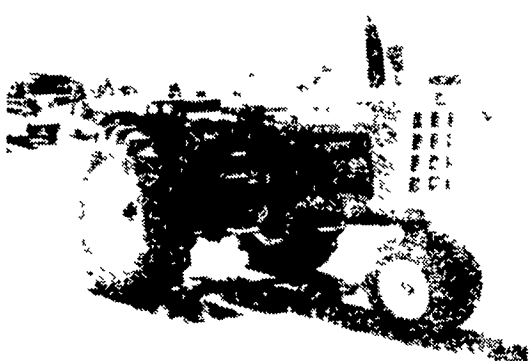

The Ebersole Farm is located off I-83 on Springwood Road, just southeast of York. Anyone interested in sheep is invited to attend.

Outstanding Young Cooperator Contest

Nineteen Inter-State dairymen in the running

GETTYSBURG — Nineteen young dairy farmers from a three-state area will compete for the title of 1979 Outstanding Young Cooperator of Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative at a contest to be held here on June 20-21.

The competing Young Cooperators were selected earlier this year to represent the various districts which comprise the 3000-member milk marketing cooperative. The judging is based on four parts, which includes an on-farm inspection, completion of a detailed application, public speaking, and extensive interviews with a panel of three judges. Judges for the 1979 contest are: Walter G. Hitchner, R 3, Bridgeton, NJ; G. William Fouse, chief, Division of Milk Sanitation, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture; and James E. Diamond, graduate assistant, College of Agriculture, The Pennsylvania State University.

The two-day contest program concludes with a 12:30 p.m. banquet on Thursday, (June 21) at which time the Outstanding Young Cooperator will be announced for Inter-State. Also at this time, Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers and Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Association will also announce their contest winners. All three cooperatives are concurrently conducting their contests as part of the Pennmarva Dairymen's Federation.

Inter-State's Outstanding Young Cooperator will be honored with a plaque which will be presented at the cooperative's annual meeting and also with an expense-paid trip to the National Milk Producers Federation's annual meeting which will be held later this year in New Orleans.

The second place Young Cooperator couple will also be awarded an expense-paid trip to the National Milk Producers Federation.

Inter-State's third, fourth, and fifth place winners will each be awarded an expense-paid trip to the American Institute of Cooperation annual conference held in Columbia, Mo.

Throughout the upcoming year, all of Inter-State's Young Cooperators will participate in their district meetings and also be the guests of Inter-State at its annual meeting Nov. 8-9, at the Host Farm Resort, Lancaster.

Inter-State annually markets over 2 billion pounds of milk for its members who reside in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Following is brief information on each of the contestants.

LaVerne G. and Linda A. Moser

LaVerne G. and Linda A. Moser operate a 205-acre dairy farm. The Mosers reside in New Berlinville, Pa. and are members of the Trappe Local. Both LaVerne and Linda graduated from Boyertown Area High School, LaVerne in 1962 and Linda in 1966.

Their dairy herd includes 52 registered Holstein milking cows and 63 head of young stock. The milking herd production average is 14,800 lbs.

On the Mosers' Lalisa Holstein farm, LaVerne and Linda grow about 30 acres of corn, 52 acres of hay, mostly legume, and 10 acres of rye. The Mosers are active members of the Christ Lutheran Church. LaVerne has served in all offices of the Trappe Local and also as District 1 secretary/treasurer. The Mosers are active in the Berks County Holstein-Friesian Association.

T. Glenn and Ella Mae Eachus

In Mullica Hill, N.J., the Eachus operate a 925-acre dairy farm and are members of Inter-State's Woodstown Local of District 2. Glenn graduated from Clearview Regional High School in 1966 and Ella Mae from Woodstown High School in 1968.

Their Holstein herd consists of 320 milking cows, 30 percent of which are registered, and 300 young cows. The Eachus also raise pigs on their farm. The average milk production per cow is 14,500 lbs. per year.

On Wellacrest Farms, the Eachus raise 600 acres of corn, 180 acres of alfalfa and 50 acres of barley. They are members of the Kingsway Baptist Church. Glenn is a regular member of the ASCS office in Gloucester County and Director of the Gloucester County 4-H Dairy Association.

Edward L. and Debra A. Zug

Edward L. and Debra A. Zug, who reside in Peach Bottom, Pa., operate a 155-acre Holstein dairy farm as members of the Southern Lancaster Local of Inter-State's District 3.

Produce firm fails to satisfy PACA award

PATCHOGUE N.Y. - Cory Farms, Inc., Patchogue, N.Y., failed to pay a reparation award issued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA). The award in the amount of $2552, was issued in favor of a Florida seller for a truckload of watermelons shipped in June 1978.

The firm admitted liability, and USDA ordered payment of the amount claimed due.

The firm, according to marketing specialists of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, may not conduct business under PACA unless USDA approval is granted. In addition, Theodore William Korytowski and Helen Stella Korytowski—the firm's officers, directors, and major stockholders—may not be employed by, or affiliated with, a PACA licensee without USDA approval.

PACA establishes a code of good business conduct for the produce industry. Under its regulations, all interstate traders in fresh and frozen fruits and vegetables must be licensed by USDA, which is authorized to suspend or revoke a trader's license for violating the Act.

Beef act called significant legislation

DALLAS, Texas - The amended Beef Research and Information Act "is a significant piece of legislation to the cattle and beef industry and consequently to our entire nation's economy," the general manager of Livestock Marketing Association said here recently at a public hearing on the proposed order to implement the Act.

In supporting the proposed order, C.T. 'Tad' Sanders told the hearing that it reflects "the deliberate and sincere effort of the cattle and beef industry's leadership to outline a method and means to effectively carry out" the intents and purposes of the Act.

Sanders pointed to the "legislative findings and declaration of policy" in the Act itself as evidence of the compelling need for research and information."

It was declared to be the policy of the Congress and the purpose of the Act "that it is essential and in the public interest...to authorize and enable the establishment of an orderly procedure for the development and the financing of research, consumer information, producer information and promotion designed to strengthen the cattle and beef industry's position in the marketplace."

Sanders said the goals of the Act "are of such critical importance as to compel our best individual, positive efforts to insure their success."

He said that LMA complimented "all elements" of the cattle and beef industry "who have worked so hard and diligently producing this proposed order," and also the industry's Beferendum Advisory Group, "which has acted with conscientious deliberation in resolving many industry views to the point they have which are incorporated in the order."

Sanders also pointed to the size of the cattle industry as evidence of the need "for an effective research and information effort." In 1978, 114.1 million head of cattle were merchandised and sold for a total of $35.5 billion, he said.

His figures came from LMA's annual study of the "Volume and Value of Livestock Transactions."

"I cannot think of any other industry of comparable size daring to ignore the value and importance of such (a proposed order) to its own detriment, decline and eventual destruction," he said.

LMA is a Kansas City-based organization furnishing business services to over 1,300 livestock markets, dealers, and brokers in the U.S. and Canada. Sanders' testimony came during a hearing conducted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

AFBF says trucks may help ease fuel shortage

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The American Farm Bureau Federation has proposed immediate action to ease the increasingly critical diesel fuel situation.

Allan Grant, federation president, urged immediate action to increase the efficiency of fuel consumption by trucks, saying, this requires regulatory reform of trucking, a uniform 80,000 pound maximum weight on the Interstate Highway system and a uniform maximum truck-trailer length of 65 feet.

Three years ago, Congress authorized states to increase Interstate Highway weight limits to 80,000 pounds. The interstate system will accommodate vehicle combination lengths up to 65 feet, including two trailers.

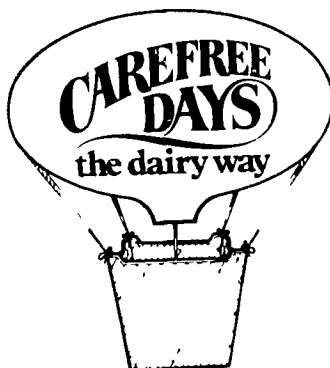

"Seven states up and down the Mississippi River and two states in the East block the movement of 80,000 pounds maximum weight trucks across the country, and this means using more fuel per pound of freight," Grant said.

Grant called on the Carter administration to issue an immediate order to provide for the uniform maximum weight and length and on Congress to pass legislation giving the Secretary of Transportation authority to set such uniform maximum weights and lengths on a permanent basis.

A Department of Energy study shows these steps could save a quarter-billion gallons of fuel annually, Grant said, pointing out that this amounts to a savings of one-third in fuel consumption on the Interstate system.

"It is time for the president and Congress to come up with reasonable and workable programs," Grant said. "It does little good to assure necessary fuel for on-farm use unless we also are assured fuel for the transportation of production inputs to farms and ranches and for movement of the harvested crops to market."

Internal parasite control essential for sheep

By KENDACE BORRY
DOYLESTOWN — "All sheep have internal parasites," Mike Fournier, Extension county agent for Bucks County stated. "It's up to you to decide how to handle the problem."

Speaking at the special sheep seminar held last Saturday at Delaware Valley College, he related that internal parasites are the chief disease problem of Pa. sheep. He told that a basic understanding of the conditions which foster the development of flock parasite problems is necessary in order to take control measures that will succeed. Those who stay in the sheep business and are successful, he stressed, learn how to manage sheep on their farms so that the worms are kept under control with a minimum of labor and medicine.

Fournier told his audience that there are several different kinds of internal parasites which can infect sheep. These include nematodes, stomach and intestinal roundworms and lungworms; cestatodes tapeworms; trematodes flukes; and protozoa coccidia. In Pennsylvania, the two worms most prominent are the roundworms and the tapeworms. And in certain areas, lungworms are also a problem.

To combat the worm problems, several drugs are used. Most can be purchased at feed stores or obtained through catalogues.

Each drug has a specific purpose in the worming program and the drugs should be used in combinations to assure that all worms are treated.

The drugs Fournier told of for use against internal parasites included:

Thiabendazole, a drug used mainly to control stomach and intestinal roundworms; it is effective and safe even when overdosed.

Tramisol, the only drug effective against lungworm, it is also effective against stomach and intestinal roundworms.

Phenothiazine, which has not been used as much since thiabendazole development, it is used for stomach intestinal roundworms.

Haloxon (Loxon), an organic phosphate drug that is relatively safe and highly effective against stomach and intestinal roundworms.

Copper Sulfate-Nicotine Sulfate Solution, too toxic for young lambs or weak emaciated sheep, it has some effect on tapeworms.

Lead arsenate, very dangerous and very difficult if not impossible to obtain, it

Soviets to continue big grain purchases

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The U.S. Department of Agriculture reports that, during regular consultations in Moscow May 31, officials of the Soviet Union indicated that relatively large purchases of U.S. grain would be continuing. These consultations continued a series held semi-annually pursuant to the U.S. - USSR Grain Agreement.

It was confirmed during the talks that purchases of U.S. wheat and corn for delivery in the year which began last Oct. 1 had reached a total of approximately 10 million tons, and that additional purchases for current year shipment will likely be made in coming months. This is the third year of the 5-year agreement.

Despite a record Soviet grain crop in 1978, it had not recently been anticipated that USSR imports of U.S. grain in the current year would total approximately 10 to 11 million tons, thus significantly exceeding the minimum 6 million tons specified in the Agreement. Now, however, as a result of recent Soviet purchasing and the May 31 discussions, the expectation is for a somewhat higher level of shipments, possibly 13 to 15 million tons. Shipments of U.S. wheat are not expected to greatly exceed 3 million tons. Thus, corn shipments should exceed 10 million tons.

Concerning prospects for the fourth year of the Agreement, it was noted that the general state of condition and progress for the coming season's Soviet grain crop appears less favorable than that of one year ago. It was also noted during the consultations that the current tentative forecasts of total U.S. grain exports for 1979/80 assume a continued relatively large volume of shipments to the USSR in the year ahead.

Vintage Sales Stable, there were 1102 cattle reported with 79 per cent being slaughter steers. A week ago there were 1074 cattle at market, compared to 1240 a year ago.

On Wednesday, at the Lancaster Stockyards, compared to Monday, slaughter steers were $1.00 to 2.00 lower, with instances of $3.00 lower on some late sales.

High choice and prime, yield grade 3 to 4, weighing 1100 to 1430 pounds sold for 69.50 to 70.85, with a few lots bringing 71.00 to 71.35; and late sales at 68.10 to 69.75. Choice, mainly yield grade 2, at 1075 to 1325 pounds, brought 69.50 to 71.10 at the auction, with choice, yield grade 2 to 4, 950 to 1400 pounds selling for 67.75 to 70.10, and a few late sales bringing 66.75 to $7.50.

There were 1511 cattle reported on Wednesday with 88 per cent being slaughter steers. Last week 991 cattle were reported, compared to 1478 a year ago.

At New Holland on Thursday, compared to the Thursday before, slaughter steers were fully steady, with instances of being 50 cents higher; and Standard and low good $2.00 to 3.00 higher.

High choice and prime, yield grade 3 to 4 slaughter steers, weighing 1100 to 1300 pounds sold for 68.50 to 70.00; with choice, mainly yield grade 2, at 1000 to 1300 pounds bringing 69.00 to 70.50. About a dozen head of steers sold to the local retail trade for 71.50 to 73.10. Choice steers, yield grade 2 to 4, at 1000 to 1350 pounds brought 66.50 to 69.10.

A total of 1170 head of cattle were reported at the New Holland auction, with 73 per cent being slaughter steers. Last Thursday there were 1639 head, compared to 1513 a year ago.

Lancaster Stockyard president William McCoy noted that he thought that Monday's prices rose due to the market situation last week.

"Last Monday people got hurt so bad with the prices dropping so drastic that reaction just set in," he noted. "Farmers are sitting tight on their cattle, and they didn't ship, so supplies were short. And the price rose."

"This is a lull in the storm, in my opinion," he stated, referring to the drop in prices in recent weeks. "There still is a basic overall shortage in the cattle industry, and we could see a sharp increase in price after the present run of slaughter cattle has gone to market, because farmers are not filling their feederlots. We're on shaky ground now, but this is the time of the year when cattle come to market. It is still a bullish market in the long run."

For a more complete market picture, and a summary of the Lancaster markets this week, turn to the market pages of Lancaster Farming, which begin on page two of this issue.

Farmers Markets directory available

HARRISBURG — The 1979 edition of the Pennsylvania Farmers Markets — Farmer-to-Consumer Directory, published by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Rural Affairs, will be available June 15 across the state, it was announced today by State Agriculture Secretary, Penrose Hallowell.

Hallowell noted that the directory provides such information as locations, harvesting seasons and types of commodities sold at the hundreds of direct farmer-to-consumer outlets across the state. Listed in the publication are roadside markets, pick-your-own orchards and fields, milk juggers, Christmas tree farms and markets for maple products and organically grown foods.

Pennsylvania is the acknowledged leader in direct farmer-to-consumer marketing. Last year, roadside markets, pick-your-own operations and milk juggers accounted for more than $120 million in farm products sold.

Hallowell noted that direct marketing is important to both the farmer and the consumer. "More farmers are using direct marketing as an assurance that they will have a market for their products. Consumers have found that they are getting nutritious flavorful foods at reasonable prices."

In an effort to make this directory more easily available to the public, the Department of Agriculture has enlisted the assistance of both public and private agencies. Hallowell said the Department of Commerce was placing copies of the directory in tourist information centers and that the Liquor Control Board would make copies available at selected State Stores.

In addition, copies will be available through Senior Citizen Centers, Nutrition Counselors, members of the Restaurant Association, the 67 County Extension Service offices, 200 food clubs, Agway retail stores, 200 hotels and motels across the state, and all public and college libraries.

A limited number of copies are available to persons who write to "Farmers Markets," Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, Pa. 17120.

The Farmer-to-Consumer Directory is published annually by the Agriculture Department as a service to farmers and consumers alike.

Pa. broiler placements up 11%

HARRISBURG -- Placements of broiler chicks in the commonwealth during the week ending June 2 were 11 per cent above the same week a year ago, according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service.

The placements were 2,359,000, about the same as the previous week. Average placements during the past nine weeks were 11 per cent above a year earlier.

Placements of broiler chicks in the key 21 poultry-producing states were 83,998,000, one per cent above the previous week and nine per cent above the same week a year earlier. Average placements during the past nine weeks in the 21 state were nine per cent above a year ago.

The number of broiler-fryers slaughtered in Pennsylvania under federal inspection during the week ending May 23 was 2,103,000, with an average weight of 4.00 pounds.

market. And that which has been sold has not been of the best quality.

"The alfalfa has been on the older side, and there has been some stem rotting," one reported. And another added, "Some hay got spoiled, and what is being made now isn't of top quality."

Concerning the future of the hay market, and how this poor first cutting will affect prices, farmers reported that they thought that this poor first cutting would have little effect on the hay market.

"You don't look to the first cutting for your best hay, anyway. A lot of that hay will go in the silo, although this year farmers are even having problems getting it there," one explained. "But now if we have that kind of weather for the second, third, and fourth cutting, then we'll be in trouble."

"Last year there was a lot of hay made," one farmer commented. "And there still is quite a bit of hay available. But I sure hope that the rainy weather doesn't continue throughout the haymaking season."

READING - The Berks County dairy industry will soon be represented by a new Dairy Princess as nine contestants vie for the coveted title. This year the pageant will be held on June 16 at 7 p.m. in the Sheraton-Berkshire Inn, Wyomissing, as the 'Grand Finale' of a very busy week.

The contestants appeared throughout the week of June 11 to 16 at the Berkshire Mall, Wyomissing as part of Ag-Expo Week. They had been involved recently in many workshops concerning nutrition, etiquette, poise, skin and hair care, and public speaking in preparation for the pageant and the continuing duties of the newly chosen princess.

Among other activities, they schedule appearances during Ag-Expo Week, which officially began with a ribbon cutting ceremony.

The contestants include: Cheryl Adam, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Adam, Hamburg R2. Cheryl is a senior at Hamburg Area High School and is presently serving as president of the FFA chapter there. She has also been involved in 4-H for nine years and shows steers, hogs, and dairy cattle. In the future Cheryl hopes to get involved with Extension work. The Adams family presently milk 140 Holsteins.

Melissa Clay, 17, daughter of Mrs. Janet Lea Clay and residing with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moyer, Bernville R2. Melissa has recently graduated from Tulpehocken Area High School. She has been a member of the FFA chapter there and is raising two Holsteins of her own. Melissa plans to continue farming now that she has completed her schooling. The Moyers milk 95 Holsteins.

Sisters, Annette and Janelle Hetrick, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Hetrick, Limekiln. Annette, 16, will be a junior at Oley Valley High School this Fall and is interested in studying agriculture at college.

Janelle, 17, has recently graduated from Reading Area Evening College and plans to farm at home, and later do some traveling. The Hetricks milk 105 Holsteins.

Nancy Latshaw, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Latshaw, Alburtis R1. Nancy attended Brandywine Heights High School, graduating this year with honors, and plans to attend the Reading Hospital School of Nursing. Nancy has been very active in 4-H and the Berks County Junior Holstein Club. She is also a member of the National Honor Society and participated in many school activities. The Latshaws milk 50 Holsteins.

Sisters, Deborah and Dorothy Sunday, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sunday, Lenhartsville R1. Deborah, 17, is a senior at Hamburg Area High School and plans to attend

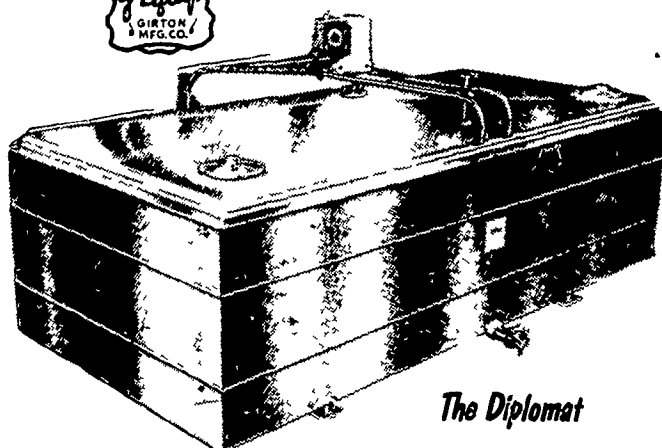

Millersville State College to study educational media. Deborah has been involved in the Girl Scouts, chorus, cheerleading and is a member of the National Honor Society.

Dorothy, 19, will be a junior at Gettysburg College this Fall where she is studying biology in preparation for med school. Dorothy is a member of the band there, playing the clarinet. The Sundays milk about 50 Holsteins.

Debra Troutman, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Troutman, Myerstown R1. Debra is a senior at Conrad Weiser High School and plans to continue studying machine design drafting. She has been active in 4-H and showing dairy cattle, and has served as president of her local 4-H club. The Troutmans milk 57 Holsteins.

Carol Hartman, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman W. Hartman, Hamburg R2. Carol has recently graduated from Hamburg Area High School and has been very active in 4-H, serving as newsreporter for the Berks County Council. Carol is president of her youth group at St. Michael's Church, Hamburg. The Hartmans milk 50 Holsteins.

The pageant is sponsored by the Berks County Dairy Farmers Association and coordinated by Marilyn Althouse of Hyde Park, Reading.

Md. wool pool June 20-21

NEWARK, Del. - The 23rd annual Maryland Wool Pool will be held June 20 and 21 in the beef-dairy barn at the Maryland State Fairgrounds in Timonium, Md. Delaware sheep owners are welcome to participate in the Pool, according to Dr. Richard E. Fowler, Extension livestock specialist at the University of Delaware.

The University is hauling its wool to the Pool on Wednesday, June 20, reports Fowler. There is room on the truck for a limited number of small lots should it be convenient for people to send their wool this way. One can contact William Green 302-738-8430 for further information and to schedule delivery of wool to the University of Delaware farm. Each bag sent must be clearly labeled with name and address.

As a service to each of those who consign their wool for delivery on the University truck, Fowler says his office will remit to the Maryland Sheep Breeders Association, Inc.,

$5 for payment of dues. If one does not wish to join, he may request a refund by writing to the association treasurer: Thomas D. Morris, 3206 Walnut Avenue, Owings Mills, Md. 21117. Membership entitles one to receive copies of the Maryland Sheep News.

If one wishes to deliver wool to the Pool directly, it will be open from 11 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Wednesday, June 20, for consignors who travel more than 50 miles to Timonium. Consignors within a 50-mile radius are encouraged to bring their wool on Thursday, June 21, from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. This arrangement is designed to prevent all wool from being delivered on one day, explains Fowler.

This year the Pool has been awarded to the Boston firm of Summit Wool Co. Producers will receive not less than the following prices for their wool: Staple - 85 cents per pound; Clothing - 79 cents per pound; Fine & 1/2 - 80 cents per pound; Rejects

- 74 cents per pound, Tags - five cents per pound.

Improper delivery, one should follow these procedures. Sheep must be dry when shorn and fleeces tied with paper twine. Ten cents per pound will be deducted for untied wool. Fleeces tied with anything other than paper twine will be put in the reject grade. One should not pack fleeces in polypropylene (plastic) feed bags. These fleeces will also be graded reject due to the problem of synthetic contamination. Loose plastic strands in these feed bags can contaminate wool and are impossible to remove at the woolen mill.

Wool can be delivered to the Pool in cardboard containers, burlap wool bags or loose in the vehicle. One should keep wool clean and dry in storage, and separated tags from clean wool—it is preferred that one does not bring them to the Pool, notes Fowler. Wool twine and bags can be purchased at the Pool.

*WHAT IS AN "ENERGY-PAK" OXYGEN CONTROLLED
FEED STORAGE SYSTEM?

The "Energy-Pak" "Oxygen Controlled" Storage System includes a solid, steel reinforced concrete wall with a tough epoxy coating on the inside wall and a cone shaped concrete roof. All access openings to the Silage Storage area are round and fitted with air-tight gaskets. These round openings are easily clamped tight. These features help to control and limit the amount of oxygen that comes in contact with the feed.

In operating an "Energy-Pak", prime importance is placed on closing the silo after each filling and feeding operation. Proper use of this system significantly reduces the oxygen content in the silo and results in a more ideal condition for maintaining the quality of the feed put into it.

Lancaster County FWS board meets

EPHRATA -- The Executive Board of Lancaster County Farm Women

Societies met on June 5 at the Salem Lutheran Church, Ephrata. Hostesses were

Miriam Moore, Society 3; Mary Alice Fyock, Society 1; and Miriam Keneagy of Society 7. The membership for Lancaster County was reported to be 986.

Conestoga View will be visited by Societies 4 and 5 in June, and Societies 6 and 7 in July. Bingo is played with many prizes.

The County project was voted upon and the recipients for this year will be the Blind Association.

The state FWS project, making something useful from junk, will be worked on for the next few months. Each Society will choose their prize contribution. Winning entries will be shown at the County Convention on November 3. The winning County entry will then compete at the State Convention in January. Lancaster County members are urged to participate in the "Recycle Your Junk" contest.

Somerset County Farm Women have invited the Lancaster County Societies to their 65th anniversary on October 6, at Seven Springs.

Society members are reminded to present programs urging the use of smoke alarms and stress the importance of stairway safety.

The program committee for the convention will be: Miriam Moore, Society 3; Miriam Saylor, Society 6; Mary Alice Fyock, Society 1; Kathryn Heisey, Society 8; and Fran Sauder, 2nd vice president.

A county picnic has been planned for the August meeting. It will be held August 1, 12 noon, at the Lampeter Community Grounds. Place settings and a covered dish should be brought. Drinks will be provided. Games will be played for the children.

Picnic Committee members are: Helen Witmer, Society 22; Jean Brenneman, Society 9; and Velma Hess, Society 28.

Maryland slates energy conference

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Complaints about prices at the gas pump may be grabbing today's headlines. But the real "energy crunch" is felt by every homeowner or renter who is faced with escalating home fuel prices and dwindling supplies.

In response, next week's Maryland Home Energy Conference has been designed to provide useful, how-to information on a variety of energy-saving alternatives.

The Saturday event is scheduled June 23 in the third-floor Chesapeake rooms area of the Student Union building at Towson State University in Towson (Baltimore County). It will feature both energy-related exhibits and a daylong educational program.

This one-day conference is being coordinated by the University of Maryland's Cooperative Extension Service, the Maryland Energy Policy Office and the Washington D.C., office of U.S. senator Charles Mathias, Jr.

Other sponsors include the League of Women Voters of Maryland; office of the governor, State of Maryland; Maryland Electrification Council; Maryland Extension Homemakers Council; Maryland Extension Program Advisory Council; and the Maryland Institute of Home Builders.

Registration for the conference and viewing of exhibits will begin at 9 a.m. on the scheduled day. The educational program will get under way at 9:45. A series of eight concurrent seminars on relevant topics will run from 10:45 to noon. Each conference participant may register for one seminar—stipulating first, second and third choices.

Advance registration for the conference is advisable—particularly for persons wishing luncheon reservations. In fact, a deadline of next Monday (June 18) has been set for luncheon reservations, since seating capacity is limited. However, last-minute walk-in registrations are acceptable for other portions of the event.

Registration forms and detailed program information are contained in brochures which are now available from sponsoring organizations and from offices of the Cooperative Extension Service in every Maryland county and in Baltimore city.

Persons desiring to receive a brochure through the mail should address individual requests to: Dr. Harvey W. Shelton, assistant director, Cooperative Extension Service, 4109 McKeldin Library, University of Maryland, College Park, MD 20742, Phone (301) 454-5420.

Follow these directions for finding the conference site at Towson State University: From U.S. highway I-695 (Baltimore Beltway) on the north side of Baltimore city take Charles street (Exit 25) south 1 1/2 miles. Turn left, on Towson town boulevard, then right on Osler drive. Watch for designated parking lot on the left, adjacent to the Student Union.

Kutztown FFA places

LEHIGH - The Regional FFA Public Speaking Contest was held at the Lehigh Valley Community College on May 1. The region includes five contest areas of 11 southeastern Pennsylvania counties. Marjorie Faust, of Kempton, received seventh place in the general public speaking contest. Her speech was entitled, "That We May Eat." Bruce Latshaw, of Alburtis, placed fourth in the conservation speaking contest with his speech, "The Extinction of The American Farmer."

In order for the contestants to compete in the regional contest, they had to win either first or second in the county and area contest held previously. The first and second place winners of the regional contest will attend the state contest at Penn State June 12-14.

Order 4 base milk price is $12.11 for May

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — Middle Atlantic Order Market Administrator Joseph D. Shine has announced a May 1979 base milk price of $12.11 per hundredweight and an excess milk price of $10.50. The weighted average May price was $11.89 and the butterfat differential for the month was 14.0 cents. The May base milk price was down one cent from April 1979 but was $1.40 higher than last May. Order No. 4 prices are announced from 3.5 per cent milk f.o.b. plant location within 55 miles of Philadelphia and also within 75 miles from the nearer of Washington, D.C. or Baltimore, Md. There is a six-cent direct delivery differential applicable to producer milk received at plants located within 55 miles of Philadelphia.

Shine said that producer receipts totaled 487.5 million pounds during May, an increase of 23 per cent from the previous month, on a daily basis and 2.7 per cent above last May. Class I producer milk totaled 243.7 million pounds and accounted for 50.02 per cent of total producer milk receipts during the month, down from 52.11 per cent in April and also below the 52.04 Class I utilization percentage last May. Base milk accounted for 87.09 per cent of total producer milk receipts in May. There were 7223 producers supplying Order 4 handlers during the month and the average daily delivery per producer was 2176 pounds, an increase of 2.6 per cent from a year ago. The average butterfat test of producer milk was 3.58 per cent compared to 3.64 per cent last May.

Middle Atlantic Order pool handlers reported Class I in-area milk sales of 6.8 million pounds per day during May, a drop of 3.2 per cent from April and 2.4 per cent below May 1978, after adjustment to eliminate variation due to calendar composition.

China program underway

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The United States and Red China have begun to exchange agricultural and related information. The learning process, building for both sides since 1971, accelerated in 1978 with the first of a series of visits by U.S. cabinet members, including Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland. Twenty-Six other U.S. Department of Agriculture officials and also representatives from state governments and the private agriculture sector have visited China in the past 15 months.

"Hi, Daddy" and comes running to be hugged and squeezed. I gladly oblige.

The reason Heidi isn't very happy in the picture, here, by the way, is because she had been in my arms and would have preferred to stay there.

Ever since our first child was born in August of 1972 both Lisa and I have marveled at his development and found boundless love and joy. Now there are three children in the family and each is a miracle who is as much a teacher as a learner. We love them dearly and thank God for this greatest of all gifts.

Children are precious.

Internal parasite control

Diphentene 70 is relatively safe; and relatively effective against tapeworms.

The symptoms of roundworm infection vary with the severity of the infection and the age of the affected sheep. The most important symptom to be observed is anemia. This will produce weakness, low milk production, poor wool growth, depressed appetite and general unthriftiness.

One can determine severe anemia by examining the lining of the mouth of the sheep, the lining inside the eyelids and the mucous membranes of the vulva or anus. Depending upon the degree of anemia, these show a pale pink to a chalky white color. Bottle-jaw, a mumps like swelling in the lower jaw, is often seen in severely infected sheep. It is very frequent in sheep suffering heavy stomach worm infection.

Diarrhea may or may not be present in wormy sheep. It will occur as a result of damage of the cells lining the intestine, hemorrhaging and interference with absorption through the intestinal wall. Nodular worms penetrate the intestinal wall and form characteristic nodular masses which seriously interfere with the digestion and food absorption.

Pregnant ewes which are heavily infected with worms are prone to suffer other problems as they get close to lambing time.

Whenever a sheep is unthrifty or sick, it is wise to be sure that internal parasites are ruled out as the cause of the problem before other causes are considered. Many veterinarians have learned to check the possibility of parasites before they settle on any other diagnosis of sheep disease.

A typical female roundworm may produce as many as 3000 eggs per day. They will pass in the feces. Under conditions of sufficient moisture and warmth the microscopic larvae hatch within a few hours. These larvae use moisture to move as far as possible from the manure and they will reach an infective stage within two weeks.

Sheep will eat grass or other feed contaminated with the infective larvae. Within a short time, the larvae mature in the digestive tract of the sheep and begin to produce eggs. The worms will attach themselves to capillaries of the gut wall and suck blood from them. The nodular worms penetrate the gut lining and surround themselves with masses of fibrous tissue preventing the absorption of the digested food by the host.

Regarding tapeworm infection, the large tapeworm in a sheep attaches itself by means of hooks to the lining of the small intestine near the stomach. These tapeworms may be longer than 15 feet in length.

The tapeworm lives on the digested food eaten by the sheep, depriving the animal of the food material.

Individual segments will "ripen" at the tail-end of the worm. These segments are filled with embryonal worm heads and they pass with the feces. Several species of ground mites eat them. The microscopic tapeworms will then become encysted in the mite's body. Sheep are infected with the tapeworms when they eat the infected mites. Tapeworm infections can easily be recognized when one observes small, white segments passing in the feces. Noodle-like sections of these worms can be seen with the feces or around the anal region of the sheep.

Symptoms that can be noticed with tapeworm infection are diarrhea, a pot bellied appearance and loss of weight. A mature sheep will seldom show recognizable symptoms, but lambs with severe tapeworm infection are unthrifty and yield poor carcasses at slaughter.

No drug is 100 per cent effective against tapeworms, but several are used. Lead arsenate is usually mixed with phenothiazine for this purpose; this is a dangerous cumulative poison which should not be used on sheep more than twice a year. The Cu-Nic solution to which 50 per cent more nicotine sulfate has been added, is relatively effective. Diphentene 70 is another relatively safe and about equally effective drug.

Sheep that have been treated for tapeworms should be confined to a barnlot or stable for two days following treatment. Tapeworms passed should be removed and destroyed. If the sheep are allowed to stay on pasture following their treatment, they will spread worm masses over the area. This will give many of the embryonic tapeworms the opportunity to start on their life cycle.

Heavy infestations of mites have been found in some sheep barns. It could be a good idea for sheep owners to thoroughly clean out the barn and spray the premises with a good disinfectant following tapeworm treatment.

Lungworms are a serious problem for some Pa. sheep flocks. The adult lungworm will live in the air passages of the lungs and produce a severe irritation which makes the sheep cough. The eggs produced by the worms are coughed up and either eggs or larvae are passed in fecal or nasal discharges. Sheep will become infected from eating feed contaminated with the larvae.

The larval worms then penetrate the digestive tract and migrate to the lungs where they mature.

Lungworms are the parasites of poor sanitation. Places where ewes are allowed to lamb very early, and the lambing quarters are dark and damp, is an ideal area for propagating lungworms and infecting young lambs.

The drug phenothiazine-salt is credited with some effect on the infectiveness of the larvae, but Tramisol is the most effective drug available.

Sheep should be treated at least four times a year to control internal parasites. Times which are most effective are three weeks before breeding; about Thanksgiving or when the Winter feeding program begins; after all the ewes have lambed; and when shearing is completed.

The most effective worm control is found when several different drugs are used in a rotation program throughout the year.

Many shepherds worm their sheep more than four times per year.

Pasture management and sanitation play an important part in the control of internal parasites. In a poorly managed pasture, millions of infective larvae are present in poorly managed pastures.

Ideally, sheep should be pastured in lots that are small enough that the animals will eat all the grass in about a two week period under ideal grazing conditions. Any worm eggs that are passed during that two week period that the sheep are in the lot will not have been able to reach the infective stage until after the sheep have been moved out.

Where sheep are unable to graze down the pasture within that time period, it should be mowed as short as possible as soon as the sheep are moved.

If the grass is mowed short and the larvae are exposed to dryness and bright sunlight, most of them are killed. Drought and sunlight are the only real natural enemies of most internal parasite larvae. Freezing weather has little effect on larval worms.

Shepherds should not expect worm medicines alone to do the job of controlling or eliminating parasites from their flocks. Basic sanitation and pasture management combined with efficient treatment at the right time will do the most effective job.

Something new added to the dairy case

ROSEMONT, Ill. - Advances in science and technology in recent years, coupled with increased consumer interest in food and nutrition, have led to the introduction of a wide array of new products in the dairy case at the supermarket.

Before a new dairy product can be shipped in interstate commerce, it must have a "Standard of Identity" defining its composition, the kind and quality of optional ingredients permitted, and the labeling requirements. The Standards are promulgated by the Food and Drug Administration and are generally adopted by state and local agencies to enhance uniformity.

Milk, lowfat milk, skim milk, half-and-half, light cream, light whipping cream, heavy cream, evaporated milk, concentrated milk, sweetened condensed milk, nonfat dry milk, nonfat dry milk fortified with vitamins A and D, sour cream, acidified sour cream, sour half-and-half, acidified sour half-and-half, evaporated skimmed milk, sweetened condensed skim milk, lowfat dry milk, dry whole milk, and dry cream.

If you were surprised not to find a couple of other well-known dairy products listed - egg nog and yogurt - that is because (along with Cultured and Acidified Buttermilk and Cultured and Acidified Milk) no Standards of Identity have yet been established, although the "proposal to establish" was published by the FDA in June, 1977.

proposedNEW YORK, N.Y. - Public comments on proposed revisions in regulations for the Perishable Agricultural Commodities Act (PACA) will be accepted by the U.S.
Department of Agriculture until July 30.The act requires fair trading in the fruit and vegetable industry.John J. Gardner, of the Department's Agricultural Marketing Service, said the revisions are necessary because of amendments to the act approved Nov. 1.The major change, Gardner said, sets a variable fee structure for PACA licenses. Under the act, licenses are required of commission merchants, dealers and brokers who deal in interstate or foreign commerce. The funds from the license fees pay for the administration of the act.The department's proposed fee structure calls for an annual $135 fee for each license. Another $35 fee would be required for eachbranch or additional business facility in excess of nine branches operated by any one firm. However, a firm would not pay more than $1,000.Under the law, the Secretary of Agriculture can assess a basic annual license fee up to $150 plus $50 for each branch. Currently the cost of a license is $100.The licensing requirement for retailers and frozen food brokers also is changed.
Retailers must be licensed if their fruit and vegetable purchases exceed $200,000 during a calendar year.Another change provides for the auditing and bonding of firms who have been found to violate the prompt payment provisions of the act.The proposals were published in the May 31 Federal Register. Two copies of comments should be submitted by July 30, to the hearing clerk, rm. 1077-

Sometimes when wandering over the hills on the home farm, I still listen for my father's whistle.

Daddy always whistled while he worked, and you could hear his slightly off-key music all over the farm, as he drove the tractor out in the fields, took care of the livestock, or worked on machinery that needed attention. To all of us Borrys', that whistle was a sound of security.

He would whistle in the morning when he headed out to the barn, and through your open window, the pleasant sound was your wake-up alarm; notifying you that another day was here, and it was time to be on your feet.

He would whistle in the truck, on the way to and from town, adding his own special arrangement to the tunes on the radio. Music was never quite the same after my father got a hold of it, but that never stopped us from enjoying the sounds formed.

I grew up to the sound of the whistle, and to this day, to me, a man whistling is a man content with his world.

As you go through every day of your life, you can either be happy, and run your world, or let your world run you, and be very unhappy, Father always said

Father ran his world, no one can ever dispute that. Every day was a new adventure to him, and he enjoyed the farm to such an extent that the love would just bubble up and come out in the clear whistle that became his trademark.

And the best thing was, when you heard that whistle, you just had to smile. You couldn't help it. It brightened your day, no matter what. With such a whistle around, it was hard for any Borry to be in the dumps.

Now Father is gone, and the whistle has been silenced forever. But I still listen for it some days, expecting to hear it in the back cornfield, or down by the tractor shed.

Maybe it is only the wind playing tricks on me, but some days I hear my Father's whistle still echoing across the fields.

Junge's Holsteins classified

NEW TRIPOLI — Robert S. Junge of New Tripoli, indicates his herd of Registered Holstein dairy cattle were recently evaluated for functional conformation. The work was completed by a Holstein classifier dispatched from the breed's headquarters in Vermont.

Holstein breeders use this official service of the breed to improve their herds, build pedigree performance and enhance the market value of their animals. Over 6000 progressive Holstein dairymen throughout the U.S. are enrolled in classification with the resulting information summarized by sire to dairymen a "consumer report" on the transmission profile of a bull.

Individual animals evaluated and receive rating of Excellent, Very Good, Good Plus, Good, Fair or Poor. Junge Farms has is made up of three cellents, 22 very goods and good pluses.

Holstein classification companion effort in improvement with a monthly check for milk yield offered by the national dairy herd improvement association.

Roasted soybeans improve performance, research shows

LITITZ — Roasted soybeans are providing farmers with an extra source of energy, according to some researchers feeds specialists, and agribusinessmen. The unsaturated fat contained in soybeans can provide 2½ times as much energy as carbohydrates, claims one report. The study says further that regular soybean meal contains only about 10 pounds of unsaturated fat per ton. But roasted soybeans contain approximately 360 pounds per ton. The roasting process destroys the "trypsin inhibitor" in the raw bean which interferes with digestion and growth, the beans become highly palatable, and the new-found energy goes to work.

The extra energy is showing up in higher production in dairy, beef, poultry, and hog operations.

According to a report by Harry O. Doty, Jr., agricultural economist with the United States Department of Agriculture, roasted soybeans are suitable for use in making all mixed feeds now containing added fat. In formulating such preparations, soybeans contain an average of 38 per cent protein and have an average oil crushing yield of 18.3 per cent.

Feed formulas can be adjusted to desired levels of fat or protein when roasted, unextracted soybeans are used in most high-energy (added fat) content mixed feeds, oil in roasted soybeans can supply all the needed energy necessary, reports Doty.

Favorable reports are also coming in from universities. In Wisconsin, for example, scientist Jim Kelly concludes that "it is extremely profitable today for the livestock or poultry industry to feed whole processed beans as our agronomists have an opportunity to breed soybeans for animal consumption rather than for its oil properties."

Kelly goes as far as to say that the roasted soybean will fill the gap in a farmer's feeding program to such an extent that he could theoretically grow practically all his nutritional needs on his own farm. "Only a vitamin, mineral pre-mix will need to be purchased to supplement home-grown grains, he says.

The Gem Grain Roaster Co. of Winona, Minn., claims that the process also reduces toxins and herbicide carryover because of its open flame sterilization process. Summarizing the benefits of the roasted soybeans, Gem Company literature claims 20 per cent more digestible and metabolizable energy can be obtained from them, when compared to a commercial concentrate.

Positive reports on the cooking or roasting of grains have come from numerous universities. Among them are: Northwest Missouri State College, The University of Missouri, Auburn University, The University of Arkansas, Kansas State University, Iowa State University, and Purdue University.

Transportation hearings slated

NEW YORK - Two public hearings have been scheduled in the Northeast by the Rural Transportation Advisory Task Force this Summer to give the public an opportunity to make statements on major transportation issues.

The first session will be held Tuesday, July 17th, at the Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge on Southern Blvd. in Albany, N.Y. The second hearing will be Tuesday, July 31st, at the Downtown Holiday Inn at 88 Spring Street in Portland, Me. Both will start at 8 a.m.

Persons interested in commenting at the hearings should call the following toll-free number: 1-800-424-9107.

Written comments will be accepted until Aug. 15. These comments should be sent to Ron Schrader, Executive Director, Rural Transportation Advisory Task Force, Room 1405-Auditors Bldg., Wash., D.C. 20250.

Tenderfoot... the Tough, Tested and Proven "pig-saver" floor.

PERMA-BOND * KOMFY-KOTE CONSTRUCTION

A tough acid-resistant plastisol compound permanently bonded to a rugged steel mesh

* An exclusive bonding process developed by Tenderfoot

* Superior Traction prevents injuries and abrasions.

* Cushioned comfort reduces stress.

Self-cleaning. No holes or crevices to harbor bacteria.

HOW LONG WILL THEY LAST?

First produced in 1975 Tenderfoot was tested in farrowing pens for 1½ years before being marketed. These original floors have been in constant use ever since WITH NO APPRECIABLE WEAR! Today's Tenderfoot floors have 6 advantages over the original pieces

1. 3 times more coating
2. Tougher vinyl coating
3. Extra-strength steel.
4. Treated to resist bacteria & fungi growth.
5. Improved Perma-Bond processing.
6. Strict quality control.

Constant research, development and quality control continues at the Tenderfoot factory and at the nearby 650-sow operation where the original 1975 Tenderfoot floors are still going strong

How long will a Tenderfoot last? No one knows. The very first ones produced have withstood heavy use since 1975 with no appreciable wear. The floors produced today are 6 ways better than the first ones. On the basis of these facts it seems safe to say that any concern over the durability of Tenderfoot flooring is unnecessary

OPEN PIT MANURE PUMPS Slash Manure Storage Agitation Time

OUTPERFORMS ALL OTHERS:

Nesseth Open Pit Pumps are years ahead of competitive models. With pumping capacities of 3500 to 6000 gallons per minute, no single pump can break up thick crusted manure and turn it into pumpable slurry as fast as a Nesseth. You'll save time and you'll save fuel, but just as important — you'll save money because you don't need two units (one for agitation, one for pumping) when you buy Nesseth. A single unit does it all — and Nesseth offers a choice of six models so you can select the model best suited to your needs. Choose from either 3 point hitch or trailer mount 20" or 24" impeller 540 or 1000 rpm PTO operation

Check these features

- Performs both agitation and pumping
- 300 degree rotation agitation spout
- Easy to transport, easy to operate
- No pier required in storage area
- Blasts a stream of manure up to 100 ft.
- Extra rugged construction for longer life, dependable trouble-free service.

The inside story on a new combine that lets you harvest more of what you grow

International * Axial-Flow Combines The world's most advanced. A single rotor takes the crop from the feeder and whisks it in a spiral path through the machine. The crop makes multiple contacts between rotor rasp bars and rotor cage concaves for thorough threshing. It is simplicity itself. There is no cylinder, no cylinder beater or beater grate, no straw walker and no rack. You harvest more grain with less kernel damage. More than that, Axial-Flow combines give you greater productivity, reliability and easier serviceability.

4-H club doings reported

FLEMINGTON, N.J. - The June meeting of the Hunterdon County 4-H Sheep Club was held at the home of Susan Koch, Lebanon.

Plans were made for the club's visit to Great Adventure on June 25th. The members will meet at the Extension Center at 9:30 a.m. and leave by bus for Great Adventure.

A demonstration on how to fill out the club's record book was given by Lisa Kanora. Sue Koch and Kim Crommelin gave a demonstration on plants poisonous to sheep.

Andrew Kolondra will shear any members quality lambs on July 14 and fitting meetings will be held at the home of Lisa Kanora on July 8 and 15.

The next meeting of the Club will be on July 7 at the home of Jessica Rieveschl.

The Hunterdon County 4-H Horse Council met on May 8 at the Extension Center.

A tentative date for painting the rings for the Achievement Fair is July 13rd. Four members from each club will be needed. The fair committee will supply paint and brushes.

Horse Council will sponsor a trophy and ribbons at the State Horse Judging Contest.

Horse Council Secretary, Julie Lewis, resigned. Lori Shelly was elected to take her place. Lori will take over in July.

The official placings were announced for the Pictorial Judging Contest. New Record Books will be ready in October of 1979. Mrs. Stoner and Heather Wayne are in charge of the End of Year Awards for the Round Valley 4-H Shows.

The next meeting of the Council will be on July 10, 7:30 p.m. at the Extension Center. Topics to be discussed are: secretary stand, senior groom and clean, and the achievement dinner.

The June meeting of the Milford Dairy Club was held at the home of Jeff Grete, Pittstown. In attendance were seven members, four visitors, and two leaders.

Two filmstrips were shown: "Fitting and Showing" and "Clipping". Both filmstrips were in preparation of a workshop held on June 3rd at the Linden Farms in Pittstown. Mr. William Teats demonstrated clipping and hoof trimming techniques and Debi Coleman, president of Mt. Airy Dairy Club, gave pointers on award-winning showmanship techniques.

The next meeting of the Club will be on July 6th, 8 p.m. at the home of Becky Alpaugh, Bloomsbury. The topic of the meeting will be "Getting Ready for Achievement Day."

The June meeting of the Croton Creators 4-H Club was held on June 2nd at the home of Mrs. Beth Olson, club leader. In attendance were six members, six visitors, and two leaders.

At the meeting, a luncheon was held for members and their mothers. Club members prepared chefs salads and iced tea for lunch and lemon meringue pie for dessert. Following lunch, Nancy Olson played the piano while other club members sang along.

Those taking part at the luncheon were: Michelle Lipka, Noreen Donnelly, Dawn Garber, Elaine Bailey, Susan Climpaito, and Nancy Olson.

Only Banvel® herbicide offers so many ways to control weeds.

You can use Banvel herbicide at more different times in the corn production cycle than many other herbicides

Pre-emergence Tank-mixed with "Lasso," to control both grasses and broadleaf weeds

Early layby In corn up to 5 inches Banvel as an overlay at a one pint rate gets early and late weeds

Post-emergence In corn up to 36 inches, Banvel gets rid of many tough-to-kill weeds that 2 4-D misses and of course the easy weeds, too

*Fall treatment Air application knocks down hemp dogbane permitting easier harvest

Tough-to-get weeds On the Banvel label note the stubborn species that Banvel controls

Rescue When weeds threaten a takeover (you couldn't get into the field earlier) Banvel can help save your crop

Higher priority sought for farming

By DIETER KRIEG

LANCASTER — Money is the driving force behind most of the land-use plans that are being considered. Leon Good, a young Lancaster County farmer doesn't think it should be just that way. Rather, he would like to see the issue approached from the standpoint of what's right and wrong for ourselves and generations to come. And erosion, among other factors, should be a part of that concern. In short, he wants a higher priority for agriculture.

Speaking here briefly earlier this year at a meeting on land-use that was sponsored by the Lancaster County League of Women Voters, Good remarked that he and many others on the farm have the soil in not just their hands, but also in their hearts. The emphasis for him isn't on profit, but on living. He'd like to see land values based on what it is, and not on what industry or housing developments might make it.

Present land prices make it hard for the younger generation to get started, he observed.

"Farmers aren't just in business. It's a way of life, not just profits," the young man insisted.

Critical of the way land is being traded and used, Good questioned how a so-called civilized people could place so little emphasis on soil stewardship. He does not believe that the idea of using land in whatever way comes to mind should be allowed. There's too much allowance for selfish motives, rather than future planning, the Lititz area farmer remarked. On the other hand, he admitted that farmers are by nature suspicious of regulations.

Leon Good, Lititz area farmer, wants the country to adopt principles for land-use planning that are based on what's right and wrong. He spoke at a land-use meeting last Spring that was chaired by Phyllis Whitesell, left, land-use director for the Lancaster League of Women Voters.

"Young people have it tough because of the tremendous pressures from business and housing," Good continued. "I wish something could be done. It becomes a difficult kind of thing. I have this feeling that until we see land as not just our own, but something that belongs to humanity, we won't solve our problems. The Indians, their land-use spirit was admirable," Good continued.

Good has spent some time in Africa where he became more conscious of land values, farming, and the importance of food. He saw starving people in villages and left no doubt for his audience that the experience had a profound effect on him.

In conclusion, Good emphasized that a higher priority should be given to agriculture. "A low priority has been given to agriculture - what's happening illustrates that. It's been more important to have industry and houses."

Good is among those who would like to see that changed.

Up to 250' depending on the type of manure

Reliable Power Pack with high quality components. Compactness allows unit to be installed away from the manure pump pit.

HOPPER is 8 gauge steel and 42" square. Optional longer hopper is available. The base of the hopper assures proper plunger alignment as it enters the chamber.

The large 12" x 12" plunger is designed to move large amounts of manure at six (6) strokes per minute. Angle iron guide assures perfect head alignment.

12" SQUARE CHAMBER

- A square chamber allows for best gate design. To open completely with minimum resistance a round chamber doesn't allow the gate to open completely.

HEAD SHAPE

- The head shears long straw or hay filled manure with no need to chop or eliminate bedding.
- Slope back head creates agitation with each stroke preventing bridging.
- Works without needing to add water to manure.

PVC PIPE

- 10" PVC Pipe not 12" by going from a 12" square chamber to a 10" round assures even pressure on manure to eliminate the chances for sediment to accumulate.

SERVICE

- By installing the pump in an accessible pit all parts are easily inspected.

NOTE

- Design requires no Teflon seals which wear and allow back flow.
- Design has no brass bushing to manually rotate or replace.

Lamb cuts can be convenient rather than conventional

By JOAN LIESAU

WASHINGTON — New ways for the consumer to conveniently prepare lamb was the topic of Professor Glenn R. Kean at the Pennsylvania Sheep Field Day held recently at the Washington County Fairgrounds, here.

Kean stated that "in the retail store, they have been cutting lamb the same way for the last 35 years. Most of us anymore do not want to take the time for a three to four hour roast. If consumers can buy chops, they will for convenience," said the Pennsylvania State University professor.

Starting out with a whole lamb carcass, Kean explained that one-third of the weight should be in each three sections, the leg, mid portion and forequarter. On a 60 pound dressed lamb, each section should weigh 20 pounds. "Too often the forequarter weighs 25 to 30 pounds and this is not the most desirable part of the lamb."

Kean said to remove the shoulders of the carcass between the fifth and sixth rib. "There is no hard fast rule," on where to cut. If you cut between the fourth and fifth rib you get one more rib chop or, vice-versa.

"Always cut the meat a a right angle to the bone," he added. The muscle lays parallel to the bone and thus makes for tender cuts.

The shoulder has a big flat bone and "unless you cut it out, you can't make a good roast." To bone and roll the shoulder, Kean said to put a sharp knife under the bone and lift the bone off.

Kean also suggested making two or three arm steaks out of a portion of the shoulder. Broil them the same as you would a lamb chop, he explained. Saratoga chops can be made by removing the bone from a round bone chop. The chop is then rolled and skewered to keep it in place. This chop can be pan fried.

The shank can be Swissed or, braised. Kean suggested cutting off the tail end of the shank for riblets or stew.

GET RID OF MILDEW— FAST!

Mildew can be troublesome, especially after the unusually wet weather of the past few weeks. If you are having problems with mildew, here are some tips to help you remove this thin, whitish growth and the molds which cause it.

Molds thrive in hot, humid conditions, especially when there is poor air circulation. To prevent molds, air the house on warm, dry days when humidity is low. Air conditioners and dehumidifiers also remove moisture from the air. These preventive measures are especially important in areas where mildew has occurred in the past.

Once you discover mildew spots, remove them as soon as possible before they weaken or rot the material. Brush off the surface growth outdoors so you do not scatter the mildew spores inside. Dry clean non-washable articles.

Laundry washable clothes at once with soap or detergent and water. Rinse well and let dry in the sun.

The heat from an automatic dryer might set any remaining spots, so dry mildew-stained clothes out-of-doors.

If stains remain, bleach the clothes with a solution of lemon juice and salt or household bleach, but never use a chlorine bleach on silk or wool. Test the fabric before bleaching to see if the color or the fabric itself will be affected by the bleach. You can do this on one of the seam allowances.

On fabrics that are not color safe, try using lemon juice and salt. Moisten the stain with the mixture and spread in the sun to dry. When the stain is gone, rinse thoroughly and dry again.

Mildew can also appear on upholstered furniture, mattresses and rugs. When possible, take these outside and remove loose mold with a clean broom. Then use a vacuum cleaner to draw out the mold. After vacuuming, immediately throw out the cleaner bag to avoid spreading the spores throughout the house as you vacuum.

Remove any remaining mildew by sponging lightly with thick soap or detergent suds or rug shampoo. Wipe with a clean, damp cloth

If the mold has spread into the padding of upholstered furniture, send it to a reliable dry cleaning or storage company for drying and fumigation. It will cost money, but it will be worth it to have the furniture clean and mildew-free.

Once you have removed mildew in your home, use a low-pressure spray containing a fungicide to get ride of musty odors and to retard future growth.

ARE THE NEW ENERGY EFFICIENT APPLIANCES WORTH THE MONEY?

Major appliance manufacturers have been incorporating new features and design changes into their products. Their goal is greater energy efficiency.

For the consumer, the new energy efficient home appliances may mean a somewhat higher purchase price. On the other hand, and more important, the operating costs of these new models are lower. Payback

The number of goats on farms and in rural areas are increasing daily. This is especially true when land owners can not afford the cost, or can not consume the quantities of milk from a dairy cow. There are many situations when only a goat is practical, fun and can time — the time it takes for the consumer to recoup the extra cost of an appliance via lowered utility bills — is expected to be three years or less at current electric rates.

If rates increase, as many energy experts predict, the payback time may be as soon as one or two years

What all this means is that consumers need to adapt new strategies when shopping for refrigerators, ranges, dishwashers, and other home appliances. The cost of operation is now as important a feature as the initial cost of the appliance itself.

Goat club forming, June 20

provide nutritious wholesome milk

Even though the circumstance might lend itself to goat raising, much needs to be known before selecting your first animals. In this area, because goats are a relative new idea, experts in goat husbandry are in a minority. Management and methods are learned by trial and error, according to Clyde Myers, Berks County Extension agent.

Goat raisers need to get together to discuss mutual problems and successes. For this reason the Berks County Cooperative Extension Service and some Berks County goat owners have decided to form a combined adult and 4-H Goat Club. On June 20, 7:30 p.m., there will be an organizational meeting held at the Berks County Agricultural Center, Bern Township.

Any Berks County area goat owners or enthusiasts are encouraged to join in the discussion on June 20. Meetings, topics, activities and speakers for the future will be decided.

For more information contact Clyde Myers, Berks County Extension agent, Berks Co. Cooperative Extension Service, Leesport, Pa., or Steve and Claire Day, Triple Creek Farm, R.D. #1306, Wolmelsdorf, Pa.

Everything the 4030 had—and more

Ten more horses — that's the first thing to grab your attention on the 4040. But it also packs more built-in working weight on a longer wheelbase. It's a really solid performer in the field.

And the 90-hp 4040 is just as maneuverable as its smaller predecessor. Stop in for full information on the 4040 — a quick-handling, peppy performer. It's one of the NEW IRON HORSES® with more horses and more iron.

The new 3940 Powr-Mizer™ Forage Harvester... new cutterhead, new controls, more capacity

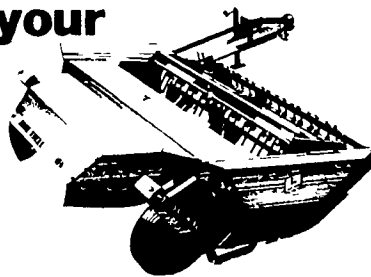

Now there's a forage harvester that squeezes extra work out of your tractor's horsepower. The new 3940 from John Deere. The 3940's power-efficient design begins with our new Dura-Drum™ cutterhead. Uneven forage doesn't stand a chance against its 36 segmented cutter knives. And if a knife gets damaged, you'll find it's easy and inexpensive to replace one of the short, segmented blades.

New easy-adjust controls help you keep running at peak performance. It only takes one wrench and less than two minutes to set the shear bar at the proper clearance. No bending. No mess. No shields to remove. It's so easy, you'll adjust it every time you sharpen the knives.

All these power-efficient features of the 3940 add up to let you harvest more forage with your present tractor. Come on in and let us show you how the 3940 can squeeze more capacity out of your 80- to 130-hp tractor.

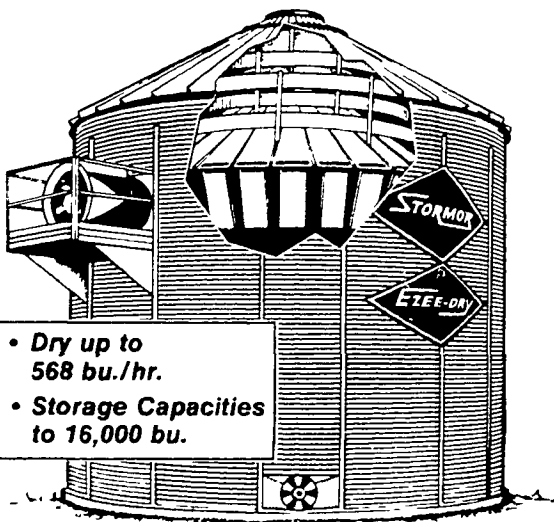

The 7¼-foot cut 1207... maneuverable enough to conquer your irregular hay fields

Crooked fence lines, uneven terrain, steep hillsides — they can steal your haying efficiency. Tackle them with our 1207 Mower/Conditioner—the compact machine with big-capacity features. Adjustable roll pressure, platform float, platform stabilizer, flotation tires tucked close to cutterbar, side-to-side and front-to-back balance. All combine to conquer small, irregular fields.

Lamb cuts

With a power saw, the neck can be cut in four slices for braising. Kean said to cook them the same as you would Swiss and beef steaks.

"I can assure you, if you like broiled lamb chops, you'll enjoy leg of lamb steaks" Kean stated. If you are use to boning and rolling a leg of lamb, "within minutes you can have steaks, where it would take five to 10 minutes to bone and roll the leg. The store keeper has to add extra cost to the leg when he bones and rolls it," Kean added. "Everything a store keeper does to lamb, you have to pay for it."

Too many times consumers buy steaks only one-half inch thick he stated. Kean suggested the steaks and chops be cut one to one and a quarter inch thick.

Don't waste that bottom portion of the leg Kean said. It can be made into Swiss leg of lamb.

Sirloin steaks, round leg steaks, sirloin roast, leg roast, cubes for shish kebab and boned and rolled leg are some of the many ways you can prepare a leg of lamb.

The mid portion of the carcass should be split down the middle of the back bone. Kean said to leave a tail of three to four inches on the chops. If this portion is left together, Kean said you can bone and roll the loin.

The breast can be left as is or, put a pocket in it. Then, stuff it with pork sausage Kean suggested. Fold the breast over and you have a stuffed lamb breast.

Kean also suggested taking the breast and cutting it between the ribs. "Just go between the ribs, doing the same thing as if you were making spare ribs." Kean said the riblets were exactly the same thing as spare ribs. "you cook them the same way and you have just as good eating."

"We need a change in the way we retail lamb. There is no reason why we have to stick to conventional ways of preparing lamb," Kean emphasized.

Professor Glenn R. Kean shows a sirloin leg steak (left) which can be prepared easily by broiling. Kean stressed we need a change in the way we retail lamb. He said there is no reason why we have to stick with conventional ways of cooking lamb.

NEW YORK - Z.F.C. Sales Corp., Long Island City, N.Y., has been ordered to pay $5,000 by a federal court and enjoined from operating without a valid license under the Perishable Agricultural Commodities Act (PACA). PACA, administered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), establishes a code of good business conduct for the produce industry.

The order was issued by the U.S. District Court at Brooklyn, N.Y. It prohibits the firm, its associates, agents and employees from operating under PACA without a valid license.

Officials with USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service said an investigation of the firm's activities showed that the firm traded produce interstate from July 1977 through July 1978 without a valid PACA license.

Under PACA, all interstate traders in fresh and frozen fruits and vegetables must be licensed by USDA. USDA is authorized to suspend or revoke a trader's license for violating the act.

And pair class winners were Lori and Pam Sam-mons, with Jodi Henkel and Vanessa Bledsoe placing second.

The show was open to any 4-H'er currently enrolled in a horse 4-H project.

Outdoor programs planned

HOLTWOOD - Land and water conservation, rhododendron and waterfowl management are topics of June programs at Pennsylvania Power & Light Co.'s Lake Aldred area recreation facilities.

Saturday, June 16, Thomas Johnson of the Lancaster County Conservation District will speak about land and water conservation during an 8 p.m. program at the pavilion at Pequea Creek Recreation Area off Route 324 in Lancaster County.

Saturday, June 23, there will be a rhododendron walk on the lower part of Kelly's Run Trail at Lake Aldred beginning at 2 p.m. Summer Naturalist Lorraine Weidner said participants should meet at the Holtwood Recreation Area off Route 372 in Lancaster County, and should dress for the outdoors and wear sturdy shoes. Noting that the program is dependent on whether the rhododendron are blooming, she said those wishing to participate should call the lake superintendent's office at (717) 284-2278 to confirm the date.

Saturday, June 30, Charles Strouphar, assistant waterfowl manager at Middle Creek Wildlife Area, will give a slide talk on waterfowl management at 8 p.m. in the pavilion at Pequea Creek Recreation Area.

Other programs coming up this Summer include a rhododendron walk July 4 at the Lock 12 Historic Site off Route 372 in York County, an outdoor awareness slide presentation July 14 at the Otter Creek Recreation Area off Route 425 in York County and a program about arboretum purpose and history at Holtwood Arboretum Aug. 11.

Anyone needing further information about Summer recreation programs at Lake Aldred is asked to call the lake superintendent's office.

Life on the Farm

by Dieter Krieg, Editor

Thank heaven for neighbors, plumbers, county agents, electricians, milk truck drivers, inseminators, veterinarians, milk inspectors, nutrition consultants, and even salesmen. Thank heaven not just for what they do, but for coming around as friends to talk to.

Every farmer is busy, especially during this time of the year, and he may not have time to talk. But these are also times when visitors may be a farmer's only contact with the world around him. There's little, if any time now for television and newspapers. The radio may play in the barn, but less than half of what's broadcast is actually heard over the whirring of motors.

There's usually time to chat with the milk truck driver for a minute, however, while the calf buckets are being washed.

The conversation with the veterinarian during pregnancy examinations also helps a person keep his sanity after he's been cooped up on his farm for days on end. The list could go on and on. Farmers need people as much as anyone. We need friends and conversation. That surely is one reason why so many farmers enjoy going to public sales and auction barns.

They're not necessarily going to buy. They're going for entertainment and a change of pace. And if there's no time to do that, then the visitors who come to the farm are more welcome than ever before.

Obviously, the timing of the visit is critically important. I can remember being interrupted once while trying to get the last rows of corn planted before milking time. There's no time for jokes and small talk then. Any farm visitor with a little thoughtfulness realizes that.

Nobody appreciates being interrupted. But even the busiest farmer likes having his contacts with the neighborhood.

Life on the farm just wouldn't be the same without them.

All controls and refrigerant lines are hidden by this easy to remove bell housing

Large 2 inch drain valve minimizes agitation reduces foam

Fully enclosed 2 speed motor varies speed for agitation, washing and butterfat testing

Round design rigidity for accurate calibration

Full urethane plastic foam insulation is 3 times more efficient than common insulations forms rigid core between liner and jacket

Twin direct expansion evaporators cool milk fast keep bacteria count low

Every inside surface, even behind the agitator shaft is covered by the washing action actuated by a specially designed blade attached to the top of the agitator shaft

Impellor blades move milk in vertical column to bottom then toward ends for fastest cooling

J I Case Needs a Few New Dealers

We are looking for enterprising business men who understand agricultural equipment retailing. "We" being the J I Case Company. Founded in 1842, Case now has over 3,000 dealers world-wide and an unsurpassed reputation for product quality, reliability and current growth.

If you think that the farm equipment business requires involvement with many different product lines, you'll find Case an interesting exception. As a Case Tractor Specialist, you concentrate on one major product line, agricultural tractors and related tillage tools, because Case builds nothing but tractors for the farm market.

Case Dealers sell twelve basic tractors, 43 to 300 horsepower. Five models are under 90 horsepower, four are the exciting new 90 series - 108 to 180 horsepower and our three big four-wheel drive tractors lead the booming 4WD market.

High potential marketing areas are available now. Profitable Case light construction and outdoor power equipment contracts may also be available. As a Case Tractor Specialist, you would benefit from liberal financing policies, attractive consumer terms and time-proven Case Rental Systems.

Case product and policy advantages, when combined with your own aggressive sales and management abilities, will afford you the opportunity to realize an excellent return on your investment.

Are you interested? Please contact W.M. KIMBROUGH, Dealer Development Manager, J I Case Company, P.O. Box 50128, Indianapolis, Indiana 46256, or call collect, (317) 849-4770.

GOT TORQUE AMPLIFIER, CLUTCH AND PRESSURE PLATE PROBLEMS WITH YOUR IH TRACTORS?

There is a company in the West that has been rebuilding T.A. units for several years now and having excellent results. The basic reason for their success is the sprag clutch they use. In the areas where they have been selling, they even have IH dealers that use this unit almost entirely.

- (1) They feel this sprag clutch is giving less problems than even IH's new beefed up unit because of the design of the sprags.
- (2) This unit can be bought as individual parts which is many times all you need or as a complete renewed unit ready to set in your tractor.
- (3) They have a warranty up to 2000 hrs., or 3 years... and...
- (4) They don't cost any more and to most buyers they are costing less than from the big company. They offer same day shipment by UPS or Greyhound bus. They also have a program on rebuilt Dynalife clutches and pressure plates.

If you want more information write me and I will get the literature to you. Raymond B. Leaman, RD #1, Willow Street, Penna. 17584.

Lebanon County Dairy Princess

Connie McFeaters uses unique approach to promote milk

By SALLY BAIR
Staff Writer

In Lebanon County there is an oversized, precocious five-year-old promoting milk - and doing a terrific job of it. Edith Anne, the five-year-old, is brought to life by 17-year-old Connie McFeaters who is completing her reign as Lebanon County Dairy Princess.

Connie, who will give up her crown on June 30, conceived the idea of promoting milk through Edith Anne when she learned she had to prepare a skit for presentation at the Dairy Princess seminar last July. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Leonard McFeaters, Annville R3, Connie was attending a session at Lebanon Valley College through scholarship for English and could not be contacted. Therefore, she worked late into the night on Saturday when she returned to get the presentation ready.

Connie had been doing an imitation of the famous Edith Anne, of television's Laugh-In fame, since she was in the sixth grade, and she felt this would be an ideal promotion tool. "I geared my presentation to all ages, but more or less for teenagers. Edith Anne talks about why they should drink milk, but through the eyes of a five-year-old. I always like to watch her on TV, and I won a prize at the 4-H fair with her."

Using dialogue for Edith Anne, the result is an innovative approach to milk promotion. Connie's Edith Anne impressed officials at the state contest so much that she was one of four girls selected to give their presentation to the audience during the actual contest. "I was very honored to be chosen, but I was so nervous I couldn't eat my dinner. After I was finished with her I enjoyed the rest of the contest."

Connie said she and her mother looked a long time to find an appropriate dress for her Edith Anne character, and finally used an adaptation of a pattern from the Broadway show Little Orphan Annie. "The lady who made it for me made the pattern bigger," she explained. A large Raggedy Anne doll which she clutches as talks completes the outfit.

"Everybody loves Edith Anne," Connie states, "In her own unique way, Edith Anne explains why milk is important and tells about its nutrients. There's humor along the way, of course, as when she talks about feeding her dog Buster, and when she says she wishes her sister would drink milk instead of wearing it on her face."

Edith Anne goes with Connie almost everywhere. Connie has had a busy year, speaking at farm meetings, civic clubs, schools and doing radio spots.

Connie McFeaters enjoys doing "anything outdoors", and bicycling is one of her favorite sports

Five-year-old Edith Anne, of television fame, was Connie's alter ego during her reign as dairy princess. Here Connie shows the little girl dress and her Raggedy Ann doll which went with her to most appearances.

Connie is enthusiastic about her year as a dairy princess and recalls, "I wasn't going to enter the contest last year. A lot of friends and my family wanted me to go out for it, so I did." Now she says, "It is a big honor and a big responsibility. You get to meet a lot of new people, and it helps you to mature and to learn to accept responsibility."

While Connie's family no longer milks cows, they once had about 60. Now they have just calves and heifers in addition to farming the land. Nevertheless, being on the farm means a lot to Connie. "I would never go anywhere else. There is a lot of family togetherness, and I would never want to change the way I grew up."

Connie credits the Dairy Princess Seminar at Elizabethtown last July with teaching her a lot of facts about the dairy industry and about cows. But she admits that meeting people has never been difficult for her. "I've always been able to talk with people. It's easy for me to meet people. I have made a lot of new friends and people have been so nice to me."

Connie said she feels the concept of a "dairy princess" promoting milk is definitely helpful to the industry. "Kids are really interested in what I say. Kids in school and adults I know tell me they hear me on the radio. I think it is definitely beneficial to have a dairy princess." She visited several Lebanon County and City schools and finds that most of the children have been to farms, and "only two or three of those I spoke to had never seen a cow."

While predicting a good outlook for the dairy industry, Connie expressed her concern for the farmland that is so rapidly going into homes. "It is upsetting." She feels the trend in the future of the industry is "toward bigger farms, employing more men with bigger herds."

A highlight for Connie was participating in the state contest last September. "The girls were all nice, and they all came from close-knit farm families. We had something in common and everybody mingled easily." She feels the seminar helped to make the girls feel comfortable together.

Connie expressed appreciation to Brenda Maulfair, a former Lebanon County Dairy Princess, "for getting a lot of things going. Then my mother took over and tended to the details." Connie's parents and family have been very supportive of her work. "My parents are the main ones who got me to enter." Connie has a brother, Chris, 20, and two younger sisters - potential dairy princess contestants - Cathy, 15, and Nancy, 13.

Having graduated just this month from Annville-Cleona High school, Connie plans to attend Bloomsburg State College to major in psychology and minor in Christian education. Her goal is to become a developmental psychologist and eventually work with animals "to try and learn their habits. I would like to work with primates at a big university or at a zoo."

On graduation night, Connie won four honors, including the Lebanon County Republican Committee Award, the Howard G. Moyer Service Award, the Harry Zeiders Memorial Scholarship and the Liz Eisenhower, Gail Buckmoyer, Andy Longenecker, and Harry Schools Memorial Scholarship. While in school she was very active in sports, assisting in the Leader Corps with the physical education teachers and participating in the girls track team. She ran hurdles, which she enjoyed the most in track, and was good enough to participate in the state playoffs.

Homestead Notes

She was a member of the Varsity Club, the National Honor Society, Model United Nations and the Homecoming Court.

She was formerly a member of the Belle Grove Clovers 4-H Club and took animal science and gardening projects.

Her track activities speak for her interest in sports, and she says, "In my spare time I like to do anything outdoors. I like to jog, and like swimming, bicycling and tennis." Her Summer will be busy working at the Craft barn at Hersheypark.

With all her promotion activities, perhaps the elementary school work was her favorite. "They were really cute. The first graders wanted to try on my crown, and I heard children say, 'There goes Miss America.'"

Whether it was "Miss America" or Edith Anne, Connie McFeaters added a new dimension to milk promotion in Lebanon County.

On being a farm wife

—And other hazards

By JOYCE BUPP

There are smells to the farm and countryside that are sweeter and more satisfying than a dram of the world's finest, most expensive perfume.

Few fragrances can match that of new-mown hay, lying in thick fullness under a warm sun, its aroma stirred by a light breeze dancing across the windrows.

Honeysuckles, pale golden and white, tumble over the roadside banks with overpowering sweetness. Our youngsters like to pick them and suck the "honey" from the base of the flower. A bouquet brought into the house will scent an entire room in minutes, a pretty good performance for a plant normally labeled a "weed."

Freshly turned ground, dark brown and moist, releases an odor that almost intoxicates farmers and gardeners alike, eager to bury their seeds to swell and burst up into the sunshine.

xxx

Statisticians, by throwing all of today's farm prices into a pot, as well as the prices farmers pay, come up with a common over-all farm parity figure to measure the purchasing power of farm products. Still, economists say parity is outmoded as a measure of purchasing power.

Another favorite of ours is the spicy fragrance of meadow tea, stirred by the heifers who come to the plants' bed along the creek to drink of the cold, clear water flowing there.

And then, of course, there are some other typical farm smells, too.

Who but a true farmer can understand and appreciate that mixed blend of scents, a touch of straw, silage, ground feed and manure, that vividly says "cows."

Abundant this time of year is the pungent odor of diesel fumes, a remembrance that drifts to the house as the tractors roar past on their way to disgorge wagons filled with haylage into the silo blower.

Even the dogs manage to contribute a distinctive odor to the atmosphere. It comes from the dead groundhog they caught a week ago, left to ripen well in the sunshine, and then dragged into the yard to enjoy at their leisure. Why do they always deposit them upwind of where I'm hanging out wash?

But the farmer says I missed listing the most depressing farm odor: that sickening scent of wet, slimy, molding hay that's been rained on every day for a solid week and is rotting in the field.

Actually, I was trying to forget about that one.

but as it cooks she will be out with the family and fun.

There's really no better way to honor Dad on his special day than to feature some of his favorite foods — steak, potatoes and vegetables. Barbecued

London Broil is prepared with a fairly economical cut of meat, flank steak. The steak is marinated overnight in a blend of Italian-style dressing, Worcestershire sauce, dry mustard, thyme and sliced onion with the result being thin, tender, juicy slices of beef that fill your mouth with flavor. Potatoes are another of Dad's favorites so spruce them up for the occasion with the sharp flavor of Cheddar cheese and a blend of mushroom soup, milk, barbecue sauce and seasonings. A creamy potato dish is the perfect mate for steak. Complete the dinner with a kabob combo of sliced zucchini, whole cherry tomatoes and fresh mushrooms, covered with grated Parmesan cheese when served.

BARBECUED LONDON BROIL

$\frac{3}{4}$ cup Italian-style dressing
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon dry mustard
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon thyme, crushed

Lancaster Farming, Saturday, June 16, 1979—101

1 medium onion, sliced
 $1\frac{1}{2}$ pound flank steak, scored
2 tablespoons butter, melted
Combine dressing, Worcestershire sauce, mustard and thyme; add onion. Place the steak in a shallow dish and pour over marinade; cover and refrigerate at least four hours or overnight. Remove steak from marinade to broiler pan. Melt butter in shallow pie pan. Lift onions out of marinade (reserve marinade) into pie pan; cover with foil and steam as steak broils. Broil meat (three to four inches from heat) for five to seven minutes, occasionally spoon marinade over top; turn and broil an additional five to seven minutes or until desired degree of doneness. To serve: Slice steak in thin diagonal slices across the grain. Garnish platter with vegetable kabobs. Makes four to six servings.

Note: Cook steak on grill over hot coals five minutes on each side for medium rare; occasionally spoon marinade over top.

CHEESY BARBECUED POTATOES

2 cups (8 ounces) shredded Cheddar cheese
1 can (10½ ounces) cream of mushroom soup
 $\frac{1}{3}$ cup milk
2 tablespoons barbecue sauce
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon oregano
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
 $1\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon pepper
4 cups thinly sliced potatoes (about four medium potatoes)

$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon paprika
In a large bowl mix together $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups cheese, soup, milk, barbecue sauce, oregano, salt and pepper. Stir in potatoes until well coated. Turn into shallow buttered $1\frac{1}{2}$ -quart baking dish. Bake in preheated 350 degree F. oven 1 hour or until potatoes are tender. Cover with foil first 45 minutes of baking. Sprinkle with remaining $\frac{1}{2}$ cup cheese and paprika; let stand five minutes before serving. Makes four to six servings.

VEGETABLE KABOBS

3 medium zucchini
12 cherry tomatoes
Grated Parmesan cheese

Parboil zucchini five minutes or until just tender; drain and cut into twenty-four $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch pieces. Thread zucchini, tomatoes, and mushrooms alternately on each of six skewers. Brush with marinade from Barbecued London Broil. Broil five to seven minutes turning and basting with marinade occasionally. Sprinkle liberally with Parmesan cheese. Makes six kabobs.

Note: Cook kabobs on grill over hot coals for about 10 minutes or until done, turning and brushing with marinade occasionally. Kabobs may be prepared in advance and refrigerated. Return to room temperature and broil.

Rice--a grain that goes with any meal

NEWARK, Del. - Occasionally one finds a food item that is versatile enough to belong in any meal. One such item is the grain called rice.

Around the world, many people depend upon rice as a basic part of their diet. We in the United States don't depend on it so heavily, points out Delaware Extension home economist Sue Schaefer, but we do find it an adequate grain that can be used in many ways.

For breakfast one can choose ready-to-eat rice cereal, or serve rice hot with sugar, milk, raisins and a sprinkling of cinnamon. The hot cereal can be prepared with rice leftovers from another meal.

Covered and refrigerated, cooked rice keeps its quality and flavor for six to seven days. Cooked rice can be used in salads, especially during the long hot days of Summer. Rice's delicate flavor blends well with meat, poultry or seafood to make a hearty and satisfying salad. If the occasion is especially festive, rice salads can easily be molded for a more elegant look. Try a combination of rice and mayonnaise, adding sweet pepper, celery, chives, parsley or other herbs to taste. This can be served on a bed of lettuce with tomato wedges and cucumber slices.

In many homes, rice is served as the grain accompaniment to the main course. Since rice blends well with many flavors, be sure to try some recipe variations when you serve it this way, suggest Schaefer. For a change, cook rice in a flavorful liquid instead of water. Chicken broth, beef broth, fruit juice or equal parts of tomato juice and water give the rice a tasty flavor. Also, herbs and spices such as thyme, curry powder or parsley add flavor to your meal.

To make the home version of a frozen, commercially prepared rice dish, saute chopped mushrooms, onions and celery until tender and add your rice at the start of cooking.

As the price of meat continues to climb, rice can be used as an extender in many economical, good-tasting casseroles. It can also serve as the bed or rice ring for stir-fried or creamed meat, poultry or fish dishes.

Rice pudding is probably the most famous dessert use for this versatile grain. However, toasted or puffed rice cereal can also be the basis for a variety of cookies.

The nutritional benefits of rice are several. It is a source of B-vitamins and protein, and it is low in cholesterol. Rice is also easily digested and is non-allergenic, so it's important to people allergic to wheat.

Rice is available in a number of forms:

Regular white rice has been milled to remove the hull, germ, and practically all of the bran. Milling removes some of the vitamins and minerals.

Enriched rice is white rice plus added vitamins and iron.

Parboiled rice is treated by a special steam-pressure process before milling. This forces the vitamins and minerals from the hull, bran and germ into the starchy part of the grain.

Packaged precooked rice is long-grain white rice that has been cooked and dried.

Brown rice is whole-grain rice from which only the hull and a small amount of the bran has been removed. Therefore, it is nutritionally more valuable than regular white rice. Since it retains its bran coat and germ, brown rice is slower to tenderize and therefore requires a longer cooking time.

Wild rice is not a true rice, but the seed of a grass that grows in the shallow lakes and marshes in northern U.S.

Follow reliable cooking directions from the package or a cook book to be sure you get a product which is the proper texture and not sticky. Rice expands in cooking, with 1 cup of precooked rice yielding 1-2 cups of cooked rice and 1 cup of white or brown rice yielding 3-4 cups of cooked rice.

Old-Fashioned Rice Pudding

½ cup Rice, white, uncooked
1½ cups Water
½ or ½ cup Sugar, as desired
½ teaspoon Salt
½ cup Seedless Raisins
2 cups Half-And-Half (Milk and Cream)

or 14½-ounce can Evaporated Milk, undiluted
1 teaspoon Vanilla
Nutmeg, as desired

Place rice and water in heavy 2-quart saucepan; cover tightly.

Boil gently, stirring occasionally, until rice is tender and most of water is absorbed, about 15 minutes.

Stir in sugar, salt, raisins, and half-and-half or evaporated milk.

Cook over very low heat, stirring occasionally, until pudding has a creamy consistency. (Pudding thickens some on cooling.) Do not allow pudding to boil.

Stir in vanilla.

Serve warm or cold. If desired, sprinkle pudding with nutmeg before serving.

6 Servings—½ cup each.
Calories per serving.

About 270 if made with ½ cup sugar and half-and-half; about 235 if made with ½ cup sugar and evaporated milk.

Colorado potato beetles

Resistant or not Ambush® gets 'em!

Everything you've wanted to know about Colorado potato beetle control can be summed up in two words—AMBUSH insecticide! It works even where conventional insecticides fail! Add to that the backing of ICI Americas research and technical know-how and you've got control you can depend on.

AMBUSH applied according to label directions attacks the beetle and larvae at the two important times when damage occurs. 1 It knocks out the over-wintering population in the spring. 2 It controls the adults and larvae that strip the plants later in the season. Either way it gets these destructive pests as they feed on the treated plant or when they contact it.

When Colorado potato beetles attack there's no time for half-way controls. Go with the insecticide that is proven effective on resistant or non-resistant Colorado potato beetles—go with AMBUSH insecticide.

Ambush is a product of ICI Americas Inc. Agricultural Chemicals Division, Wilmington, DE 19897.

We recommend AMBUSH insecticide and can give you complete details for its use. Don't delay. Order your supply of AMBUSH today while we have it.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

Have you ever done something on the spur of the moment and afterward wondered if it was the wise thing to do?

Sometimes I think back on the wild chase that I went on several months ago. You see our sons were home from

Penn State for the weekend and just five or ten minutes after they left, I had a thought! Did they take the suit of clothes out of the hall closet? A dash to the closet showed the suit was still hanging there. At that instant, in my mind's eye, I could see their truck sitting along the road (A man, who bought an old disc of ours, had loaned them his truck so that they could deliver it to him).

Now my husband told me that in ten minutes time, they would be miles away. But I wasn't about to be deterred, as I felt the suit was really needed to attend an award banquet and in addition I don't like mailing bulky packages.

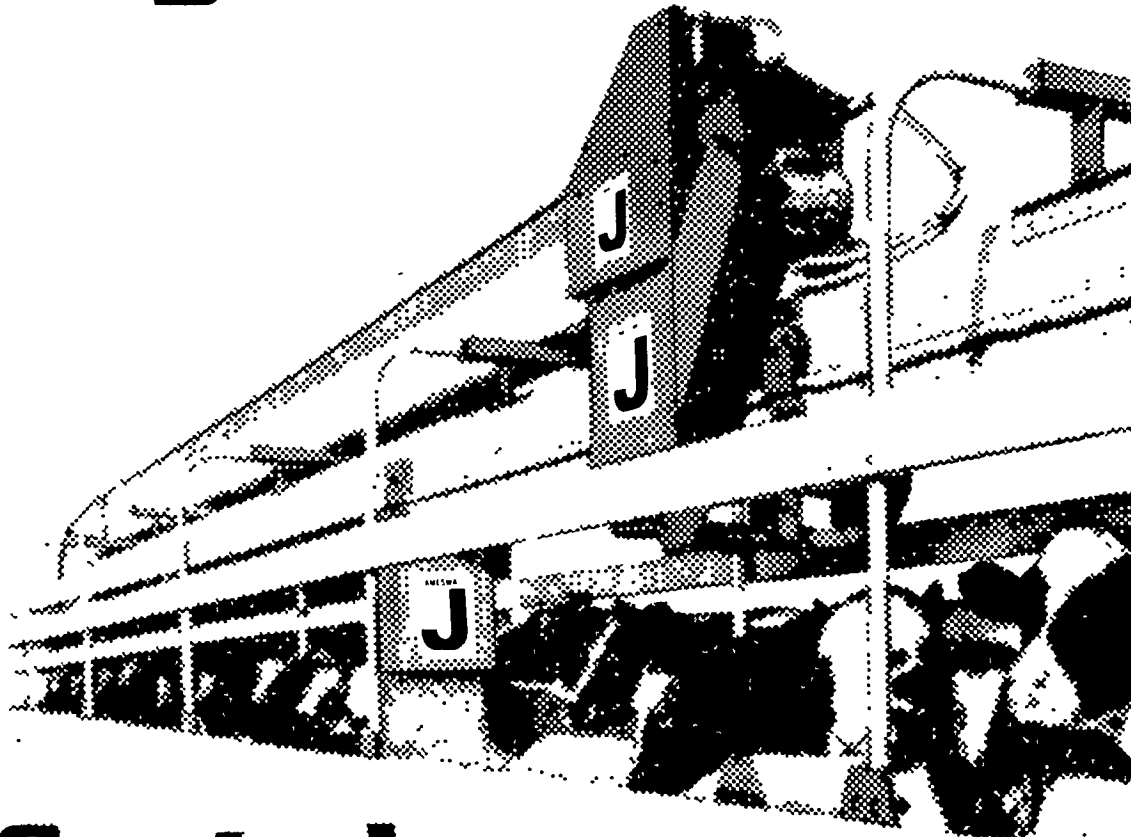

So, I sped in to the by-pass looking for a parked truck. Finally after driving miles and miles I had to admit defeat. So I got off and headed back home only to see their white truck parked along the road on the opposite side. They had stopped in Lancaster and I had gotten ahead of them. So again, I got off and headed toward Harrisburg.

All of this time it was pouring rain so heavily that I could barely see the road to drive. They were no longer parked when I finally caught up with them and passed, blowing my horn, and then I discovered that I'd just passed another interchange. After handing over the clothes, I had to drive quite a distance in order to even get off the by-pass. I then proceeded to travel "slowly" on back roads toward home and be thankful that I'd made the trip safely.

Congratulations DAIRYMEN

Home On The Range

Dairy delights to make in the kitchen

Dairy month continues, and more of the dairy recipes are found in this week's Home on the Range. A wide variety of foods should fill many needs of the Lancaster Farming cooks.

CHEESE CAKE

1 cup granulated sugar
2 beaten egg yolks
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 package clear gelatin
1 pound cream cheese

Cook sugar, egg yolks, and milk for three minutes. Add lemon juice, gelatin and vanilla. Soften cream cheese—add the cooked mixture to the cream cheese. Beat egg whites until stiff. Whip one cup cream, and mix everything together. Put into a graham crust lined pan. Let cake chill and set for a few hours before serving.

Mrs. Sam B. Stoltzfus Gap, Pa.

STRAWBERRY CHEESE MOLD

1 pint fresh strawberries
¾ cup granulated sugar, divided
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
1 teaspoon lemon rind
3 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup milk
16 ounces creamed cottage cheese, softened
8 ounces cream cheese, softened
3 egg whites

Slice one pint of cleaned berries. Sweeten with ½ cup granulated sugar; let stand ½ hour, then crush or puree in electric blender. Pour into large bowl. Sprinkle gelatin over cold water; let stand five minutes to soften. Heat, stirring to dissolve gelatin. Stir in lemon rind and juice; add to strawberries. Combine milk, cottage and cream cheese. Beat or blend until smooth; add to strawberries. Chill until mixture mounds slightly. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Slowly add ¼ cup granulated sugar beating until stiff and glossy. Fold into strawberry mixture. Pour into eight cup mold. Chill until firm. Unmold onto serving plate serve with fresh strawberry sauce.

To make strawberry sauce, slightly mash one pint of fresh strawberries and add ¼ cup of sugar, and spoon over each serving.

Audrey J. Rohrer
Lancaster, Pa.

VELVETY CHEESE SOUP

¼ cup butter
¼ cup minced onion
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
4 cups milk
1 cup (¼ pound) grated cheese
¼ cup cooked green peas
¼ cup diced pimiento

Melt butter and add onions. Cook until clear. Remove from heat. Blend into flour, salt and milk. Cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add cheese stirring until melted. Add green peas and diced pimiento. The peas and pimiento will add flakes of color.

Mrs. Samuel M. Shirk
Ephrata, Pa.

COCONUT CUSTARD PIE

2 cups milk
4 eggs
½ cup flour
1 cup granulated sugar
dash of salt
1½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup coconut
½ stick butter

This pie makes its own crust. Put all the ingredients in the blender and whirl. Pour into a 10 inch greased pie pan. Bake 400 Degrees F. for 15 minutes, turn to 350 Degrees F. for 20 to 25 minutes. The pie should bake 35 to 40 minutes in all.

Mrs. Lillian Martin
York, Pa.

BANANA FREEZE

7 bananas
1 quart skim milk

Peel and slice the bananas. Put into a plastic bag and freeze. Add the frozen bananas to milk in a blender. Blend at high speed until thick. Eat right away. May add frozen strawberries to bananas and milk for variety.

Mrs. Robert Fechtenburg
Monroesville, N.J.

STRAWBERRY ICE CREAM

2 quarts crushed strawberries
3 cups granulated sugar
1 cup redisol or instant clear jell
¾ teaspoon salt
4 quarts cold milk
2 quarts cold light cream, more or less can be used, or evaporated milk can be used for the cream
3 three ounce packages of strawberry gelatin
1 cup water

Take one cup of water and bring to a boil. Add the gelatin, and cool, but do not let it get cold. Mix the sugar, redisol and salt in a mixing bowl. Start the beaters. Add the two quarts of cold milk and some cold cream until it is a thin sauce, sandy-like. Put the milk in fast, it thickens quickly. Add the vanilla, pour into freezer, add the gelatin and strawberries, then the cream. Fill to ¾ full and leave the rest of the milk for last—it might not take all the milk.

Mrs. Verna Burkholder
East Earl, Pa.

BLACK BOTTOM CUPCAKES

Batter

3 cups flour
2 cups granulated sugar
½ cup cocoa
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups water
¾ cup oil
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 teaspoons vinegar

Filling

2 eight ounce packages of cream cheese
1 egg
½ cup granulated sugar
1/8 teaspoon salt

To make the batter, mix all the ingredients in a large bowl. In a separate bowl, mix the ingredients for the filling. Fill cupcake papers half full with batter, then place one heaping teaspoonful of filling on top of the batter. Do not mix. Bake at 350 Degrees F. for 20 minutes.

Mrs. Robert Moser
Barto, Pa.

PA. CREAM CHEESE

3 gallons thick sour milk
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ cup butter
1½ cup sour cream
¼ teaspoon butter coloring
2 teaspoons salt

Heat milk to 115 Degrees F. Let stand at room temperature for 30 minutes. Drain thru a cloth; let stand overnight to drain thoroughly. When dry, crumble the curds and mix with soda and butter. Let stand for two hours. Place in a double boiler, add one cup cream and allow curds to melt. When smooth, stir in the remaining ½ cup cream to which butter coloring was added. Add salt and pour into a buttered dish to mold.

Mrs. Sam Z. Horning
Mifflinburg, Pa.

FRUIT HELPER

1 can fruit cocktail or other fruit
1 small package instant lemon or vanilla pudding
1 cup milk
chopped nuts

Drain fruit, reserving ½ cup juice. Add to milk and stir in package of instant pudding, beat for two minutes. Refrigerate until ready to use. Top individual servings with chopped nuts.

Note: For the chopped nuts, peanuts are recommended. For the fruit, fresh or frozen pineapple is not recommended.

Mrs. Ray W. Seidel
Lenhartsville, Pa.

OLD BLACK JOE CHOCOLATE CAKE

2 cups granulated sugar
2 cups flour
¾ cup cocoa
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
½ cup vegetable oil
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon coffee dissolved in ¾ cup hot water

Combine the dry ingredients in a bowl. Add the oil and eggs and mix. Add the milk and beat. Then add the coffee and mix well. Batter will be thin. Bake at 350 Degrees F. for 30 minutes.

Mrs. Pauline Hurst
Newville, Pa.

CREAM CHEESE PIE

8 ounce cream cheese, softened
4 tablespoons granulated sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
3 eggs
2½ cups milk

Mix the ingredients in the order they are given, adding the milk last. Or you can put everything in the blender and mix at once. Pour into an unbaked pastry nine or 10 inch shell. Bake at 400 Degrees F. for 30 minutes. Cool and refrigerate. Honey or fruit topping can be put on top. This pie is said to especially like by people concerned about sugar intake.

Sarah Hestand
Wycombe, Pa.

CHOCOLATE CHIP SPONGE DESSERT

1 cup milk
½ pound marshmallows
1 cup whipping cream
¼ teaspoon salt
1 square semi-sweet chocolate, grated

Bring the milk and marshmallows to a boil. Remove from heat and cool real well. Then add the whipped cream, salt and grated chocolate. Mix until well blended. Makes one small dish.

Catherine Shirk
Ephrata, Pa.

TEABERRY ICE CREAM

4 eggs
2 cans sweetened milk
½ cup granulated sugar
2 quarts milk
½ cup teaberries

Cover teaberries with boiling water. Let stand until dissolved. Mix eggs and sugar and sweetmilk and regular milk with the teaberry mixture. Freeze in an ice cream freezer.

Kathleen Green
Ashland, Pa.

NEVER FAIL ICE CREAM

6 eggs
¾ cup granulated sugar
1 cup brown sugar
1 pint cream
2 packages (3¾ ounces each) instant pudding and pie filling pinch of salt
additional flavoring to compliment instant pudding flavor chosen
2 quarts milk

For a one gallon ice cream freezer, in a very large bowl combine the 6 eggs, granulated sugar, and brown sugar. Beat at high speed on electric mixer until very stiff, takes five to ten minutes. Quality of ice cream will depend a good bit on being sure this is followed. Then add one pint cream. Blend in instant pudding and pie filling, pinch of salt, and additional flavors. Add two quarts of milk and pour into freezer and freeze. Can be stored in containers in deep freezer and not become brick hard for a day or so. After that, the container can be set in the refrigerator for about one hour before serving and it will scoop real nice, not watery around the edges.

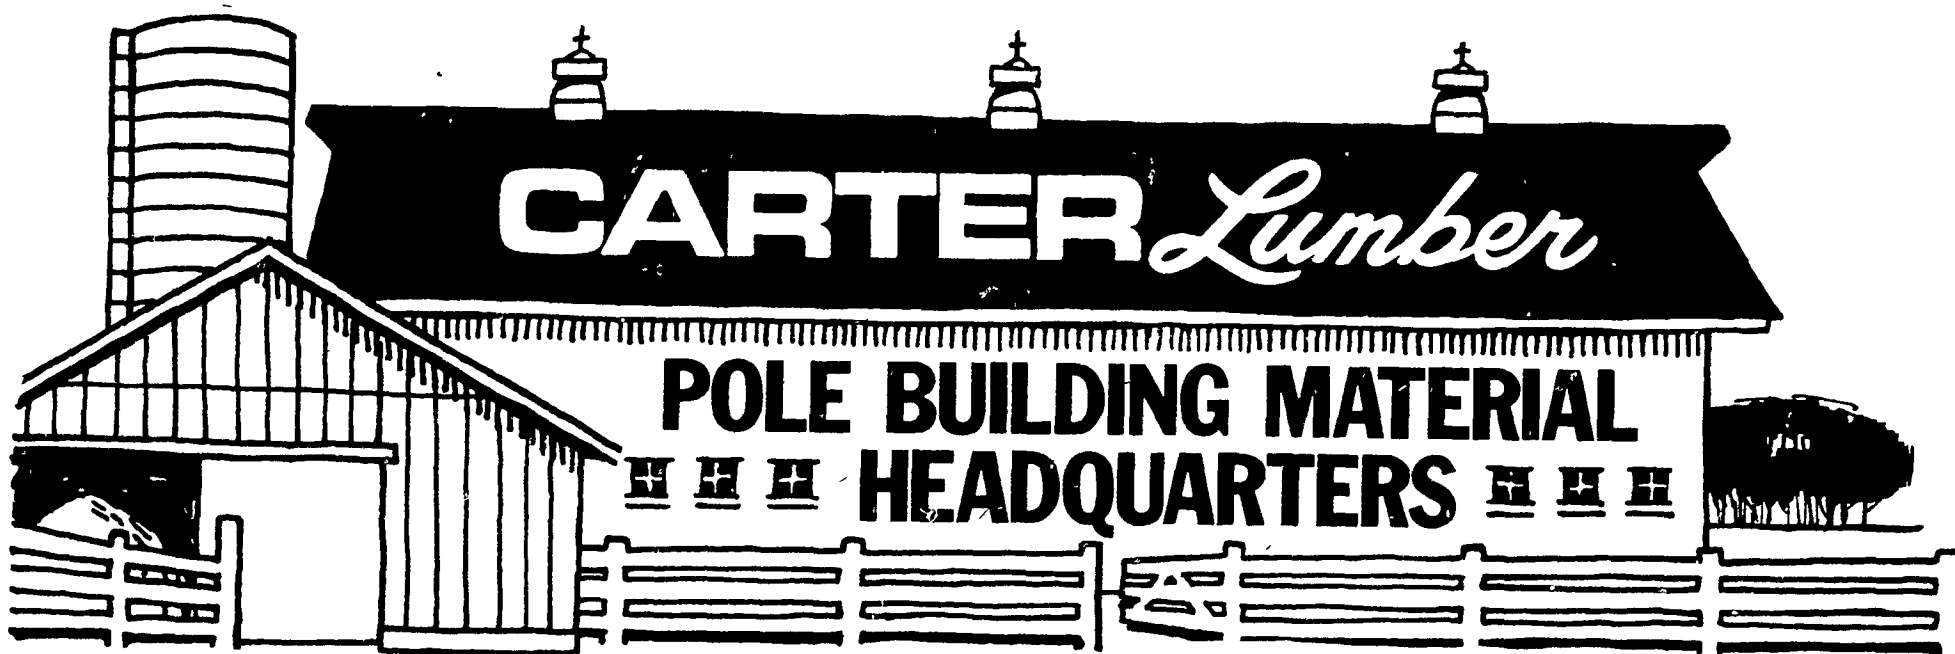

Mrs. Dennis P. Nussbaum
Valley View, Pa.

GRAHAM CRACKER FLUFF

4 egg yolks
1 cup granulated sugar
1½ cups milk
2 packages gelatin
1 cup cold water
4 egg whites
2 cups whipping cream, whipped
2 teaspoons vanilla
6 tablespoons melted butter
6 tablespoons granulated sugar
24 graham crackers, rolled fine

Beat the egg yolks and add the sugar and milk. Cook in the top of a double boiler until slightly thickened. Soak gelatin in cold water. Pour hot mixture over softened gelatin, and stir until smooth. Chill until slightly thickened. Add stiffly beaten egg whites, vanilla and whipped cream. Make crumbs or graham crackers, melted butter and sugar. Sprinkle half of the crumbs in the bottom of the dish. Add the mixture and top with the remaining crumbs. Chill until set. Makes 12 to 16 servings.

BEEF NOODLE BAKE

5 tablespoons margarine salt and pepper
3 tablespoons flour
1½ cups milk
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 pound noodles
¾ pound ground beef
¾ cup onion, chopped
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
8 ounces tomato sauce

Melt three tablespoons of butter, stir in the flour, salt and pepper. Add the milk. Cook and stir constantly until thickened, add the parsley. Cook the noodles and drain. Melt the remaining butter, brown the onion and meat, add the tomato sauce, stir in the flour mixture and ½ cup cheese. Put the noodles and meat mixture into the casserole and top with remaining cheese. Bake at 375 Degrees F. about 25 minutes or until hot.

ICE CREAM PIE

60 crackers
1 stick margarine
½ gallon ice cream (vanilla)
1½ cups milk
2 small packages of instant coconut pudding
1 bowl of instant whipped cream topping

Mix the finely chopped cracker crumbs and stick of margarine for crust. Press in the bottom of a 9 by 13 inch pan. Then mix the milk with the pudding and quickly add to the ice cream, which is soft enough to stir with a spoon. Blend well, and pour on top of crust. Top with whipped cream topping. Sprinkle with plenty of coconut. Refrigerate overnight.

Mrs. Clyde Bowman

BLISSFUL BANANA PIE

1 cup vanilla wafer crumbs
½ cup pecans, chopped
½ cup butter, melted
6 ounces semi-sweet chocolate pieces
½ cup milk
3 cups miniature marshmallows
¾ ounce package vanilla pudding and pie filling
1½ cups milk
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
2 bananas, thinly sliced

Combine the crumbs, nuts and butter, and press into nine-inch pie plate. Bake at 375 Degrees F. for five minutes. Cool. Combine chocolate pieces, milk, and one cup marshmallows and melt over low heat, stirring constantly. Cool, then pour into crumb crust and chill. Combine pudding mix with 1½ cups milk and cook until thick. Chill. Fold in the whipped cream and the remaining marshmallows. Arrange bananas over the chocolate layer, pour marshmallow mixture over bananas. Garnish with additional whipped cream, banana slices and chocolate pieces, if desired.

Mrs. Robert L. Shaubach

BREAD

3 cups milk (scalded)
½ cup brown sugar or honey
3 tablespoons salt
½ cup butter
2½ cups water
1 tablespoon yeast in ¾ cup lukewarm water
4 cups whole wheat flour
11 cups occident flour

In a large mixing bowl, add the sugar, salt and butter. Add scalded milk and stir until butter is melted. Add the water and yeast. Mix in the four cups whole wheat and four cups of the white flour and mix until smooth. Add the rest of the flour and knead until smooth and a rather stiff dough. Let rest until double in bulk—about two hours. Punch down and turn round. Let set ½ hour. Divide into eight balls. Roll out with a rolling pin to remove all air bubbles. Roll up as a jelly roll and put in pans. Let set for 2½ hours. Bake at 375 Degrees F. for 25 to 30 minutes. Yields eight 1-pound loaves.

CHICKEN-IN-A-ROLL

6 sandwiches

Blue Cheese Spread:

- 1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese
- ½ cup (2 oz.) crumbled Blue cheese
- 2 tablespoons dairy sour cream
- 1½ teaspoons grated onion
- ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Sandwiches:

- ½ cup all-purpose flour
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
- ¼ teaspoon paprika
- Dash pepper
- 3 chicken breasts, split and boned
- ¼ cup (½ stick) butter
- 6 individual French OR hard rolls

Lettuce
For Blue cheese spread, beat cream cheese until light and fluffy; blend in Blue cheese, sour cream, onion and Worcestershire sauce. Cover and chill to blend flavors. Combine flour, salt, poultry seasoning, paprika and pepper. Coat chicken breasts on all sides with flour mixture. Melt butter in skillet. Cook chicken in butter, about 10 minutes, turning to brown on all sides. Transfer to shallow baking pan. Bake in preheated 400° F. oven 15 to 20 minutes or until tender.

To assemble sandwiches, split French rolls. Spread about 2 tablespoons Blue cheese spread on each half of roll. Place lettuce leaf on bottom half of each roll; add one chicken breast. Top with other half of roll.

RAINBOW BUTTERMILK COOLER

Yield: 6 cups

- 1 quart cold buttermilk
- 1 cup cold unsweetened pineapple juice
- 1 pint lemon sherbet
- Rainbow sherbet

Combine buttermilk, pineapple juice and lemon sherbet with rotary beater until combined. Pour into glasses. Top with scoops of rainbow sherbet. Serve immediately.

Note: If using blender, blend pineapple juice and sherbet; add to buttermilk. Pour into glasses and garnish with scoops of rainbow sherbet.

STRAWBERRY YOGURT DELIGHT

Yield: 5 cups

- 3 cups cold milk
- 1 cup (8 oz.) strawberry yogurt
- 1 cup sliced fresh strawberries
- 1 tablespoon sugar

Blend milk, yogurt, strawberries and sugar in blender. Pour into glasses. Garnish with fresh strawberries, if desired. Serve immediately.

APRICOT CREAM COFFEE

Yield: 6½ cups

- 3 cups cold milk
- 1½ cups cold apricot nectar
- 1 tablespoon instant coffee
- ½ teaspoon almond extract
- 1 quart coffee ice cream

Blend 1½ cups of milk, apricot nectar, instant coffee, almond extract and 1 pint coffee ice cream in a blender or with a rotary beater. Combine with remaining milk. Pour into glasses. Top with scoops of coffee ice cream. Serve immediately.

BLUE RIBBON CHOCOLATE MILK

Yield: 4 cups

- 4 cups cold milk
- 6 tablespoons chocolate milk mix
- 1 teaspoon Angostura bitters
- 1 tablespoon finely grated orange peel

Sweetened whipped cream
Chocolate curls
Pour milk into pitcher; stir in chocolate milk mix, bitters and orange peel. Pour into glasses. Top with sweetened whipped cream and chocolate curls. Serve immediately.

BLUE RIBBON POTATO SALAD

Yield: 6 cups (6 to 8 servings)

- 5 cups chopped peeled cooked potatoes
- 1 cup chopped celery
- ½ cup chopped green pepper
- ½ cup chopped sweet pickle
- 1½ cups dairy sour cream
- 2 tablespoons white wine vinegar
- 1 tablespoon grated onion
- 1 tablespoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- Radish fans

Curly endive

Toss together potatoes, celery, green pepper and sweet pickle. Combine sour cream, vinegar, onion, salt and pepper. Stir sour cream mixture into potato mixture. Mix until evenly coated. Cover and chill. To serve, garnish with radish fans and endive, if desired.

STRAWBERRY RHUBARB PIE

6 to 8 servings

Pie Shell:

- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons each butter and lard
- 3 to 4 tablespoons milk

Filling:

- 2 cups sliced rhubarb, ¼-inch pieces
- 1 cup sugar
- ½ cup all-purpose flour
- 2 tablespoons water
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 pints whole strawberries, washed, stemmed
- Whipped cream

For pie shell, combine

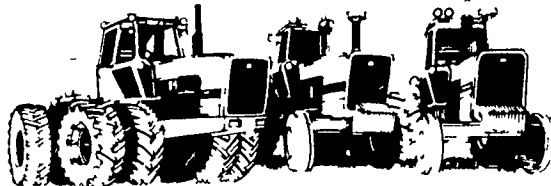

flour and salt. Cut in butter and lard until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Sprinkle in milk, 1 tablespoon at a time, mixing until flour is moistened. Shape into a ball. Roll out dough on a lightly floured surface to an 11-inch circle. Line a 9-inch pie plate with dough. Trim edges, fold under and flute. Prick bottom and sides of dough with a fork. Bake in a preheated 425° F. oven 12 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool on a wire rack.

For filling, combine rhubarb, sugar, flour and water. Bring to a boil. Boil, stirring constantly, 1 minute or until thickened. Add butter and stir until melted. Remove from heat. Fold strawberries into rhubarb mixture. Cool to lukewarm. Spread filling into cooled pie shell. Chill several hours or overnight. To serve, top with a dollop of whipped cream, if desired.

TOURS FOR FARMERS AND PEOPLE INTERESTED IN FARMING

EUROPEAN FARM TOUR

Tour #2125

October 1979

Beginning with the Olma Fair, the largest dairy and farming fair in Switzerland, this tour takes you through some of the most scenic parts of Europe while focusing on points of interest to farmers, such as a meat factory; a cattle breeding station in Austria, a cheese dairy; an artificial insemination center in Switzerland, and the original home of the Holstein Friesian cattle in Holland.

SOUTH AMERICAN FARM TOUR

Tour #3114

February 1980

See farming methods in Brazil, Paraguay and Columbia, plus the most famous and spectacular sights in South America. Places such as Sugar Loaf Mountain in Rio de Janeiro; Iguassu Falls on the border between Brazil and Paraguay; the renowned "Lost City of the Incas" at Macchu Pichu; and the Panama Canal. This is a super "Around South America" tour planned and designed by farm people for farmers.

FARM TOUR OF EUROPE

Tour #3316

August 1980

(Including the Passion Play at Oberammergau)

This will be a tour of the Palatinate (where Pennsylvania Dutch originated); Alsace and Lorraine in France; and Switzerland. This tour will feature visits to farms and will climax with attendance at the world famous Passion Play at Oberammergau in Southern Germany, performed only every ten years. This should be a very exciting tour, visiting places important to the heritage of people from this area.

AUSTRALIA AND NEW ZEALAND FARM TOUR

It's not too early to be thinking about our Australia and New Zealand farm tour in 1981. This tour will feature visits to grain, livestock and dairy farms, and will include visits with farm families from "down under". All details have not yet been finalized, but let us know if you want further information as it becomes available.

Brochures are available for the above tours. Ask for them and we'll send them to you immediately. There's no obligation in asking for the brochure, and maybe you'll find something you like. Heritage Travel is a specialist in farm tours. Our staff has had experience in farming both here and abroad, and we can make your visit on one of these tours very enjoyable and memorable. If you have any questions, give us a call, or drop us a card. And do ask for the brochures—they're free, and they have a lot of information in them.

Favorite recipes shared by dairy princesses

Every dairy princess has her favorite recipe, and those in the many counties of Pennsylvania are no exception. Included below are many of the southeastern and central Pa. dairy product creations, each submitted by the dairy princess of the county named.

"NO-BAKE CHEESECAKE"

Carol Zepp
Adams

Crumb Mixture

- 3 tablespoons melted butter
- $\frac{3}{4}$ Cup graham cracker crumbs
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon cinnamon
- $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon nutmeg

Combine all ingredients. Press $\frac{1}{2}$ cup of crumb mixture into an 8" or 9" spring-form pan. Reserve remaining crumbs for top.

- Filling
- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
 - 1 cup sugar
 - $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
 - 2 eggs, separated
 - 1 cup milk
 - 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
 - 1 tablespoon lemon juice
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 3 cups (24 ounces) mild creamed cottage cheese
 - 1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Mix together gelatin, $\frac{3}{4}$ cup sugar and salt in medium saucepan. Beat egg yolks with milk. Stir into gelatin mixture. Place over low heat, stir constantly until gelatin dissolves and mixture thickens slightly, about 5 min. Remove from heat, stir in lemon rind, juice and vanilla. Beat cottage cheese on high speed with electric mixer until smooth, stir into gelatin mixture. Chill, stirring occasionally until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from spoon. Beat egg whites, gradually adding $\frac{1}{4}$ cup sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold into gelatin mixture, fold in whipped cream. Turn into prepared pan and sprinkle with reserved crumb mixture. Chill until firm, 3 or 4 hours. Yield: 12 servings.

"MILK SPONGE CAKE"

Teresa Wolfskill
Berks

- 2 cups sugar
- 5 eggs (separated)
- 1 cup hot milk
- 2 cups flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon vanilla

Beat egg yolks and sugar, add hot milk. Add flour, baking powder and beat. Add vanilla and egg whites, stiffly beaten. Bake at 350° F. until done.

"GRANDMA HALLOWELL'S SPANISH CREAM"

Emily Hollowell
Bucks

- 3 eggs
- $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
- 1 quart milk
- 2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 1 teaspoon lemon extract (optional)

Separate the eggs, sprinkle the salt over the yolks and stir. Stir in milk, gelatin and sugar. Allow to stand a few minutes while gelatin dissolves. Cook in double boiler, when thoroughly heated, add beaten egg whites. Remove from heat after whites are all folded in mixture. Add vanilla and lemon extract after it has cooled a few minutes. Refrigerate after mixture cools. Yield: 6 servings.

"YOGURT"

Beverly Hershey
Chester

- 1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 cup water, boiling
- 4 cups powdered milk
- 5 cups water
- 1 large can evaporated milk
- 3 large tablespoons plain yogurt

Dissolve gelatin and sugar in 1 cup boiling water. Mix together powdered milk, water and evaporated milk. Add to gelatin mixture, scraping bowl. Add 3 tablespoons plain yogurt. Place in heated oven at 275° F. Remove from heat and cover bowl with foil. Leave overnight. Fruit or jelly can be added, optional.

"SWEETHEART SALAD"

Linda Witter
Franklin

- 2 cups crushed pineapple
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar
- $1\frac{1}{2}$ tablespoons plain gelatin
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup cold water
- 6 ounces cream cheese
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons cherry juice
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 12 maraschino cherries

Dissolve gelatin in cold water. Add pineapple to sugar. Bring to boiling point and add gelatin. Stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add lemon and cherry juice. Cool. Mash cream cheese and add chopped cherries. Combine with pineapple mixture, adding a small amount at a time. Chill until slightly thickened. Whip cream and blend with salad mixture. Mold and chill. Yield: 8 servings.

YOU'VE HEARD THE TALK.

There's a better way to dry grain. It's called CHILLCURING™ because it means CURING without heat. Here's what the talk is all about.

THE GRAIN

Every kernel of grain is alive when it comes out of the field. It is a seed, able to grow because it has the ability to take on moisture. Likewise, it can be kept in a state of preservation by removing the moisture already in it.

But by heating the grain to dry it, the seed life is destroyed. By removing heat and moisture from the grain, it becomes dormant and stays alive. Then it can ripen to full weight, losing only water while keeping valuable protein, starches and sugar.

THE SYSTEM

It's simple. Grain goes from the field right to the bin. With the unique AIRFRAME™ and AIRFLOOR™ the grain rests on a solid bed that allows maximum ventilation.

Clean dry air is the best curing medium for the grain. GRAINLAMPS™ provide electric sunshine, cleaning and drying the air beneath the floor, before it passes through the grain.

Fans force air under the floor. Rising through the grain, this dry outside air carries away moisture and heat.

At the peak of the bin a jumbo 40" turbine, the WHIRLCOOLER™, puts nature to work for you. Wind and rising air keeps it turning, venting the system naturally.

A special HARVESTAT™ Control System monitors the curing process. A simple setting controls the GRAINLAMPS to make use of free, natural air.

THE FACTS

1. You can't beat Nature. HARVESTALL GRAIN CHILLCURING™ uses the same elements that ripen and preserve grain if left to itself: free flowing air and infra red rays (sunshine).
2. CHILLCURING™ has been tried and proven in 17 states on over 3000 farms. The research is in "CHILLCURING™ WORKS!"
3. The CHILLCURING™ system uses only the electricity to power fans and lights, using about 1½ KW hrs. per bushel. Compare that cost to other systems that use increasingly expensive fuels to get disappointing results.
4. The grain goes from the field to the bin and stays there till you need it. Save time and money at harvest with the one step HARVESTALL CHILLCURING™ and storage system.
5. If you're in the market for grain storage, you owe it to yourself to look further into HARVESTALL GRAIN CHILLCURING™.

Rodeo winners named

WOODSTOWN - One-hundred-three cowboy and cowgirl contestants participated in last week's Cowtown Rodeo making it the best one of the season so far.

Out of the seven saddle bronc riders, from Lewistown, Pa., Dan Aurand was awarded the winning mark for his ride with a 56. He proved to be the only rider to sit atop his charge for the full qualifying time all evening.

The bareback riding event saw Buck Howard from Woodstown, N.J. ride a horse called "War Drum" totaling up a marking of 70 to put him in first place in the event. Chris Risoli placed second with Stanley Thomas third, followed by Jay Stover, fourth.

For the girls, Theresa Reynolds scored a 17.86 second time giving her first place honors in the girls barrel racing. Following close behind Theresa was Lorraine Alexander running the distance in 17.92 seconds. Judy Clement from Thorofare, N.J. and Coleen Ellsworth took third and fourth places with timings of 18.17 and 18.43 respectively. The girls were cheered on and applauded by a very enthusiastic crowd!

Willie Ed Walker won first place money in the steer wrestling exhibit with the time of 5.8 seconds to down his steer. Not too far behind was Anthony Menechino with his 6.7 seconds to firm up the number two spot. Following were Wimp Sleeter and Bud Bramwell with timings of 8.1 and 9.1 respectively.

In the calf roping, Troy Reynolds took first place with his 13.1 second time over Joe Merola, from Pennsgrove, N.J. who placed with a 13.3. Bob Roberto was third with 14.9 and Quinn D'Imperio fourth with a 15.8 time to rope and hog tie his calf.

In bull riding, hometown cowboy by the name of Stanley Thomas rode "Chewbacca" for the best marking of a 75 to take first place. Barry Burris was second, with Andy Harris third. Condon Goos was fourth.

Rodeo performances will continue to take place every Saturday evening at 7:30 p.m. rain or shine through September 1.

"CREAM PUFFS AND FILLING"

Kathy Strock
Cumberland

1 cup water
½ cup butter
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
4 eggs

Heat to a rolling boil in saucepan, water and butter. Stir in sifted flour all at once. Stir vigorously over low heat until mixture leaves the pan and forms a ball, about 1 min. Remove from heat. Beat in thoroughly, 1 at a time, 4 eggs. Beat mixture until smooth and velvety. Drop from spoon onto ungreased baking sheet. Bake until dry at 400° F. for 45 to 50 min. Allow to cool slowly. Yield: 8 large puffs. When puffs are cool, cut off tops. Scoop out any filaments of soft dough and fill with this delicious filling.

2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup cornstarch
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla

Melt butter. Blend in cornstarch, sugar and salt. Gradually add milk. Heat to boiling over direct heat, stir in slightly beaten egg yolks. Return to heat and cook 2 min. stirring constantly. Add vanilla and cool.

"SOUR CREAM CHEESECAKE"

Debra Cassel
Dauphin

1½ cups graham cracker crumbs
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup (½ stick) butter, melted

Combine cracker crumbs, sugar and butter. Mix well. Cover bottom and part way up the sides of a 9" springform pan with crumb mixture, pressing lightly. Chill.

Filling

2 (8 ounces) packages cream cheese, softened
½ cup sugar
3 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla

1 to 2 tablespoons grated lemon peel

Beat cream cheese until fluffy. Add sugar, eggs, vanilla and lemon peel. Beat until smooth. Pour into crumb-lined pan. Bake in preheated oven at 375° F. for 25 min. Remove from oven and cool to room temperature.

Topping

¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups dairy sour cream

Fold sugar and vanilla into sour cream. Spread sour cream mixture over cooled baked cake. Bake in preheated oven at 425° F. for 10 min. Remove from oven. Cool and refrigerate 6 to 12 hours. (Sour cream topping will not set until thoroughly chilled.) Yield: 12 servings.

"BUTTERSCOTCH FLUFF"

Joyce Stoltzfus

Farmland prices foreseen to continually climb

By JERRY WEBB

NEWARK, Del. — Farmland prices continue to climb and it's not primarily due to speculation and nonfarm development. While there may be some geographic areas that are being pressured by this off-farm land use, nationally statistics indicate farmers are the biggest cause of rising farm prices. They're hungry for land, they have the money or the credit, they're confident about the future, and there are a lot more of them wanting to buy land than there are those willing to sell land.

Department of Agriculture information shows that no more than three per cent of the nation's farmland is sold annually. That means many potential buyers and few sellers, and a land price trend that has gone continually upward. While some experts are predicting that land prices will level off during the months ahead, there are strong indicators that say this may not happen. And if you look back over the past 10 years you can see why. Since 1970, and that's less than a decade ago, the dollar value of U.S. farmland has tripled. It increased an average of 14 per cent for the year that ended February 1, 1979. The previous year land prices rose nine per cent.

Farmers are starting to be more optimistic than they were only a couple of years ago. And that optimism is showing in what they're willing to spend for land. A recent Midwestern study indicates that farmers pay more for land that is more productive. In fact, productivity is still the biggest factor in determining the value of farmland. The study, which involved land sales in Nebraska, South Dakota and Iowa, turned up the fact that corn and soybean land sold for an average of $175 an acre more than land used for livestock production. And land classified as good agricultural land sold for more than $300 an acre less than land classified as excellent agricultural land.

That Midwestern study also showed that farmers buy most of the farmland, bidding it up against each other and against nonfarm investors. And that the price they're willing to pay has little relationship to the amount of money they have to borrow or their relative financial position. It seems that farmers who want more land and who can borrow the money to pay for it will pay whatever they have to pay. The study also found that farmers typically pay no more for a farm separated from their home place than they do for an adjoining farm. And they were willing to pay no more for it than a person who bought such a parcel as an investment.

Americans have always been fascinated with land. The more of it we own, the better we like it. And while most of us own no more than a quarter of an acre, we dream of that day when we will somehow accumulate enough wealth to be able to buy land. And of course that fuels the attitude of optimism among farmers, that regardless of what they must pay for a parcel of land, someday they will be able to sell out at a profit. This speculative attitude puts tremendous pressure on many farmers who find the earning power of such land far below its annual cost.

The Department of Agriculture traces the current land boom back to 1972 when foreign demand rapidly absorbed U.S. grain surpluses. Grain prices doubled, in some cases even tripled, in a very short period of time. This attitude of prosperity and optimism caused a lot of farm buying and created tremendous competition for that limited amount of land available at any one time.

Of course inflation rears its ugly head in land price considerations also. The astronomical land price boom, stripped of its inflation impact, might not seem quite so large. And yet it's under that inflation umbrella that farmers must operate. So they pay huge sums for small acreages in the hope that somehow that land will produce more income than it costs. And in some years it does, and that's what keeps the whole thing going.

Department of Agriculture economists say farmers find money readily available to buy farmland. This happens because the land they already own appreciates in value, thus making them better risks and better able to borrow money and finance additional purchases. And that in effect increases the demand for new land acquisitions and continues to boost their equities in their existing land.

The Agriculture Department experts say the demand for farmland will continue strong through the rest of this year and that land prices will probably rise 10 to 15 per cent by next February. Beyond that they're not saying. But other economists are saying that the price boom will slow down a bit.

If you're waiting for a price break before jumping into the land market, you may have a long wait. While 10 to 15 per cent increases may not happen every year, something close to that is probably going to happen and the net effect of a two or three year delay in purchasing land could be an astounding price difference. If you don't believe it, just look back 10 or 20 years at the price of a farm that you thought was too high at that time and consider what it's worth today. Then think about what you did with the money that you might have used as a down payment on that farm had you been willing to take a chance. It's downright depressing, isn't it?

PAY!

And Beacon does it two ways!

Beacon is finally ending all the controversy about worming. It pays, and we can prove it!

One way is with new BEACON PRE-FRESH, our worming conditioning feed with TBZ*

A one-time, 5-pound feeding treatment just before cows

freshen effectively controls all major species of worms with no setbacks or side-effects

Another way is with new BEACON PARA-CIDE, our feed supplement designed for use as a top-dress. It allows you to treat your entire herd at the same time, which means worm reinfection is less likely. Its effective ingredient is coumaphos, a highly successful worming formula. And milk does not have to be withdrawn from the market during or following treatment.

Both PRE-FRESH and PARA-CIDE are highly palatable because they use Beacon's selection of special feed ingredients. What's more, they will increase your milk production and profits.

See your Beacon dealer now. He'll give you the latest news on how we make worming pay.

Introducing Bravo 500, the next generation flowable fungicide that gets early blight, late blight, anthracnose ... and five other major tomato diseases ... before they get your crop.

Bravo fungicide has proven its effectiveness against profit-robbing fungus diseases for almost a decade. That's why it is the choice of tomato growers around the country.

Now Bravo 500 gives you all the crop protection you want to build yields, fruit quality and profits.

Bravo 500 controls all eight major tomato diseases. It clings to leaf surfaces, resists wash-off during rainy spells and irrigation, stops fungus spores from growing. New Bravo 500 is easy to work with, too. It flows readily and disperses quickly and thoroughly in the spray tank.

Only healthy plants can produce optimum yields and quality fruit. Don't wait until disease symptoms appear. Spray early in the growing season with Bravo 500 and spray regularly to prevent diseases from getting started. With Bravo 500 you can spray right up to harvest. No waiting period is required between last application and picking.

Bravo 500 is the best decision you can make to protect your investment in tomato acreage this year.

Bravo 500. Wherever healthy tomatoes are grown, it's the name that keeps cropping up.

THINK OF IT AS A GLASS OF WATER THAT WON'T BREAK OR GO DRY.

Simple, bright ideas make Shenandoah products better. Like our valves and troughs. For proper dependable watering, the valve simply has to work full time. So our highly sensitive water level control makes sure the water doesn't go down. And fewer moving parts mean there's less chance of it breaking down. Then there are the little differences we build in like heavy duty frames and stainless steel troughs that make our waterers so durable. And your job so easy.

At Shenandoah, we make the best products we possibly can. And that's a bright idea.

Combine sour cream, vinegar, mustard, sugar and cheese in a small saucepan. Heat, stirring constantly, until warm. (Do not boil.) Season to taste with salt and pepper. Spoon over slices of rump roast.

TOMATO - BLUE CHEESE SAUCE

Yield: 1½ cups

½ cup (1 stick) butter
½ cup catsup
½ cup (2 oz.) crumbled Blue cheese

Combine butter and catsup in a small saucepan; heat, stirring constantly, until butter is melted and mixture is hot. Stir in Blue cheese until melted. Spoon over slices of rump roast.

Lancaster Farming, Saturday, June 16, 1979-115

WHIPPED CHEESE TOPPER FOR BAKED POTATOES

Yield: 1 cup

½ cup (1 stick) butter
2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese

½ teaspoon oregano
Cream butter until light and fluffy in small mixing bowl. Add cheese and oregano; beat until mixture is smooth. Serve over hot baked potatoes.

PINEAPPLE UPSIDE DOWN CAKE

9 servings

¼ cup (½ stick) butter
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar

1 can (20 oz.) sliced pineapple, drained

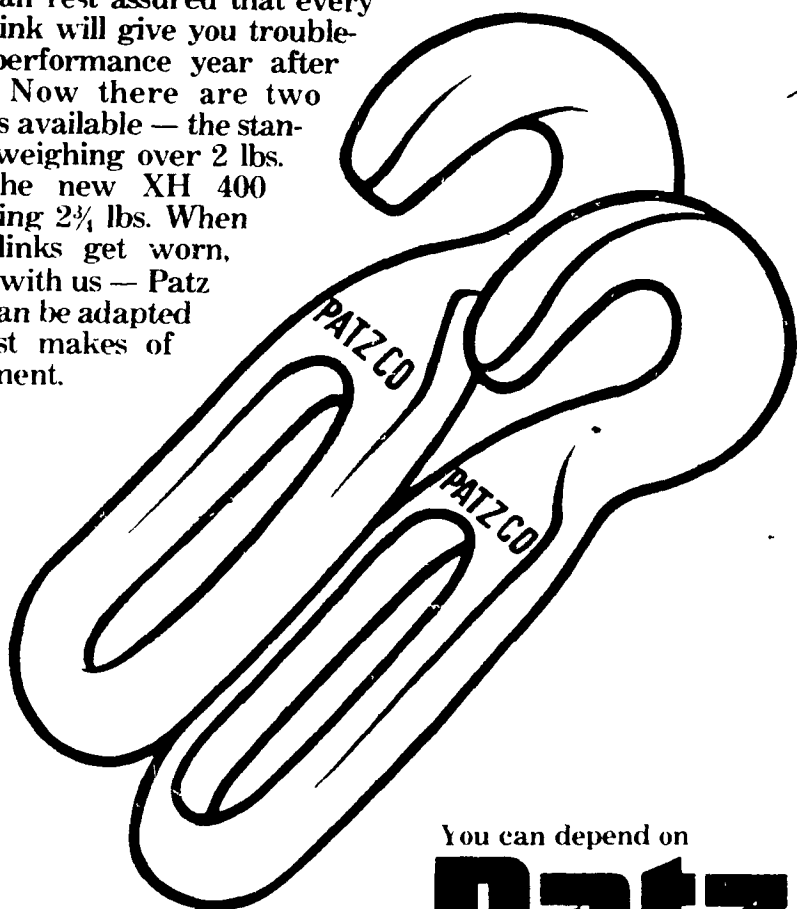

1 package (9 oz.) yellow cake mix
Whipped cream or ice cream

Preheat oven to 350°F. Melt butter in 9-inch square baking pan; sprinkle with sugar. Cut pineapple slices in half and arrange in bottom of pan. Prepare cake mix according to package directions; pour over pineapple. Bake until wooden pick inserted in center of cake comes out clean, about 30 minutes. Invert onto serving plate immediately. Cut into squares and serve warm with whipped cream or ice cream.

NOTE: Cake may be prepared as directed above and baked on an outdoor grill. Cover top of pan securely with aluminum foil. Place pan on grill 4 to 5 inches from hot coals and allow to bake about 20 to 30 minutes. Follow directions for removal of cake and serving as given above.

Chester County 4-H'ers to attend Leadership Congress

WEST CHESTER - Fifteen Chester County 4-H members will learn specialized leadership skills when they take part in Pennsylvania 4-H Leadership Congress, June 25 to 28, on The Pennsylvania State University's main campus.

The county delegation will join with about 1,000 other 4-H members from all counties in the Commonwealth to share and contribute ideas which will improve local community programs.

Members participating in the event are: Susan Rehrman, Spring City; Donna Teeter, Newark, Del.; Macie Myers, West Grove; Joshua Weinstock, Phoenixville; Ann Williams, Parkertord; Lee Ann DuMars, Phoenixville; Marie Crossan, Avondale; Michele Stone, Pottstown; Michael Weinstock, Phoenixville; Lynn Lafferty, Hockessin, Del.; Lynda Thompson, Kennett Square; Sarah Nothstine, Downingtown; Jonathan Weinstock, Phoenixville; Jacky Mento, Downingtown; and Warren Hilberg, Phoenixville.

"This year's conference will include six different programs of leadership orientation and development," says Cheryl Moran, Chester County 4-H Agent. "A Leadership School for 15-17 year olds; a Leadership Council for 18-19 year olds; a State Leader's Forum for adult leaders; delegate workshop for 13-15 year olds; street camping training; and 4-H reporters training are aspects of the program."

Leaders and Extension staff members will meet with College of Agriculture officials and participate in educational workshops involving the understanding of leadership principles, working with groups, communications, and information related to 4-H projects.

4-H is available to all youth between the ages of 8 and 19. For more information on joining a 4-H club, call the 4-H Office at 215-696-3500 or write to 235 W. Market Street, West Chester, Pa. 19380.

Farm wife-artist Ailean Detter paints the finishing touches on this farm-scene decorated milk can, to be presented to a lucky member of the audience during the York County Dairy Princess pageant.

Tole creations by farm wife in heavy demand

By JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

DOVER — Take one rural farm scene, sprinkle with aging buildings, add an artist's canvas, a palette of oils, and place it before Ailean Detter. These ingredients will result in professional paintings in brisk demand, despite the creator's reluctance to part with her creations.

As a child "who always liked to draw," Ailean, who lives with her husband Loren and children, Susan and David, at the family's farm in Dover, took up tole painting about four years ago, under the instructions of teacher Maxine Shaffer.

Soon the colorful tole creations moved from kitchenware to milk cans, a decorating item in heavy demand. Although Ailean says she hasn't yet completed too many of the wrap-around farm scenes on the collector cans, the style and quality of her work assures that the results will find quick sales.

One large milk can is being custom painted by Ailean to be awarded as the top doorprize during the June 30 York County Dairy Princess pageant, scheduled at the 4-H Center.

"It takes a long time to paint one of the cans," admits Ailean, who doesn't keep track of the hours spent applying the base coat, designing and painting the scene itself, and finally applying the finish sealant materials.

But the initial contact with the tole style of painting led Ailean toward a more challenging artistic expression, oil landscapes. Wanting to learn all the fine points of the use of oils, Ailean began studying a few years ago under Carlisle artist and teacher, Jo Pucci.

In the corner of the family room, Ailean set up a small studio, with Loren adding spotlights for better after-dark painting conditions. The studio walls glow with colorful, framed completed works: an old truck left behind in a green pasture, a brilliant still life of flowers, and a portrait of a thoughtful Christ. Other paintings are scattered across focal points of various rooms of the house, including portraits of Ailean and Loren as teenagers.

Several of Ailean's paintings have captured top ribbons at the York Fair, and just recently she entered a local all-art show. Perhaps when she can hoard away enough paintings from eager buyers, Ailean will begin putting together her own exhibit.

More important, though, is the dream of someday being able to work fulltime at her painting and finding opportunities to work in other mediums, like the watercolors she recently began using. Now, however, only three or four hours can be grabbed occasionally, mostly during the evenings, because Ailean's time is spread over a variety of other family and community responsibilities.

There are two other children besides Susan and David, married daughters Judy, who like her husband is a minister in Maine, and Sharon, who lives in Lancaster. And, like all grandparents, the Detters take great delight in their eight grandchildren. All four of the children are accomplished pianists, and the two younger ones have become quite adept with their mother's paintbrushes.

A willingness to share her creative talents made Ailean a leader with the Davidsburg Community 4-H club, where she teaches textile painting and cake decorating. Another teaching position is with the Diet Workshop program, which Ailean instructs weekly.

In recent years, the Detters have also become deeply involved in leadership activities of the Pennsylvania Farmers Association. Ailean is Secretary to the York County Farmers Association and she and Loren serve as county committee chairmen for the advisory council program.

A growing awareness of community problems and political involvement has also steered her into the position of Democratic committeewoman in the third ward of Dover Township, where Loren is currently in the running for a supervisor position. Wedged into that tight schedule somewhere are the accounts of several elderly York residents whose bookkeeping is done by the hands of this busy artistic lady.

Asian market is large outlet for grain exports

KANSAS CITY — The Asian market, currently the largest outlet for U.S. farm production, could continue to expand if national policies and programs become more supportive of the producer and the rest of agricultural industry, a grain export executive said here recently.

Myron R. Laserson, senior vice president-merchandising, World Grain Division, Continental Grain Company, told an agribusiness group that if this nation maintains a rational, realistic export policy, if the grain trade can remain free to improve efficiency and capacity, and if the U.S. producer is permitted and encouraged to use his land profitably, we can look forward to more business in Asian countries.

The potential, he added, "staggered the imagination and challenges our ingenuity."

According to Laserson, China will become the largest importer of U.S. grain ultimately with demand heaviest for wheat over the next several years and as China improves its standard of living, along with development of poultry and cattle operations requirements will come to include more feed grains.

He pointed out that China will never be able to import more than a small fraction of needed food. However, "assuming that fraction remains constant, the base eventually will be so large that the fraction itself will be an enormous market."

He cautioned against export restrictions. Limitations on the export market would have the greatest impact domestically, reflected for the world to see in a deteriorating standard of living.

Soybean growers oppose grain marketing cartel proposal

MANSON, Iowa — The American Soybean Association (ASA) opposes a bill recently introduced to the House of Representatives which would create a "National Grain Board" designed to establish monopolistic prices for farm products.

In a statement presented to the House Committee on Agriculture, ASA President Merlyn Groot of Manson, Iowa, said that ASA supports the goal of maximizing farm prices. However, he said that the means of achieving the goal as proposed in H.R. 4237 are "not in accord with our organization's principles."

"Moreover," Groot said, "The ends which are sought will not be accomplished by this legislation. In fact, it is likely that U.S. farm prices will decline rather than increase, if the bill is passed."

According to authors of H.R. 4237, the bill would make the U.S. "the OPEC of grain by making it possible to raise grain prices to foreign customers to barter for oil and other goods." The bill would accomplish its goal by establishing a "National Grain Board" to approve grain sales and arrange barter at prices established by the board.

"A government controlled grain marketing system is contradictory to major policy positions of ASA," said Groot. "Our organization's position has always been to support the maintenance of an environment in which the principle of individual freedom is preserved and where private initiative is permitted to operate through the American competitive free enterprise system. We favor an open trading system and minimum government intervention in soybean production and marketing."

"We are not opposed to any feasible means of countering the cartel prices charged for our petroleum imports," said Groot. "But in our judgment, H.R. 4237 will not have this effect. In fact, the high cartel prices for agricultural products envisioned by the bill will stimulate competitive agricultural production in many countries, both for domestic and export consumption. This would depress U.S. farm prices."

"Agricultural resources and production are different than those of petroleum," Groot explained. "Petroleum is a limited resource while agricultural production is renewable with potential for expansion. High cartel prices will increase production of farm commodities on marginal land in other countries, as well as production of synthetic protein. In the long run, it will create competition for American farm products, because otherwise inefficient land and methods will become profitable."

"We should keep in mind the experience of the 1920's and 1930's when the U.S. tried to hold cotton prices at artificially high levels resulting in increased cotton production in other countries. We lost much of our world market share for cotton as a result. Land is still relatively abundant in the world and much marginal land could be brought into production if prices are high enough."

"Furthermore, we think that the actions of the petroleum cartel should not set the moral standard for economic behavior by the United States," said Groot. "It is an immoral concept to hold world hunger as hostage in order to extract high cartel prices for food."

Citing strong demand and rising prices for soybeans, Groot pointed out that the free competitive market has been good for soybean producers. He attributed this success to lack of government interference and the initiative on the part of soybean producers to develop foreign markets.

York Co. dairy princess contestants introduced

By JOYCE BUYP
Staff Correspondent

YORK — Patricia Greek, Delta R2, will wrap up her year as York County's dairy princess on June 30 when she crowns one of five dairy farm young ladies as her successor to wear the sparkling tiara and satin banner.

The annual pageant will begin at 8 p.m. at the 4-H Center near Bair, when the gowned contestants will be escorted down the center aisle to the stage. Competition will include personal interviews, "fishbowl" questions and the presentation by each contestant of an original 30-second media promotional spot. Entertainment for the evening affair will feature the high-stepping feet and colorful skirts and shirts of a square dance exhibition team.

Dairy princess contestants this year are.

Carol Druck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Dale Druck, Airville R1. A graduate of Red Lion Area High School, Carol is 21 and the youngest of the Druck family's four children. She is employed in the marketing and advertising department of Yorktowne Cabinets at Red Lion. Musically talented, Carol is pianist, assistant organist and a choir member at McKendree United Methodist Church. A former 4-H member, she enjoys sports, especially volleyball and softball. The Druck family milks a herd of 35 cows.

Kathy Rauhauser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rauhauser, Dover, is 17 and a senior at Dover High School, where she studies business and academic courses. Actively involved in 4-H, Kathy is carrying projects in dairy, photography, ceramics, pets and teen leadership. Following graduation, she plans to pursue studies at Central Penn Business School, majoring in mass communications. A member of the school track team, Kathy enjoys reading, writing plays, painting and drawing. She currently serves as president of the Youth Fellowship of Salem United Church of Christ. The Rauhauser family milks 75 head of Holsteins.

Carole Mundis is 19, and resides with her guardians, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Kuntz, York. A graduate of William Penn High School, Carol is employed at Danskin in York. During her several years of 4-H participation, she has pursued projects of dairy, automotive, leathercraft and teen leadership. Carol is a volunteer worker with deaf children and is proficient in "signing" or hand language; she is considering entering college to specialize in handicapped rehabilitation. A member of St. Patrick's Church in York, Carol lists one of her favorite pastimes as swimming.

Barbara Kilgore is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Robert Kilgore, Airville R2. A 17-year-old senior at Red Lion Area High School, she is studying vocational agriculture and is involved in both 4-H and FFA programs. Projects in the programs have included dairy, field corn, bicycle and photography. A 4-H teen leader, Barbara is also president of the horse club and an officer of county council. Following graduation, she hopes to work for awhile with the family's 40-head milking herd, and then possibly attend a technical school for a career in an agriculture related promotion or secretarial position. Her favorite hobby is horseback riding, but she also finds time for reading, swimming and tennis. The family has a 40-cow milking string.

Esther Brenneman, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Brenneman, Spring Grove R1, who maintain a 38-cow milking herd. A senior at Spring Grove High School, she is eyeing a career in the nursing or the horticulture-gardening field, and serves as treasurer of the school's Future Nurses club. Esther is a member of St. Paul (Ziegler's) Church and helps with functions at the Seven Valleys Fire Hall. Her spare time pursuits include gardening, reading, handicrafts, physical fitness and sports.

4 tablespoons granulated sugar
1 ounce chocolate, melted

Combine 2½ cups milk with the sugar and heat. Make a smooth paste with the flour and remaining milk. Combine paste and beaten egg yolks. Pour hot milk over egg mixture and mix well. Return to the stove and cook over medium heat, stirring until thick. Add butter and vanilla. When butter is melted, turn into a baking dish and top with meringue. To make the meringue, beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually add the sugar and beat until the whites stand in peaks. Melt the chocolate and cool slightly. Add to egg whites. Beat again until the consistency of whipped cream. Top pudding with meringue and bake 15 minutes at 350 degrees F. Chill.

FLUFFY TAPIOCA PUDDING

3 tablespoons minute tapioca
5 tablespoons granulated sugar
1 egg, separated
1/8 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
¾ teaspoon vanilla

Mix the tapioca, salt, 3 tablespoons sugar, milk and egg yolk in a pan. Let stand for five minutes. Beat egg white until foamy. Gradually beat in 2 tablespoons sugar. Beat until soft peaks form. Set aside. Cook tapioca mixture over medium heat to a full boil, stirring constantly for six to eight minutes. Gradually add to beaten egg white, stirring quickly, until blended. Stir in vanilla. Cool 20 minutes. Stir. Serve warm or chilled. Garnish as desired. Makes five ½ cup servings.

VANILLA ICE CREAM

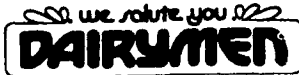

3 quarts milk
5 cups granulated sugar
½ teaspoon salt
3 packages gelatin
1 cup cold water
3 heaping tablespoons flour
1 quart heavy cream
2 cans evaporated milk
3-4 tablespoons vanilla

Combine 2½ quarts milk, sugar, and salt. Bring this to a boil. Soak the gelatin in 1 cup water. Mix flour with enough of the milk to make a smooth sauce. Stir flour into the hot milk, stirring constantly until mixture comes to a boil. Add the gelatin and remove from heat. Chill and stir occasionally until it begins to thicken. Then, add 1 pint milk, heavy cream, evaporated milk and vanilla. Cook 5 to six hours before freezing. For fruit ice cream, omit the milk and use only one can of evaporated milk. Sweeten one pint of crushed fruit with one additional cup of sugar. Add just before freezing.

DAIRYMAN'S DELIGHT

2 cups graham cracker crumbs
½ cup butter, melted
1 cup whipping cream
1-8 ounce package cream cheese
1 can sweetened condensed milk
1 envelope plain gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup lemon juice
1 cup sour cream

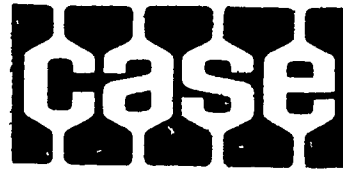

Combine cracker crumbs and butter. Line a nine inch deep dish with ¼ of crumb mixture. Stir lemon juice into cream. Let stand for 10 minutes. Mash cream cheese, gradually beating in condensed milk. Beat until smooth. Add gelatin to water. Dissolve over hot water. Whip lemon cream mixture until it begins to stiffen. Pour in cream cheese mixture and continue beating until well blended. Stir in gelatin and vanilla. Pour into crumb lined pan. Sprinkle with the rest of the cracker crumbs. Spread top with sour cream. Refrigerate for two hours. This may also be well covered and frozen for later use. If frozen, remove from freezer one hour before serving.

Buller optimistic on pork industry's future

DES MOINES, Ia. -- Coordination of efforts of all segments of the livestock industry to face today's issues will be a key factor in combating industry problems, according to National Pork Producers' President Bill Buller, Brookings, S.D.

Buller's comments came as he joined three other panelists at the Animal Health Institute's meeting recently in Scottsdale, Az. Appearing with Buller were Loren Carlson, National Cattlemen's Association; Wenderoth Collier, National Broiler Industry and Howard Hjort, USDA.

"We have not really done very well at teaming up to attack our problems so we're generally losing ground," Buller said. "Let us decide now to coordinate our evidence, to pool our influence and to support each other. The pork producer segment of the industry is ready to carry its share of the effort."

"With the kinds of problems facing our livestock industry today, the more we learn to pull together, the more chance we have of winning at least some of the battles. We do," Buller continues, "have problems. We have regulators who want to take preventive medicine away from our livestock producers. We have others who prefer botulism to cured meat. We have people in high places who want to balance the budget by reducing agricultural research, and we have environmentalists who have never seen a hog telling us how we must manage wastes."

"However, 'support battalions' like those involved here in animal health give the pork producing army ammunition to fight its problems through research, public and private, in areas such as feeds, housing, management and live animal marketing. This segment of the industry is a part of a huge bank of brains the producer has at hand to aid in accepting its challenges.

"Our NPPC is available, and receptive, to needs and problems in those areas where an active producer organization can help," Buller said. "The farmer who raises hogs reasonably efficiently does get the mortgage paid off. There is considerable pride involved in livestock production, a pride which, incidentally, I feel is the motivating force behind the growth of NPPC. I doubt that any other business in this country has more reason to be optimistic about the future than the pork industry."

"Certainly we have problems that should be viewed as challenges. We must tailor our product for the consumer. Producers have changed the basic design of the hog in the last generation and it's possible we may need to change again in the future. We have a lot to learn about meat taste and tenderness which affect demand. And, we have the continual challenge to produce more efficiently."

"If I had long hair, a beard and a soap box," Buller continued, "I could probably be called an activist for meats I don't apologize for the way I feel about the livestock end of agriculture."

"There are, I believe, several reasons to be optimistic. There is growing consumer demand for our pork, and the potential for product marketing is virtually 100 per cent. If NPPC and the pork industry can do a reasonable job of selling pork to consumers, I see no reason why we can't move consumption up to 100 lb per capita. Protein is a key nutrient in the human diet, domestically and around the world. Animal protein is the one source of all the amino acids required for good health.

"Still other reasons for optimism," he continued, "are that the pork producers see their competition lessening as farmers leave the livestock business to become grain farmers and a belief that hog production will remain an efficient family enterprise operation avoiding concentration of production into the hands of a few, huge pork factories."

"This, however, is not to say that 10 years from now we'll still have thousands of farmers sending 200 hogs to market a year. I think there are producers already facing a choice, to drop out of the hog business or to upgrade it from a side-line status to a major enterprise. Some predictably, will go both ways."

"But we have sharp, innovative, hard-working young men coming into our pork industry. I expect that a swine enterprise may be the easiest way for a young farmer to get a toe hold in farming. I've observed that the percentage of young farmers in attendance at pork producers meetings around the country is higher than that seen at any other agricultural meeting."

"The young man finding it difficult to locate start-up capital for grain farming can get into the hog business on a very modest investment. There's an unfilled demand these days for young men to management confinement units where training comes fast."

ARCADIAN® liquid gives a profitable boost to alfalfa after the first cutting.

(Insecticide can also be added)

Give alfalfa a liquid boost after the first cutting.

That's when topdressing N-P-K, and micronutrients in an Arcadian® liquid fertilizer made with POLY-N® pays big dividends in high yielding, high quality alfalfa. You can even add pesticides if you need to.

When it's done right a topdressing after the first-cutting will increase the yields of later cuttings. It will raise the protein content. Help the crop compete better against grasses. And improve the vigor for a long stand life.

Arcadian liquid makes it easy. Made the SLF® way. Arcadian liquid gives you uniform distribution of fertilizer ingredients from start to finish. It's truly the efficient way to turn alfalfa into green gold.

UNDER THE SEA SALAD

- 1 package (3 ounces) lime gelatin
- $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 can pear halves
- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup pear juice
- 2 packages (3 ounces) cream cheese
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- $\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon ginger

Dissolve gelatin and salt in boiling water. Drain pears, reserving $\frac{3}{4}$ cup pear juice. Add water if necessary to make up the $\frac{3}{4}$ cup juice. Spice pears and set aside. Add pear syrup and lemon juice to gelatin. Measure $1\frac{1}{4}$ cups of mixture into a one quart mold. Chill until set, but not firm. Meanwhile, soften the cheese until creamy. Gradually add the remaining gelatin, blending until smooth. Add ginger. Chill until very thick. Fold in pears. Chill until firm.

- 16 graham crackers
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup butter, melted

Filling:

- 1 (3 ounce) package lemon gelatin
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 (8 ounce) package cream cheese
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- $\frac{1}{2}$ pint whipping cream
- 3 teaspoons lemon juice or, lemon extract

Roll cracker crumbs until finely crushed. Add butter and mix. Press in a pie pan. Save two tablespoons of crumbs for top of pie. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Set aside until cool. Mix cream cheese an sugar until creamy. In a different bowl, whip milk until thick (milk should be very cold). Fold in cheese mixture with gelatin. Add three teaspoons lemon juice or, a few drops of lemon extract. Combine with whipped cream. Pour into graham cracker crust. Sprinkle remaining crumbs on top. Chill before serving.

SILAGE FORTIFIER

A revolutionary new concept in improving silages. MOPRO Liquid Silage Fortifier is formulated to balance the major mineral and protein deficiencies of silages. MOPRO is added at the time of ensiling and is applied by metering equipment with very little handling cost. MOPRO will not corrode mild steel tanks or brass fittings and has no free ammonia odor to irritate the eyes or skin. MOPRO is a homogeneous solution of ammonia salts, urea, cane molasses, and minerals (except salt and calcium) in an efficient liquid carrier. It provides nitrogen for improved fermentation in the rumen and contains a mineral balance of phosphorous, magnesium, and trace elements. MOPRO 100 gives a resulting silage of approximately 14.3% protein.

OLD WORLD CHEESE CAKE

1 cup wheat germ
1 cup graham cracker crumbs, fine
3 tablespoons granulated sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup butter, melted

Filling:

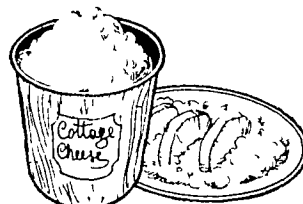

1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened
1 cup (½ pint) creamed cottage cheese
4 eggs
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 teaspoons vanilla
¾ cup granulated sugar
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt

Topping:

Mummert receives dairy chain calf

Mark Mummert, left, accepts his FFA Chain calf from Ashecombe Dairy's Fred Hotchkiss. Standing is Young Farmer advisor Bill Fleet.

By JOYCE BUYP
Staff Correspondent
DOVER - A Dover freshman FFA member has been named the recipient of a two-month registered Holstein in the first link of the re-established "calf chain" project.

Mark Mummert, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Mummert, Dillsburg R2, earned the calf with an essay on why he wanted the animal and his plans for it. Part of his responsibility as the winner of the calf is to return to the "chain" the first heifer calf born from the gift animal, which will then be awarded to another deserving FFA member.

Not a stranger to the dairy industry, Mark helps milk and tend the young stock at the 50-cow home farm. His family operates 280 acres, some of it in truck crops, including sweet corn, tomatoes, potatoes and strawberries. Much of the produce is retailed through the family's stand at the Carlisle Farmers' Market.

Just completing his first year of FFA projects, Mark has carried field corn work and owns seven head of cattle. He will add a dairy project this Summer and plans include exhibiting his animals at local cattle shows.

The chain calf was presented to Mark jointly by Ashecombe Dairy and the Dover Young Farmers' Association. She was sired by Huntsdale Pope Paul, and is out of Ashecombe-D Standout Prin, with a four-year, 305-day, record of 20,906 pounds of milk and 683 pounds of fat.

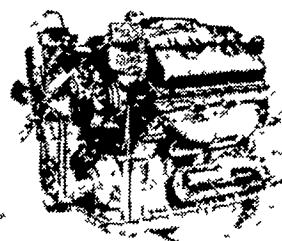

Dover Young Farmers' Association, under the leadership of advisor Bill Fleet, also plans to instigate a steer chain, with recipients refunding back a portion of the sale proceeds when the animals go on the auction block.

"This is one way for young boys, who have no other way to get into farming, to begin building some equity," says

Fleet. He cited one example of a ninth-grade FFA young man from the Midwest who parlayed his "chain" animal into a herd of 53 steers.

Young Farmer members also recently planted corn for fellow member Paul Jacobs, temporarily disabled after hospitalization. They're currently sponsoring a corn trials plot at the farm of Charles Rauhauser, Admire Road. Included in the ten-acre plot are about 30 seed varieties, as well as insecticide trials. Visitors are invited to stop and view the variety plots at any time during the growing season. A special field day at the site is planned later this Summer.

Dealers say dairymen should pay for milk security fund

Editor's Note: The following article originally appeared in the June 15, 1979 edition of the Grange Advocate for Rural Pennsylvania, weekly newsletter of the Pennsylvania State Grange, 1604 N. Second Street, Harrisburg. The views contained in the article are not necessarily those of the Grange.

HARRISBURG - When the concept of a Milk Security Fund was first raised in Pennsylvania, the first question raised was "Who pays for it?"

Since the fund is to be used in the event of a dealer defaulting on milk payments, it was suggested it should be the dealer's responsibility.

The Pennsylvania Association of Milk Dealers (PAMD) answered this suggestion with a resounding "NO!"

One reason the dealers are against paying into a Milk Security Fund is because they claim they already pay too much to support the industry.

In terms of the Milk Marketing Board, Pennsylvania dealers pay fees of better than $600,000 a year.

In 1978, Pennsylvania proprietary dealers paid $296,000 towards their share of the cost of administering Federal Order 4.

Combined with the cost of Order 36 the PAMD says the Pennsylvania dealers "are paying well over $1,000,000 every year."

The PAMD says "the farmers pay nothing for this protection. Dealers do."

Henry R. (Hank) Geisinger, executive vice president of the PAMD, believes there are two issues to consider on this question: bonding and the Milk Security Fund concept.

Geisinger agrees the present bonding is inadequate. "Seventy-two of the 146 dealers bonded carry full protection," he says.

cept, according to Geisinger, "is protection for farmers and farmers alone."

He contends that farmers should pay the fees "just as everyone else pays their other insurance."

The Milk Dealers Association remarks that at a rate of two cents per hundredweight, $1.25 million would be easy to raise in a year if the co-operatives pay.

At this rate, they say an adequate fund could be in existence "in about three years."

In summary, the milk dealers believe the bonding concept is outdated. It was used to help milk market of the 30's, not the market of the 70's.

The Milk Security Fund is all right with them if the farmers pay for it themselves.

"If farmers are unwilling to pay," says Geisinger, "they are obviously not concerned about their future."

"Unfortunately, this only represents five per cent of the total milk purchased."

"With the $200,000 protection of the other 74 dealers," Geisinger continued, "it brings the total amount of milk protected by bonding to only 18 per cent."

If the bonding is raised to $500,000, Geisinger contends only 90 dealers would be fully protected.

"A $500,000 bond for the 56 remaining dealers who buy more than the minimum (would cover) only 36 per cent of the total milk purchased in two months," Geisinger says.

Even though the higher bonding would include more dealers, "only about one-third" would be covered.

The Security Fund con-

Pick the weeds in your corn you'd like to get rid of...

Then pick Banvel® herbicide... the Big Plus...to do the job.

Pre-emergence: Banvel tank-mixed with *Lasso® to get broadleaf weeds along with grasses...ready and waiting when later weeds germinate.

Early layby (in corn up to five inches high): use Banvel to stop weeds before they've had a chance to develop. This Banvel overlay controls cocklebur, sunflower, annual morningglory, other troublemakers.

Post-emergence (corn up to 36 inches): Banvel herbicide controls the real problems—like smartweed, velvetleaf, bindweed, and seedling Canada thistle.

Before buying a less adaptable herbicide that may be short on performance, check out the Big Plus of Banvel...from Velsicol

Canadian marketed livestock value hits $4.7 billion

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The value of Canadian livestock marketing transactions in 1978 was $4.7 billion, up sharply from 1977's $3 billion, according to an annual study done for Livestock Marketing Association.

Coupled with previously-announced value figures for U.S. transactions, the Canadian figures bring the North American total last year to $50.3 billion. That compares with a North American value figure of $37.1 billion in 1977, according to the study done by Allen Enterprises, Topeka, Kan.

The volume of 1978 Canadian transaction — including cattle, calves, sheep, lambs, hogs and pigs — was 18.7 million head, up only slightly from 1977's 18.6 million head.

Total North American

volume last year was 243.9 million head, down significantly from 1977's 248.6 million head.

LMA officials noted that livestock are merchandised more than once during their lifetime, and that by measuring each transaction, the study results in a more realistic picture of total livestock commerce than the industry's usual inventory figures.

The unit of measure used in the "livestock merchandising transaction," defined as the effective transfer of title on one head of livestock. Animals sold more than once during the year are included as more than one transaction, and the value is the dollar amount of all transactions.

The $50.3 billion figure represents the totals in the respective local currencies. If Canadian marketing transaction are adjusted to U.S. dollars, the 1978 North American value figure is $49.7 billion.

Other highlights from the Canadian study (amounts are in Canadian dollars):

Volume for cattle and calves was down to 8.3 million head, from the 1977 figure of 9.2 million head. Their 1978 value was $3.5 billion, compared with $2.3 billion a year earlier.

The 1978 value figure for hogs and pigs jumped sharply to $1.1 billion, from the previous year's $745 million. Volume last year was 10.2 million head, up from 1977's 9.2 million head.

The value of sheep and lambs last year, at $11 million, was up from 1977's $8 million. Volume remained unchanged at 200,000 head.

The study is an annual project of LMA, which offers business services to over 1,300 livestock markets, dealers and brokers in the U.S. and Canada.

Dairy promotion to be aired

ROSEMONT, Ill. — The American Dairy Association (ADA) will be featuring ice cream during the month of July, in 30-second radio spots. The commercials will be airing July 2 through August 5.

"All in Favor," shows that ice cream's "sunshine flavor" is something to cheer about, "especially in the summertime."

The commercials will be heard in 200 of the nation's 250 radio markets.

During May and June, cottage cheese was promoted.

ADA is the advertising and marketing arm of the United Dairy Industry Association (UDA), which coordinates a total promotion program aimed at increasing the sales of U.S. milk and dairy products.

Over the years, one thing about Mol-Mix never changed. Quality.

From the first day that Mol-Mix™ was made the people at National Molasses made it with quality ingredients because they knew a better-quality supplement would mean more net profit for the cattlemen who used it.

Today, instead of decreasing or eliminating these quality ingredients because of shortages and higher costs Mol-Mix has maintained the same level of quality that has made it the liquid leader.

BUFFERED RELEASE IS JUST PART OF OUR QUALITY STORY

Occasionally somebody finds out about one of our unique features and gets really excited about it. For example, our buffered release of urea ammonia, heralded by other supplements as a brand-new innovation has been in Mol-Mix for years to improve its protein-building efficiency. And our performance-proven ingredients like corn distillers solubles, condensed fermented corn extractives, phosphoric acid and ammonium polyphosphate, have yet to be included in most other supplements!

Stop in soon. We would like to demonstrate the dramatic results that Mol-Mix can bring to your herd in terms of performance and profits. We're not talking about something that will only add to your supplement costs — we're talking about the bottom line.

By JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent
DOVER -- "In the beginning, I was dreaming in Japanese, but now I'm dreaming in English," laughs Masayo Matsukawa. That was just one of the cultural changes experienced during the last 11 months by the pretty 17-year-old native of the land of the Rising Sun.

Masayo is now in the final few weeks of her stay on a York County farm as an American Field Service exchange student. Her family for the past year has been Loren Detter, a sales representative for Spangler and Sprenkle, Inc., his wife Aileen, and their children, Susan, 17, and David, 15.

During her stay, Masayo was a member of the Dover High School senior class with her American "sister," Susan. Both recently donned their caps and gowns for graduation.

Masayo must now return to finish her final year of Japanese high school, through March, as her year of studies here does not count as part of her schooling record. After that, if she passes entrance exams, plans are to attend a college, with a definite course of study to be chosen later. Susan will also be off to college, leaving in August to study teaching at the Mt. Vernon Bible College in Ohio.

Both of Masayo's parents are barbers in the town of Yamashi, located about two hours from Tokyo in the shadow of majestic Mt. Fuji. She has one sister, age 13, and the family lives with her paternal grandparents.

Although not from a farm, Masayo quickly learned rural customs and daily chores on the Detter's 76-acre farm specializing in Charolais cattle and crops.

BENEFITS WITH NUTRI-SIL

- 1) Reduces field and storage losses
- 2) Reduces heat damage
- 3) Cuts energy losses in half
- 4) Improves digestibility and palatability
- 5) Cuts run-off losses by nearly $\frac{2}{3}$
- 6) Controls fermentation in 7-10 days

Jo Watson is national goat youth representative

By KENDACE BORRY
WEST CHESTER — She's been around dairy goats for as long as she can remember and today she is one of two national youth representatives of the American Dairy Goat Association.

It all started for K. Josephine Watson, West Chester, when she was two. Then her mother, Mrs. Edward J. Watson, obtained the first goat, and life for the Watsons just hasn't been the same since.

When she was seven, Jo, as she is known as her friends, got her own pet goat, and when she was nine, she joined 4-H with her first grade doe "Yagna."

Jo was 14 when she bought her first La Mancha doe, which was known as Doma Xiemene, and called DX for short.

The doe did well for her, being named the grand champion La Mancha at the Prince William Co., Va., Fair one year and winning many ribbons throughout her career.

Today besides being the ADGA representative, Jo is the third partner in Talisman Dairy Goats, going into business with her parents.

She handles the publicity for the dairy, is the personnel director, and the errand girl, she laughingly related. Which means, she clarified, that she organized the work crew that completed the dairy barn at the beginning of this year, and she goes for supplies when they are needed.

She is also in charge of the goat pediatrics, taking care of the premature and young kids that need special treatment.

Talisman Dairy Goats is proud of their new goat milking house, which has separate facilities for the milking parlor and the washroom. Jo stressed that everything is being kept separate for the purpose of sanitation.

At the moment, 22 of the 50 goats are being milked. And ever trying to improve, Talisman Goat Dairy is in the process of applying for a license to sell raw goat milk.

"We'll soon be selling our milk on the market," Jo remarked, "and there is a demand for goat's milk. We will be the only goat milk licensed to be sold in the West Chester area."

Jo became the youth representative for the ADGA by competing for the honors at the national convention last year in Phoenix, Arizona. There she and other contestants had to give speeches telling why they wanted to represent dairy goats, and tell what they could do for the organization. They also had to answer spontaneous questions, telling of their goat expertise.

She won the contest and now hands out ribbons at shows and gives speeches to different groups such as 4-H clubs, telling of dairy goats and their advantages.

Besides goats, she works in a horticulture related field, but thinks that sometime in the future she will be taking over the family goat herd.

She was an active member of FFA in high school and went to Penn State to compete in the finals of the agronomy competition. She also taught 4-H clubs and was a teen leader. And for a hobby, she added, she likes to play guitar and write songs.

"I like the size of goats" she related, "They are small, but intelligent animals and they are easy to handle."

She believes that the goat industry is on its way "uphill", stating that there are more processing plants today, and thought that "give us 20 years, we just might be good competition for the cows."

N.Y. Hereford Assn. field day to be July 14

ARKPORT — Glenn Klippenstein, nationally known beef cattle producer and judge from Maysville, Mo., will be a speaker at the New York Hereford Association and the New York Junior Hereford Association Field Day July 14 at Stonen Farm.

Klippenstein is manager and co-owner of Glenkirk Farms, and judged the 1978 Hereford breeding classes at the New York State Fair.

The program will include recognition of outstanding Junior members, naming of the 1979-80 Hereford Queen, a Junior speaking contest, judging of several classes of Stonen Farm cattle, demonstrations and an ox roast served at noon.

Stonen Farm is also hosting the New York Junior Hereford Association

Twenty-year-old Jo Watson, shown with her most recent problems kid goat, Judah Ben Hur, is one of two youth representatives for the American Goat Association.

COST CUTTER

The cost of diesel fuel has jumped nearly 110 percent since October, 1973 and it's still about three cents a gallon cheaper than gasoline. Higher fuel costs call for a closer look at total operating costs when you buy engines. Deutz air-cooled engines use 20 to 40 percent less fuel than most water-cooled diesel engines - far less than gasoline engines. And they are competitively priced. So hadn't you better buy or specify the cost cutter - Deutz? 10 to 500 bhp.

Today there are more competitive brands of air cooled diesels on the market than ever before — yet we doubled our sales in the last two years — which says it all about public acceptance of Deutz diesels.

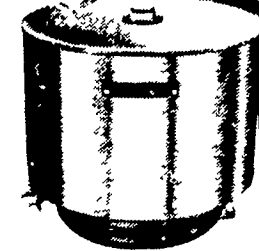

- We stock rebuilt: starters, generators, injectors, for Deutz
- We have complete road service since 1955
- We supply free application engineering
- We have facilities for any mechanical fabrication required to apply new Deutz diesels.

Dairy heifer abnormality publication available

UNIVERSITY PARK - Genital abnormalities for 10 to 20 per cent of the failures of dairy heifers to conceive after four or more breedings, according to experiments at The Pennsylvania State University. The findings of Dr. Tsuneo Y. Tanabe and Dr. John O. Almquist, dairy physiologists at Penn State, are supported by studies among other scientists.

These studies of subfertile dairy heifers are published in "Gross Genital Abnormalities in Dairy Heifers," a bulletin that has gained an international reputation for thoroughness of subject matter and high quality of color illustrations.

The bulletin features 24 color plates showing various genital abnormalities. Cooperating on the project at Penn State were the departments of dairy science, bacteriology, and veterinary science.

Since it was published in 1967, requests for "Gross Genital Abnormalities" have come to Penn State from many parts of the world. It summarized the incidence, type, and severity of gross abnormalities of the reproductive system among the 180 subfertile dairy heifers which has failed to conceive upon repeated breedings. The heifers appeared essentially normal upon clinical examination.

The publication is available for $3 plus 18 cents state sales tax from Box 6000, The Pennsylvania State University, University Park, PA 16802. Make checks or money orders payable to The Pennsylvania State University.

In addition to the Penn State findings, "Gross Genital Abnormalities in Dairy Heifers" reviews most of the research reports dealing with reproductive abnormalities in dairy cattle in the United States and foreign countries since 1924.

Japanese student

found little problem there and indicates that she likes just about everything.

"Except root beer - it tastes like medicine!" she says, wrinkling her nose.

"Beefsteak," on the other hand, was a winning favorite food, with Masayo adding that it is rare in Japan to have meat served by itself. Usually meats arrive at the table as an ingredient in a dish including vegetables and rice is a diet mainstay. Foods are generally more salty and spicy, compared to the American sweet tooth complex, which Masayo suspects she may miss for awhile.

"I gained ten pounds," the petite young lady confides.

But some things are common to both countries, blue jeans, for instance, and fast food chains like Ginos and McDonalds. The burgers in Japan, though, have a different taste, recalls Masayo, who speculates that, in her oriental country, pork may be a portion of the mixture of the franchises' ground meat.

The Detter family is deeply involved in 4-H activities, with Aileen a leader, Susan a national breads category winner and David enrolled in a variety of projects. Masayo attended 4-H events and took part in a variety of school and community programs. A guitarist, she has also sung with the "Hosanna Gospel Singers."

Remembering one 4-H event sets the family to laughing. The day after Masayo's arrival last July, she and Susan were to leave for Penn State with a busload of county 4-H'ers to attend State Days. Japanese customarily remove their shoes outside of the home; and Aileen feared that Masayo, who had left the house shoeless to catch the 4-H bus, planned to go to the University in bare feet. Though language communication was still a real barrier that first day, the shoe problem was solved and Masayo boarded the bus completely shod.

While she did study English for five years, actually speaking and understanding it for the first few months was the most difficult problem Masayo encountered.

"I still don't understand some words," Masayo worries.

"Very few!" interjects her American mother.

A cultural exchange has been growing between the two families from opposite sides of the world and boxes of typical "goods" have been shipped and shared. Masayo's mother has made lovely kimonos for all the Detters, while Aileen, an accomplished artist, has sent paintings to the Japanese family.

The Detters are enthusiastic travelers and arranged that Masayo's stay would include visits to Maine, the New England states, Ohio, Virginia and Florida. Future travel plans include a chance for the American and Japanese families to get acquainted face-to-face, with arrangements for a visit with Masayo's parents scheduled sometime in the future.

Clean grain bins reduce aflatoxin

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — With barley harvest getting under way on the lower Eastern Shore and the central shore, time is getting short for Maryland farmers to clean out their grain bins for the 1979 season — if they haven't done so already.

Taking a few hours now for such procedure could well pay off in helping to prevent aflatoxin contamination in stored grain later, according to Extension specialists and research workers at the University of Maryland in College Park.

Aflatoxins are byproducts produced when a certain fungus grows on feed grains, feed products and other food commodities. They are toxic to poultry, animals and humans.

A rigorous clean-up procedure and conscientious feed sanitation program is essential in minimizing aflatoxin problems according to the specialists. Recommended steps for cleaning up an empty feed or grain bin are as follows:

Remove dried, caked and moldy feed or grain. Caked feed in a feed-handling system tends to "seed" all feed passing over this material. As long as it is allowed to stay in the system, contamination of good feed with mold spores from the caked material will result. Use a scraper to clean the inside of all feed or grain bins, bulk trucks and auger-ways.

After scraping, spray the area with a disinfectant solution, such as household bleach and water in a ratio of 1:4. Then allow cleaned areas to dry out completely before putting in fresh grain or feed.

Be sure that hatches on feed and grain storage containers "seat" properly to provide a watertight seal. Caulk the seams of feed bins to keep out rainwater.

Remember that environment and climate take responsibility for encouraging the growth of aflatoxins. This growth typically occurs when temperatures are above 70 degrees F (21 degrees C.) and moisture levels are fairly high.

Once grain becomes contaminated with aflatoxins, it remains contaminated, since there is no approved method for decontamination. Nor does grinding of moldy grains eliminate the mold or possible aflatoxin contamination.

If the probability exists that you may be feeding aflatoxin-contaminated feed to poultry, be sure that it is fed to broilers older than three weeks of age. However, do not feed it to breeder flocks.

As a general rule, young stock are more susceptible to aflatoxin poisoning than older animals. The order of susceptibility among farm mammals is young pigs, pregnant sows, calves, tattening pigs, mature cattle and sheep. Sheep appear to be the most resistant of all farm animals to aflatoxin poisoning.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has set maximum guidelines for aflatoxins at 20 parts per billion for animals feeds and for grains being used for food. This is a mighty small amount.

Montgomery Co. 4-H delegates named

NORRISTOWN - Montgomery County will have the honor of sending three 4-H members to the Pennsylvania Association of Farm Cooperatives Agribusiness Institute of Shippensburg State College in July.

Selected as second-year scholars were Jamie

Graybeal of Telford and Mary Pat McGann of Upper Dublin. Jamus is teen leader of the 4H Rabbit and Cavy Club, was Outstanding 4H Boy of Montgomery County and is president of the Teen Council of Montgomery County. Jamie will be serve as Street Camp Advisor at the 1979 Pa. 4H Leadership Congress and will be a 4H camp counselor at Hickory Run State Park.

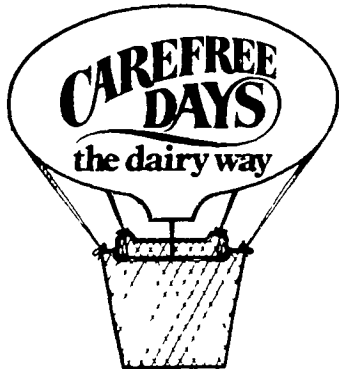

Mary Pat serves as vice-president of the Teen Council and has held several offices in the Upper Dublin 4H Community Club. She recently attended the State 4H Capitol Days in Harrisburg and was a member of the medal-winning Consumer Education Team at the 4H State Days competition held at Penn State.

Denise Fillman of Lansdale was selected to attend the Institute as a first year student. Miss Fillman has been active in the 4H horse program and the Veterinary Science Club. Selected as alternate was Edie Dawson of Ambler, a member of the Perk Penn Horse Club.

The above members will be sponsored by the Bucks-Montgomery Coop Council when they travel to Shippensburg to learn about agribusiness and cooperatives and meet the youth from Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware.

Pa.'s farm labor force down slightly

HARRISBURG — State Agriculture Secretary Penrose Hallowell today announced that the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service survey conducted in April showed a six per cent decline in the state's farm labor force. According to the survey, taken during the week of April 8-14, farm workers in Pennsylvania were estimated at 112,000 compared to 119,000 one year ago.

According to Hallowell, farm operators and unpaid family workers totaled 84,000, a one per cent increase from 1978 while hired workers, at 28,000 were down 22 per cent.

The average work week for Pennsylvania farm operators during the survey week was 43.3 hours, 13.4 hours more than January and 2.3 hours more than a year earlier. Other unpaid family workers averaged 27 hours and hired workers averaged 39 hours during the week.

Family workers are defined in the survey as farm operators working on farms one hour or more, plus other family members who work 15 or more hours without receiving cash wages during the week. Hired workers includes all persons working one hour or more for cash wages during the survey period.

Pennsylvania farm wage rates for all methods of pay, converted to an hourly rate, averaged $3.06 during the survey period, an increase of 38 cents per hour from April 1978. Field workers averaged $3.12, while livestock workers averaged $2.47 per hour.

Nationally, the total number of workers on farms April 8-14 was 3,466,300, a decline of 222,200 from last April. Of that total, family workers and farm operators totaled 2,420,400, a decline of 173,000. Hired workers decreased from 1,095,100 in 1978 to 1,045,900 this April.

The average weekly hours worked by farm operators in the United States was 34.6 hours and that of other family members averaged 33.6 hours. Hired workers averaged 38.4 hours during the survey period.

U.S. farm wage rates for all methods of pay converted to an hourly rate averaged $3.39 during the week. The average had been $3.09 a year earlier. Field workers averaged $3.32 with livestock workers averaging $2.90.

Dog obedience course slated

NORRISTOWN - A dog obedience course will be offered to any area boy or girl 10 to 19 yrs old interested in learning to handle and train their dog. The program, sponsored by the Montgomery County 4-H Clubs will begin June 21, and run from Thursday nights up to and including August 9 starting 7 p.m.

Classes will be held at the Montgomery County 4-H Center located on Snyder Road, off Route 363 between Sumneytown Pike and Allentown Road. The final class will feature a "graduation" ceremony. Members will also participate in a 4-H dog show to be held on Thursday afternoon August 6, at the Montgomery County 4-H Fair in Lansdale.

The instructor will be Mrs. Ruth Lerda of Perkaspie, well-known in the area for her dog obedience work. The program is available under the auspices of the Suburban Dog Training Club which will assist in conducting the course. Ribbons and certificates will be presented upon completion of the course. There is a charge of $10 per member to help cover costs of the program. Checks are payable to Montgomery County 4-H Development Fund. All classes will be rain or shine. Pre-registration is required as enrollment is limited. One can call the 4-H Office at 215-277-0574 or write to Nancy Kadwill, 400 Markley Street, Norristown, Pa. 19401 and leave name, age, address and phone number.

All dogs must be at least four months of age or older, be housebroken and have had all their shots.

The boy or girl enrolling in the course must be able to physically handle their dog. Parents are welcome to attend classes with their children.

4-H offers Summer program

NORRISTOWN - Montgomery County 4-H is offering new Summer fun to all boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 14. The six week program held every Thursday starting July 5 and running through August 9 will be in the morning from 9:30 to noon at the Kulp Elementary School in Schwenksville, and Thursday afternoons from 1 to 3:30 p.m. at the St. James U.C.C. Church in Limerick.

The possible projects being offered are Adventures with Food, Personal Improvement, Fun with Plants, Pet Care, Crafts, Sewing, and Rocketry. Those projects taught will depend on the interest shown. Awards and ribbons will be given out for projects completed.

This year's Summer program is free of charge and youth need not be previously in 4-H to attend.

For registration or further information, one can contact Jeff Craig or Stephanie Jones at the 4-H extension office at 215-277-0574.

Antique Show July 3-4

LITITZ - One of the most popular antique shows in Pennsylvania will open to the public on July 3 and 4, when the Lititz Historical Foundation holds its 18th annual Antiques Show and Sale. The displays will be housed in the Bobst Recreation Center in Lititz Springs Park, seven miles north of Lancaster on Pennsylvania Route 501.

More than 30 leading dealers will offer authentic antiques in glass, china, silver, brass, jewelry, quilts, coverlets, dolls, primitives, antique tools, early post-cards and furniture.

Admission charge to the show is nominal. Receipts are used for acquisitions and development of the Johannes Mueller House at 137 East Main Street in Lititz.

Mosteller wins award

ELVERSON -- Dan Mosteller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mosteller, Morgantown was recently named winner of the 1979 DeKalb Agricultural Accomplishment Award. The award, sponsored nationwide by DeKalb Ag Research Inc., is presented to the senior agriculture student in each school attaining the highest degree of proficiency in scholarship, leadership and supervised agricultural program.

Dan attends Twin Valley High School, where he has been vice-president and treasurer of the FFA Chapter. His agricultural program consists of swine, breeding and fattening. Following graduation, Dan plans to work with his father or be a lime and fertilizer spreader.

As this year's DeKalb Agricultural Accomplishment award winner, Dan receives a pin and certificate, and his name will be inscribed on a special plaque displayed in the ag room.

TWO PURINA EXCLUSIVES

FOR DAIRYMEN

AN INDUSTRY FIRST!

A TEAT DIP...

USE UNDILUTED

...AND
WASH

USE ONE OZ. PER 5 GALLONS OF WATER

PURIDINE IS BOTH...

PLUS...

WITH PURIDINE YOU GET THESE ADDITIONAL UNIQUE BENEFITS

- SPECIAL EMOLLIENTS
used in a skin softening system that helps keep teats soft, reduces chapping and irritation.
- CONTROLLED VISCOSITY
New Puridine is thicker—clings to cow's teats better for additional protection against mastitis from milking to milking.
- ONE PERCENT IODOPHOR
Highly effective against the spread of organisms which may cause mastitis.
- CONTROLLED pH
(4.0 to 4.4) helps prevent irritation to skin.

PURINA DAIRY CLEANER

Research Proves Purina Dairy Cleaner Comes Out Ahead Of Leading Competitors In:

- CHLORINE STABILITY.
After 40 weeks of storage, three major competitive products lost from 70 to 99 percent of their chlorine. New Purina Dairy Cleaner lost only six percent. NEW PURINA DAIRY CLEANER HAS A FIVE YEAR SHELF LIFE.
- SOLUBILITY.
Dairy Cleaner will disperse in the wash solution quickly with little or no lumping
- REDUCED ALKALINITY.
for a milder, safer product
- RINSABILITY.
The rinsing and draining characteristics of new Purina Dairy Cleaner are excellent. Leaves lines and tanks spotless
- ACTIVE CLEANING INGREDIENTS.
86.7 percent of New Dairy Cleaner is active ingredient — 30 percent more than some major competitors.
